Britain Makes Changes In Her Palestine Plan

Revises Proposals In Effort To Meet Objections By U. S.

PARIS, Nov. 24. (AP)—Britain said tonight she had revised her Palestine proposals in an effort to meet American objections.

The text of Britain's new proposals was not available immediately. However, a spokesman said Britain had accepted the United States recommedation that Jews and Arabs be allowed to work out a mutually acceptable settlement on boundaries.

Britain originally proposed that the United Nations Assembly approve the Bernadotte plan which recommended that Israel give the Negev Desert to the Arabs in return for Western Galilee.

The revised resolution seemed to rule out any arbitrary changes in the boundaries of Israel by the present Assembly session.

The British insisted, however, that a proposed conciliation commission be told to fix the boundaries "on the specific conclusions" of Count Folke Bernadotte, slain United Nations mediator.

The United States offered amendments yesterday in the Assembly's 58-member Political Committee providing that the Jews and Arabs work out the boundaries on the basis of both the United Nations partition plan of November 29, 1947, and the Bernadotte recommendations.

American Position

The United States has taken the position that the territory given Israel under the partition plan should not be reduced without Israel's consent. Israel has said she will not give up the Negev.

The British spokesman said the revisions were worked out in consultation with American officials. An American spokesman declined to comment.

The British spokesman said Britain had accepted in general the United States definition of the functions of the projected conciliation commission, whose job would be to seek a Jewish-Arab settlement.

The British move was disclosed after representatives of White Russia and the Soviet Ukraine continued the Soviet bloc attack on British and American Palestine policy. They spoke in the Political Committee, where Britain is scheduled to make a new declaration tomorrow.

Meanwhile, representatives of the Arab countries here met privately. Arab sources said, and decided to send a delegate to Cairo to talk with Egyptian and Arab League leaders on future policy. The Arab delegations want to know, it was said, whether the Arabs should agree to negotiate on a Palestine armistice and other questions, such as boundary disputes.

Russia Backs Original Plan

Andrei I. Galagan, delegate for the Soviet Ukraine, and Kuzma Z. Kiselev, White Russia followed the same general line laid down by Russia, Poland and Yugoslavia.

They rejected both British and American proposals to settle the Holy Land problem, insisted the United Nations must carry out the 1947 partition plan, and demanded

Extradition Is Waived By Tot's Accused Slayer

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—William Morris Pollard, 26, former mental patient, today waived extradition to St. Louis to face charges of murdering a two-year old boy.

Pollard was arrested yesterday at Red Cross headquarters by FBI agents. They said he admitted orally fatally beating Joseph Nichols, Jr., and stuffing his body in a drawer in the American Hotel in St. Louis.

He appeared today before Chief Justice James J. McDermott in Criminal Court.

Pollard denied a sexual attack on the baby. A coroner's jury in St. Louis returned a verdict that the child died of internal hemorrhage caused by a sexual attack.

Venezuelan Government Is Overthrown By Army

Gallegos Is Ousted In Bloodless Coup; Buildings Occupied

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 24—(AP)—The army overthrew the government of President Romulo Gallegos without firing a shot today and announced it was in general control of the nation.

Troops occupied all public buildings at noon.

Lt. Col. Marcos Perez Jimenez, chief of staff of the army, said the army carried out the coup because of the "incapacity" of the administration of the Democratic Action Party headed by Gallegos, and because "extremist" labor elements were threatening a general strike to support the President.

The army apparently acted when Lt. Col. Mario Vargas, inspector general of the armed forces, returned from a recuperation of several months at Saranac Lake, New York, and threw in his lot with the military Vargas, one of the leaders of the 1945 revolution which overthrew President Isaias Medina Angarita.

Gallegos At His Home

Gallegos, who took office only last February as the nation's first President elected by a direct vote of the people, was at his home under protection of the army. The whereabouts of other political leaders was unknown.

(Private reports from Maracaibo in Western Venezuela, the center of the oily industry where American capital has a stake of about $2,000,000,000, said oil workers had called a general strike throughout the State of Zulia, the region around Lake Maracaibo. The Creole Oil Company (Standard of New Jersey) shut down, these reports said. There are about 8,000 Americans working in Venezuela.

(Dispatches from Willemstad, Curacao, said the army was broadcasting from Coro Station, an oil center west of Caracas, apparently after driving out the union workers who had been in control.

(The dispatches, quoting broadcasts from Venezuela, said a curfew had been ordered throughout the country.)

Foreigners Are Warned

(Lt. Col. Carlos Delgado Chalbaud, minister of defense in the Gallegos Cabinet, broadcast the first communique to the people after Gallegos' overthrow. He asked everybody to stay home, warned foreigners not to interfere, said no meetings of more than three persons would be allowed, and gave orders to troop patrols to shoot immediately any looters or disturbers of the peace. Delgado Chalbaud said the army had the full backing of the air force and navy.

(Workers were warned to return to work at once. Bars and public places were ordered closed.)

Nanking Papers Claim New Red Offensive Halted

NANKING, Nov. 24. (AP)—Government warplanes flew back into the battle of Suchow today, and press accounts asserted the new Communist offensive was thrown back on both the east and south.

Newspapers reported recapture of the anchor city of Suhsien, 50 miles south of Suchow.

Despite this and a rash of other optimistic dispatches, many observers believed the government still was losing ground in the battle for the Suchow-Nanking nerve center of China.

(The Communist radio reported no new gains but dismissed government claims of victory "during the past few days" as "hallucinations.")

Pro-government press reports said the units which captured Suhsien had moved six miles north to Fulichi and linked with other Nationalist forces moving south from Suchow.

Truman Invites Russia To Join U.N. Food Group

Declares "Hunger Has No Nationality"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP) — President Truman invited Russia today to join the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

"I think that if we could discuss with the Russians our mutual interest in agriculture, it would not be so difficult to discuss our differences in some other fields," he said.

Mr. Truman extended the invitation in an address to the fourth annual meeting of the FAO here. He said he hoped that every country, old and new, would become members of the international food group, and he made specific mention of Argentina, in addition to the Soviet Union.

"Hunger Has No Nationality"

"Hunger has no nationality," he said.

"Abundance should have none, either."

A principal aim of the FOA is to find ways of getting more food to millions who have never had enough.

The President said it is "most heartening" that several Eastern European nations belong to FAO, and he said he hopes this will continue to be true.

He pledged that he will ask Congress to approve an international wheat agreement, if one can be negotiated, and he expressed regret that the pact drawn up last spring was not ratified.

"And I rather believe we'll get it approved this time," the President interpolated in his prepared text.

In the same afternoon session, the United States formally proposed that a conference convene next January 25 to draft an agreement.

Big Crops Eases Shortage

The purpose of such an agreement is to divide the world market among the major wheat exporting countries, and to set up a system of maximum and minimum prices for the bread grain designed to protect both growers and consumers.

The agreement drawn up last spring would have assured the United States a market for 168,000,000 bushels of wheat a year for five years ,with a guaranteed price of $1.85 a bushel for the first year.

Since then, however, one of the mightiest harvests in history has alleviated the shortage of wheat, and a buyer's—rather than a seller's—market has developed. For that reason, some United States agricultural officials are pessimistic of the chance of negotiating an agreement along the terms of the old one.

Mr. Truman told the delegates of the 58 member nations that the general pattern of the wheat agreement might well be followed for other commodities.

Question Hard One To Decide, Marshall Says

Involvement Of U. S. In "Hot War" Against Communists Feared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—(AP)—Secrtary of State Marshall disclosed today that President Truman and he are still trying to decide what the United States can properly do to assist China in its present crisis.

Marshall told a crowded news conference that the American government is well aware that the situation in China—caused by the southward sweep of Chinese Communist armies—is critical. But, choosing his words slowly and deliberately, he said that it presents a difficult problem which has to be very carefully considered.

The problem, as he defined it, is to determine what this government properly can do to be of real assistance in the present crisis.

One factor in this government's consideration, he disclosed, is the involvement of the United States which might result in China and which, he said, is already in effect in various parts of the world. He did not spell out what he meant by this but other officials say privately that in giving aid to China's anti-Communist forces the United States must make certain that it is not assuming an almost unbearable burden for carrying on an indefinite "hot war" against the Communist forces.

Holds Press Conference

Marshall met the press after holding his second foreign policy conference of the week with President Truman. Another visitor to Mr. Truman today was Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo. The envoy said that as a result of his talk with the President he was "encouraged" in his hope for greater American aid for China.

Scores of reporters crowded into the State Department conference room hopeful of some definite word on American aid to China and on whether Marshall intends to remain much longer as Secretary of State.

Marshall declined any comment on what he called his possible tenure of office.

The most positive news came in another quarter of foreign relations when the Secretary read a lengthy statement on Anglo-American policy for turning operations of the great industries of the Ruhr over to German management. In effect, he rejected French protests against German operation of these industries. The French have expressed fear that the Ruhr might be used again to rearm the German nation.

Marshall said that the industries are to be regrouped into "smaller self-sustaining units" and "placed under German trusteeship which would be responsible for their efficient and economic operation directly under Allied supervision."

Reviews Work of U. N.

He said that is the best way to promote peaceful production by the Ruhr for European recovery, and to end American subsidies by making the Ruhr's industries self-sustaining.

For the most part, Marshall brushed aside questions asked by reporters seeking amplification of his comments on China and Ger-

Doctors "Unpin" Hagerstown Baby At Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24. (AP)—Eleven - month - old Deborah Paris was "unpinned" today at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Paris, Hagerstown, Md., swallowed an open safety pin last week and it lodged in her throat.

Surgeons were unsuccessful in removing it but they did manage to straighten it out and ease it into the stomach. It passed out through the digestive tract today.

German Reds Ask Big Four Meeting

BERLIN, Nov. 24 (AP)—A Communist drive to get all occupation troops out of Germany was launched tonight.

The German Peooples' Council, a Communist front organization and possible forerunner of an East German parliament, apparently was voicing the Kremlin's policy when it demanded:

1. An immediate parley by the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council to set up machinery to write a final peace treaty for Germany.

2. Removal of all occupation troops within a year after the treaty is signed.

Widely heralded as an important announcement a day in advance by the Soviet-licensed news agency ADN, the demand apparently had the full approval of the Russians. In effect it confirmed that the Soviets want everyone to pull out of Germany, as the Russians did in Korea, once they have Cummunist police state machinery set up in the eastern zone.

Agreed Grievance Plan Doesn't Outlaw Strike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled today that a labor contract agreement to settle disputes by an established grievance procedure is no waiver of a union's legal right to strike.

The five-man board held in a 4 to 1 decision that a union can bypass the grievance machinery and call a strike to win its point.

Two Suggestions For Handling Civil Rights Row Aired

Comprehensive Study Or Compromise Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP) — Two ways of handling President Truman's civil rights program were suggested today: (1) Compromise, and (2) a comprehensive study of racial and economic problems throughout the United States.

Both suggestions came from southern senators. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said that a compromise of the touch issue is "under discussions". Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) advocated the survey, which he said should be an unbiased study not limited to negro conditions in the South.

Sparkman said he is considering introducing a resolution in the new Congress for the inquiry, framing it so a spotlight could be thrown on every section of the nation where there are racial problems. He mentioned, among others, the Puerto Ricans and negroes in New York City, and the Mexicans in California.

Sees No Need For Speed

Delay or not, Sparkman said, "I don't see any use in hurrying into the question."

Fulbright told a reporter he believes a fair legislative compromise can be worked out on such controversial parts of the civil rights program as anti-lynching legislation and prohibition of the poll tax.

"But I'm not predicting that the Senate will accept them," Fulbright said, pointing out that feelings are hot on both sides of the argument that split the Democratic Party prior to the last election.

Fulbright said one proposal is that any federal laws dealing with lynching or poll taxes exempt those states "which now have adequate state laws."

One of the main arguments of southern Democrats in the past against the civil rights measures is that they fail to respect the right and ability of states to handle such problems.

Says Most State Laws Adequate

"As an example, it's plain foolish to try to enact a federal anti-lynching law that would apply to Virginia," Fulbright said. "They have not had a lynching there in 20 years or more. The same is true with most other states. They have adequate state laws."

Similarly, Fulbright said the poll tax is a problem in only a few states.

The Arkansas Senator said programs to end discrimination is employment present a more difficult problem.

Most sponsors of this kind of legislation have urged a federal commission with broad powers to combat discrimination in hiring because of race, religion or color.

"But we might be able to reach agreements there too, if the penalties and controls did not infringe," he said.

State To Appoint Lawyer For Accused Murderer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 24 (AP)—The state will appoint a lawyer to defend Thomas A. Edwards, who has been indicted on charges of murdering John H. Mahlan and Mary C. Kline, of Glen Burnie, two months ago.

Circuit Judges James Clark and Benjamin Mitchaelson said today they will name a defense lawyer "as soon as possible."

Color Film Industry Opened To Competition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—Attorney General Clark today announced the Eastman Kodak Company has made an agreement which he said will "open the color motion picture industry to competition." The agreement was a consent judgment ending an anti-trust suit against the company.

The Attorney General said the judgment was entered this afternoon by Judge William C. Mathes in the Federal District Court at Los Angeles.

Passengers Staging Liner 'Sit-In' Strike

HOPE FOR BRITISH SHIP, CREW OF 37 ABANDONED

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—The stormy North Atlantic apparently has claimed the British freighter Hopestar and its crew of 37.

The Coast Guard said today it has abandoned hope for the 5,267-ton vessel, believed to have foundered on the night of November 14 while battling a severe Atlantic gale 600 miles east of New York.

The ship was believed to have turned over and sunk rapidly, precluding an SOS, after being damaged.

An intensive two-day plane and ship search of the area failed to reveal any sign of the ship or its survivors.

Capt. W. R. Richards, chief of staff of the Coast Guard eastern area, said:

"While an aerial search is still being carried on we feel that there is little possibility that any survivors are left alive."

Say No After Being Ordered To Leave Queen Elizabeth

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 24 (AP)—Passengers aboard the strike-bound luxury liner Queen Elizabeth today were ordered to get off by Friday but approximately 900 said no and voted for a "sit-in" strike.

Capt. C. M. Ford, the ship's commander, told the passengers the strike wouud not be tolerated and that water and lights would be cut off.

Cabin and tourist class passengers voted for the sit-in strike at separate meetings and expressed hope the 600 first class passengers would join them.

The Cunard White Star Line, owners of the ship, had given notice this afternoon to all 1,500 passengers that they must disembark by Friday.

The line said there seemed to be no immediate prospect of settlement of the American longshoremen's strike, which has prevented the ship from sailing.

Went Aboard Last Friday

The passengers came aboard last Friday in expectation they would sail the next day.

The notice from the line today was the signal for the protest meetings.

Spokesmen for the striking passengers stressed that many were in "precarious" financial condition.

The United States consul at Southampton told the American passengers he had sent a cable to the American State Department asking whether financial aid is possible for those who need it.

Cunard's announcement that the passengers would be ordered to leave said "the present arrangement is unsatisfactory to both passengers and the company."

The passengers have been getting their meals free aboard the ship for the past five days. The cost of their tickets included food—and the eating aboard the luxury vessel has been the very best.

Minister Makes Statement

Dr. Henry H. Crane, minister of the Central Methodist Church of Detroit, chairman of the cabin class committee, said:

"We are unanimous in our desire to remain on board because of the precarious condition, financial and otherwise, of many of the passengers.

"There are some very real cases of hardship aboard. We are not making any demands but are appealing to Cunard White Star for all the help and consideration they can give. We are deeply grateful for all they've done so far.

"Tonight I asked a purser if we could stay on board after Friday and was told we could not.

"We want to get legal opinion on our position but so far have found no lawyer aboard."

U. S. 'Peasants' Face Grim Thanksgiving, Soviets Say

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—Moscow told the rest of the world on the eve of Thanksgiving that Americans have little to be thankful for.

Radio broadcasts recorded today by government monitors pictured life in the United States as pretty grim—especially for the American "peasants."

These were identified as about one and one half million farmers who were said to be seeking jobs because "rich usurpers" have gradually seized lands of small owners.

Because of inflation, the great mass of Americans do not make enough to live on, Moscow asserted.

Anna Jarvis, Lonely Spinster Who Founded Mother's Day, Dies At 84

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24 (AP) — Anna M. Jarvis, lonely spinster who founded Mother's Day and then fought vigorously but in vain against its commercialization, died today at 84 — blind and penniless.

Her death in a quiet sanitorium in suburban West Chester followed a long illness.

Partially deaf and unhappy in her last years, Miss Jarvis died of old age, doctors said. She had lived in the home since early 1944 when friends learning of her impoverished plight collected funds and placed her there.

Deeply sentimental, Miss Jarvis started the Mother's Day observance on the second anniversary of her own mother's death — May 9, 1907— by gathering a few friends at her home for a memorial service.

The movement spread. Miss Jarvis wrote to legislative and executive officers of nations and states urging adoption of the day legally. Finally her prodding pen, waxing sentimental, won over President Woodrow Wilson. In 1914 he proclaimed the second Sunday in May a "flag holiday" — honoring the nation's mothers.

Miss Jarvis was born May 1, 1864, in Grafton, W. Va., the daughter of Granville E. Reeves and Anna Reeves Jarvis. She came to Philadelphia in 1904.

Early in life she became active in woman's suffrage and in welfare and temperance movements.

Then her mother died — and she began the single-handed struggle to make Mother's Day into an international observance. The occasion now is recognized in 40 countries.

The success of the movement led Miss Jarvis to give up her former work as clerk for an insurance company. In time her correspondence with churches, businessmen, governors and others overflowed the red brick house in which she lived with her blind sister, Elsinore. She bought the house next door for storage.

She channeled her every activity and her modest fortune into enshrining motherhood. Her own mother had once organized in West Virginia a mothers' friendly day to weld families split by the Civil War.

But Miss Jarvis soon had regrets. Mother's Day became a financial bonanza for florists, candy-makers, jewelers and greeting card sellers.

Immediately the grey-haired woman who founded the day out of sentimental devotion, reverence and love went to war against the money-makers and the publicity seekers.

Once she threatened to sue Gov. Al Smith, of New York, over plans for a gigantic Mother's Day meeting in 1923. Eight years later she tangled with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt over a rival Mother's Day committee.

Fumes Create Emergency

Four More Md. Reserve Units Will Be Activated

FT. MEADE, Md., Nov. 24. (AP)—Second Army headquarters said today it is activating 46 more organized reserve corps units in its seven-state area, including four units in Maryland.

Maryland is expected to make ready 20 reserve companies and battalions for service with a planned 18-division national striking force."

To supply this increase in reserve forces, the Reserve Officers Association said it is conducting a campaign to recruit about 7,000 veterans to fill out the skeleton reserve outfits.

CIO Adopts Resolution Backing PAC Decisions

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24 (AP) — The CIO convention voted 572 to 49 today for a resolution calling on all CIO unions to give "unstinting support" to the Political Action Committee decisions of the CIO.

The vote followed another attack on Communists by President Philip Murray.

Murray said bluntly that the men who spoke against the resolution did so because the Communist Party's "line has changed."

Mentioning three of the speakers by name, Murray said they were uttering "violent tripe" and showing "weakness."

Murray said the three were Reid Robinson, former president of the Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers; Ben Gold, pesident of the Fur Workers; and Joseph Selly, president of the American Communications Association.

Murray said all three supported a similar resolution on political action at the 1944 CIO convention. He demanded to know why they had changed. He replied to his own question with a discussion of Communist Party strategy, and ended by saying the speakers changed because "the line has changed."

The resolution, which was approved in the standing vote, with ushers counting those on both sides of the question, reiterates the CIO's position against any third party.

The left and right wing argument broke into fury this afternoon following a brief truce to hear Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas call upon labor to lead the way to future peace.

President Murray called Douglas' speech an "historic" address whose "effect will be felt throughout the land."

In the speech Douglas traced the rise of the labor movement, discussed present-day economic problems and concluded:

"Today labor, better than any other element in our society, can weld the democrats of the world into a group within its power to guide western civilization, neither to the right nor to the left, but down the broad middle highway to

School Head Orders Halt To Self-Induced 'Redouts'

AVA, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP) — A high school principal today ordered students to stop what he termed a growing fad of self-induced blackouts.

J. H. Hammack, principal of the Tri-County Consolidated High School here, said the practice came to a head when a girl freshman blacked herself out 15 times yesterday—six times in a row during the noon hour. She finally became unconscious for nearly two hours.

An Ava physician, declining use of his name, said he treated the girl for anoxemia. He described it as a disturbance of the carbon dioxide balance in the blood. He added that the effect was comparable to blackout suffered by fliers in pulling out of long, steep dives.

Principal Hammack said that in an attempt to combat the practice he called a student assembly as the girl was regaining consciousness so they could listen to her screams.

Students questioned by school authorities reported that the self-induced "redouts"—their term for the practice—usually last only a few minutes and some said they had dreams and hallucinations.

A Percy, Ill., boy told friends he had undergone 30 "redouts" without ill effect.

"We were most troubled with those who fainted just from watching it," Hammack said. "Six or eight fainted."

The principal said the practice had been brought under control here today but that he understood it was spreading in other schools in the area.

In Chicago, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, described the practice as evidence of "mass psychological disturbances which occur among adolescents from time to time.

"As long as adolescents find that their performances attract interest and make them the center of attention they are likely to go from one sensation to another," Dr. Fishbein said.

Pro-government press reports said the units which captured Suhsien had moved six miles north to Fulichi and linked with other Nationalist forces moving south from Suchow.

Truman Invites Russia To Join U.N. Food Group

Declares "Hunger Has No Nationality"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP) — President Truman invited Russia today to join the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

"I think that if we could discuss with the Russians our mutual interest in agriculture, it would not be so difficult to discuss our differences in some other fields," he said.

Mr. Truman extended the invitation in an address to the fourth annual meeting of the FAO here. He said he hoped that every country, old and new, would become members of the international food group, and he made specific mention of Argentina, in addition to the Soviet Union.

"Hunger Has No Nationality"

"Hunger has no nationality," he said.

"Abundance should have none, either."

A principal aim of the FOA is to find ways of getting more food to millions who have never had enough.

The President said it is "most heartening" that several Eastern European nations belong to FAO, and he said he hopes this will continue to be true.

He pledged that he will ask Congress to approve an international wheat agreement, if one can be negotiated, and he expressed regret that the pact drawn up last spring was not ratified.

"And I rather believe we'll get it approved this time," the President interpolated in his prepared text.

In the same afternoon session, the United States formally proposed that a conference convene next January 25 to draft an agreement.

Big Crops Eases Shortage

The purpose of such an agreement is to divide the world market among the major wheat exporting countries, and to set up a system of maximum and minimum prices for the bread grain designed to protect both growers and consumers.

The agreement drawn up last spring would have assured the United States a market for 168,000,000 bushels of wheat a year for five years ,with a guaranteed price of $1.85 a bushel for the first year.

Since then, however, one of the mightiest harvests in history has alleviated the shortage of wheat, and a buyer's—rather than a seller's—market has developed. For that reason, some United States agricultural officials are pessimistic of the chance of negotiating an agreement along the terms of the old one.

Mr. Truman told the delegates of the 58 member nations that the general pattern of the wheat agreement might well be followed for other commodities.

Explosion Kills 23

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 24 (AP)—An explosion in a gunpowder factory in the village of Amora today killed 23 of the 100 employes. Many were injured, but no exact count was available.

Question Hard One To Decide, Marshall Says

Involvement Of U. S. In "Hot War" Against Communists Feared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—(AP)—Secrtary of State Marshall disclosed today that President Truman and he are still trying to decide what the United States can properly do to assist China in its present crisis.

Marshall told a crowded news conference that the American government is well aware that the situation in China—caused by the southward sweep of Chinese Communist armies—is critical. But, choosing his words slowly and deliberately, he said that it presents a difficult problem which has to be very carefully considered.

The problem, as he defined it, is to determine what this government properly can do to be of real assistance in the present crisis.

One factor in this government's consideration, he disclosed, is the involvement of the United States which might result in China and which, he said, is already in effect in various parts of the world. He did not spell out what he meant by this but other officials say privately that in giving aid to China's anti-Communist forces the United States must make certain that it is not assuming an almost unbearable burden for carrying on an indefinite "hot war" against the Communist forces.

Holds Press Conference

Marshall met the press after holding his second foreign policy conference of the week with President Truman. Another visitor to Mr. Truman today was Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo. The envoy said that as a result of his talk with the President he was "encouraged" in his hope for greater American aid for China.

Scores of reporters crowded into the State Department conference room hopeful of some definite word on American aid to China and on whether Marshall intends to remain much longer as Secretary of State.

Marshall declined any comment on what he called his possible tenure of office.

The most positive news came in another quarter of foreign relations when the Secretary read a lengthy statement on Anglo-American policy for turning operations of the great industries of the Ruhr over to German management. In effect, he rejected French protests against German operation of these industries. The French have expressed fear that the Ruhr might be used again to rearm the German nation.

Marshall said that the industries are to be regrouped into "smaller self-sustaining units" and "placed under German trusteeship which would be responsible for their efficient and economic operation directly under Allied supervision."

Reviews Work of U. N.

He said that is the best way to promote peaceful production by the Ruhr for European recovery, and to end American subsidies by making the Ruhr's industries self-sustaining.

For the most part, Marshall brushed aside questions asked by reporters seeking amplification of his comments on China and Ger-

Four More Md. Reserve Units Will Be Activated

FT. MEADE, Md., Nov. 24. (AP)—Second Army headquarters said today it is activating 46 more organized reserve corps units in its seven-state area, including four units in Maryland.

Maryland is expected to make ready 20 reserve companies and battalions for service with a planned 18-division national striking force."

To supply this increase in reserve forces, the Reserve Officers Association said it is conducting a campaign to recruit about 7,000 veterans to fill out the skeleton reserve outfits.

Doctors "Unpin" Hagerstown Baby At Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24. (AP)—Eleven - month - old Deborah Paris was "unpinned" today at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Paris, Hagerstown, Md., swallowed an open safety pin last week and it lodged in her throat.

Surgeons were unsuccessful in removing it but they did manage to straighten it out and ease it into the stomach. It passed out through the digestive tract today.

German Reds Ask Big Four Meeting

BERLIN, Nov. 24 (AP)—A Communist drive to get all occupation troops out of Germany was launched tonight.

The German Peoples' Council, a Communist front organization and possible forerunner of an East German parliament, apparently was voicing the Kremlin's policy when it demanded:

1. An immediate parley by the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council to set up machinery to write a final peace treaty for Germany.

2. Removal of all occupation troops within a year after the treaty is signed.

Widely heralded as an important announcement a day in advance by the Soviet-licensed news agency ADN, the demand apparently had the full approval of the Russians. In effect it confirmed that the Soviets want everyone to pull out of Germany, as the Russians did in Korea, once they have Cummunist police state machinery set up in the eastern zone.

Agreed Grievance Plan Doesn't Outlaw Strike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled today that a labor contract agreement to settle disputes by an established grievance procedure is no waiver of a union's legal right to strike.

The five-man board held in a 4 to 1 decision that a union can bypass the grievance machinery and call a strike to win its point.

Two Suggestions For Handling Civil Rights Row Aired

Comprehensive Study Or Compromise Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP) — Two ways of handling President Truman's civil rights program were suggested today: (1) Compromise, and (2) a comprehensive study of racial and economic problems throughout the United States.

Both suggestions came from southern senators. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said that a compromise of the touch issue is "under discussions". Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) advocated the survey, which he said should be an unbiased study not limited to negro conditions in the South.

Sparkman said he is considering introducing a resolution in the new Congress for the inquiry, framing it so a spotlight could be thrown on every section of the nation where there are racial problems. He mentioned, among others, the Puerto Ricans and negroes in New York City, and the Mexicans in California.

Sees No Need For Speed

Delay or not, Sparkman said, "I don't see any use in hurrying into the question."

Fulbright told a reporter he believes a fair legislative compromise can be worked out on such controversial parts of the civil rights program as anti-lynching legislation and prohibition of the poll tax.

"But I'm not predicting that the Senate will accept them," Fulbright said, pointing out that feelings are hot on both sides of the argument that split the Democratic Party prior to the last election.

Fulbright said one proposal is that any federal laws dealing with lynching or poll taxes exempt those states "which now have adequate state laws."

One of the main arguments of southern Democrats in the past against the civil rights measures is that they fail to respect the right and ability of states to handle such problems.

Says Most State Laws Adequate

"As an example, it's plain foolish to try to enact a federal anti-lynching law that would apply to Virginia," Fulbright said. "They have not had a lynching there in 20 years or more. The same is true with most other states. They have adequate state laws."

Similarly, Fulbright said the poll tax is a problem in only a few states.

The Arkansas Senator said programs to end discrimination is employment present a more difficult problem.

Most sponsors of this kind of legislation have urged a federal commission with broad powers to combat discrimination in hiring because of race, religion or color.

"But we might be able to reach agreements there too, if the penalties and controls did not infringe," he said.

State To Appoint Lawyer For Accused Murderer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 24 (AP)—The state will appoint a lawyer to defend Thomas A. Edwards, who has been indicted on charges of murdering John H. Mahlan and Mary C. Kline, of Glen Burnie, two months ago.

Circuit Judges James Clark and Benjamin Mitchaelson said today they will name a defense lawyer "as soon as possible."

Color Film Industry Opened To Competition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—Attorney General Clark today announced the Eastman Kodak Company has made an agreement which he said will "open the color motion picture industry to competition." The agreement was a consent judgment ending an anti-trust suit against the company.

The Attorney General said the judgment was entered this afternoon by Judge William C. Mathes in the Federal District Court at Los Angeles.

Passengers Staging Liner 'Sit-In' Strike

HOPE FOR BRITISH SHIP, CREW OF 37 ABANDONED

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—The stormy North Atlantic apparently has claimed the British freighter Hopestar and its crew of 37.

The Coast Guard said today it has abandoned hope for the 5,267-ton vessel, believed to have foundered on the night of November 14 while battling a severe Atlantic gale 600 miles east of New York.

The ship was believed to have turned over and sunk rapidly, precluding an SOS, after being damaged.

An intensive two-day plane and ship search of the area failed to reveal any sign of the ship or its survivors.

Capt. W. R. Richards, chief of staff of the Coast Guard eastern area, said:

"While an aerial search is still being carried on we feel that there is little possibility that any survivors are left alive."

Say No After Being Ordered To Leave Queen Elizabeth

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 24 (AP)—Passengers aboard the strike-bound luxury liner Queen Elizabeth today were ordered to get off by Friday but approximately 900 said no and voted for a "sit-in" strike.

Capt. C. M. Ford, the ship's commander, told the passengers the strike wouud not be tolerated and that water and lights would be cut off.

Cabin and tourist class passengers voted for the sit-in strike at separate meetings and expressed hope the 600 first class passengers would join them.

The Cunard White Star Line, owners of the ship, had given notice this afternoon to all 1,500 passengers that they must disembark by Friday.

The line said there seemed to be no immediate prospect of settlement of the American longshoremen's strike, which has prevented the ship from sailing.

Went Aboard Last Friday

The passengers came aboard last Friday in expectation they would sail the next day.

The notice from the line today was the signal for the protest meetings.

Spokesmen for the striking passengers stressed that many were in "precarious" financial condition.

The United States consul at Southampton told the American passengers he had sent a cable to the American State Department asking whether financial aid is possible for those who need it.

Cunard's announcement that the passengers would be ordered to leave said "the present arrangement is unsatisfactory to both passengers and the company."

The passengers have been getting their meals free aboard the ship for the past five days. The cost of their tickets included food—and the eating aboard the luxury vessel has been the very best.

Minister Makes Statement

Dr. Henry H. Crane, minister of the Central Methodist Church of Detroit, chairman of the cabin class committee, said:

"We are unanimous in our desire to remain on board because of the precarious condition, financial and otherwise, of many of the passengers.

"There are some very real cases of hardship aboard. We are not making any demands but are appealing to Cunard White Star for all the help and consideration they can give. We are deeply grateful for all they've done so far.

"Tonight I asked a purser if we could stay on board after Friday and was told we could not.

"We want to get legal opinion on our position but so far have found no lawyer aboard."

U. S. 'Peasants' Face Grim Thanksgiving, Soviets Say

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—Moscow told the rest of the world on the eve of Thanksgiving that Americans have little to be thankful for.

Radio broadcasts recorded today by government monitors pictured life in the United States as pretty grim—especially for the American "peasants."

These were identified as about one and one half million farmers who were said to be seeking jobs because "rich usurpers" have gradually seized lands of small owners.

Because of inflation, the great mass of Americans do not make enough to live on, Moscow asserted.

Anna Jarvis, Lonely Spinster Who Founded Mother's Day, Dies At 84

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24 (AP) — Anna M. Jarvis, lonely spinster who founded Mother's Day and then fought vigorously but in vain against its commercialization, died today at 84 — blind and penniless.

Her death in a quiet sanitorium in suburban West Chester followed a long illness.

Partially deaf and unhappy in her last years, Miss Jarvis died of old age, doctors said. She had lived in the home since early 1944 when friends learning of her impoverished plight collected funds and placed her there.

Deeply sentimental, Miss Jarvis started the Mother's Day observance on the second anniversary of her own mother's death — May 9, 1907— by gathering a few friends at her home for a memorial service.

The movement spread. Miss Jarvis wrote to legislative and executive officers of nations and states urging adoption of the day legally. Finally her prodding pen, waxing sentimental, won over President Woodrow Wilson. In 1914 he proclaimed the second Sunday in May a "flag holiday" — honoring the nation's mothers.

Miss Jarvis was born May 1, 1864, in Grafton, W. Va., the daughter of Granville E. Reeves and Anna Reeves Jarvis. She came to Philadelphia in 1904.

Early in life she became active in woman's suffrage and in welfare and temperance movements.

Then her mother died — and she began the single-handed struggle to make Mother's Day into an international observance. The occasion now is recognized in 40 countries.

The success of the movement led Miss Jarvis to give up her former work as clerk for an insurance company. In time her correspondence with churches, businessmen, governors and others overflowed the red brick house in which she lived with her blind sister, Elsinore. She bought the house next door for storage.

She channeled her every activity and her modest fortune into enshrining motherhood. Her own mother had once organized in West Virginia a mothers' friendly day to weld families split by the Civil War.

But Miss Jarvis soon had regrets. Mother's Day became a financial bonanza for florists, candy-makers, jewelers and greeting card sellers.

Immediately the grey-haired woman who founded the day out of sentimental devotion, reverence and love went to war against the money-makers and the publicity seekers.

Once she threatened to sue Gov. Al Smith, of New York, over plans for a gigantic Mother's Day meeting in 1923. Eight years later she tangled with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt over a rival Mother's Day committee.

Fumes Create Emergency

CIO Adopts Resolution Backing PAC Decisions

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24 (AP) — The CIO convention voted 572 to 49 today for a resolution calling on all CIO unions to give "unstinting support" to the Political Action Committee decisions of the CIO.

The vote followed another attack on Communists by President Philip Murray.

Murray said bluntly that the men who spoke against the resolution did so because the Communist Party's "line has changed."

Mentioning three of the speakers by name, Murray said they were uttering "violent tripe" and showing "weakness."

Murray said the three were Reid Robinson, former president of the Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers; Ben Gold, pesident of the Fur Workers; and Joseph Selly, president of the American Communications Association.

Murray said all three supported a similar resolution on political action at the 1944 CIO convention. He demanded to know why they had changed. He replied to his own question with a discussion of Communist Party strategy, and ended by saying the speakers changed because "the line has changed."

The resolution, which was approved in the standing vote, with ushers counting those on both sides of the question, reiterates the CIO's position against any third party.

The left and right wing argument broke into fury this afternoon folowing a brief truce to hear Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas call upon labor to lead the way to future peace.

President Murray called Douglas' speech an "historic" address whose "effect will be felt throughout the land."

In the speech Douglas traced the rise of the labor movement, discussed present-day economic problems and concluded:

"Today labor, better than any other element in our society, can weld the democrats of the world into a group within its power to guide western civilization, neither to the right nor to the left, but down the broad middle highway to

School Head Orders Halt To Self-Induced 'Redouts'

AVA, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP) — A high school principal today ordered students to stop what he termed a growing fad of self-induced blackouts.

J. H. Hammack, principal of the Tri-County Consolidated High School here, said the practice came to a head when a girl freshman blacked herself out 15 times yesterday—six times in a row during the noon hour. She finally became unconscious for nearly two hours.

An Ava physician, declining use of his name, said he treated the girl for anoxemia. He described it as a disturbance of the carbon dioxide balance in the blood. He added that the effect was comparable to blackout suffered by fliers in pulling out of long, steep dives.

Principal Hammack said that in an attempt to combat the practice he called a student assembly as the girl was regaining consciousness so they could listen to her screams.

Students questioned by school authorities reported that the self-induced "redouts"—their term for the practice—usually last only a few minutes and some said they had dreams and hallucinations.

A Percy, Ill., boy told friends he had undergone 30 "redouts" without ill effect.

"We were most troubled with those who fainted just from watching it," Hammack said. "Six or eight fainted."

The principal said the practice had been brought under control here today but that he understood it was spreading in other schools in the area.

In Chicago, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, described the practice as evidence of "mass psychological disturbances which occur among adolescents from time to time.

"As long as adolescents find that their performances attract interest and make them the center of attention they are likely to go from one sensation to another," Dr. Fishbein said.

Thanksgiving Picture Reversed Since 1620

The harvest was in. The Pilgrims, in that November of 1621, knew at last that most of them would survive a second New England winter. If the crops had failed, or if ships from Europe had failed to arrive with help, few would have lived until spring.

So the Pilgrims celebrated, not a single day, but a long period of thanksgiving. They invited their Indian neighbors, who came bearing great arrow-pierced wild turkeys. They feasted together, and thanked God with songs and prayers, and unlimbered their work-stiffened sinews in lively games with the Indians. They were lucky, and they knew it.

For more than two centuries thereafter Thanksgiving was not celebrated annually, but only in years of particular peril. There was no fixed date for it, and observance was not always nationwide. But for nearly 90 years it has been an annual affair.

Its inner meaning has never been altogether staled by custom, but it no longer lies on the surface and it is necessary to dig deeper to find it. That is particularly true in 1948, when the 1621 picture has almost reversed itself.

The Pilgrims of 1621, threatened by privation that had almost decimated their ranks, had saved themselves, with the help of God, by their own efforts. But their best efforts might have failed if the ships had not borne subsistence from Europe's relative plenty.

Today it is Europe that must save itself, God willing, by its own efforts and the help of the well-fed America.

The desperately poor, in 1621, gave thanks as they could. We, their descendants, in 1948, will give thanks appropriate to our changed status by sharing our God-given abundance. We will thank God by remembering that He loves a cheerful giver.

Communists lost 80 per cent of their seats in the French legislature. France must be full of low-down, imperialistic capitalists.

Newspapers Prove Great Aid To Santa

Newspaper advertising this year is aiding Santa Claus in his annual task as never before. Busy Christmas shoppers save time because they learn by perusing the ads where to find what they seek. Retail outlets large and small are listing their wares in the advertising pages of the newspapers, a good example of which is the expanded edition of today's Cumberland News to meet demands of Cumberland merchants to make known the extent to which they are prepared to serve the public—as a convenience to their customers, and because they know it pays.

Newsprint production in the United States and Canada this year is up 20 per cent but the supply of paper in the pressrooms and warehouses of not only Cumberland's dailies but newspapers of the country is being strained. The stock on hand is no greater than a year ago. The demands for more space made on newspapers by advertisers prevents the building up of paper reserves.

Instances of newspapers printing editions that tax the capacity of their presses is common. Journals with presses that seemed too large a few years ago for economical operation now are placing orders for larger equipment because they are hampered by inadequate press capacity in printing the volume of advertising that is submitted, and at the same time permit editions to be adequately balanced with news.

The Cumberland News is fully conscious of its obligation to not only the business life of the communities it serves but to those who look to it for guidance during the strenuous shopping days ahead. It's a twin responsibility that will not be shirked.

French Communists, calling upon the workers of the world to strike, exempt Russia. Under the reds' Taft-Hartley Act they just don't strike.

State Department's Dream Regarding China Dangerous

It is too soon to know whether Chiang Kai-shek's armies around Soochow can win merely a respite for Nanking or one of the great decisive battles of modern history. Late reports from the battle area are not too promising for the Nanking government so the western world will have to wait for the tide of conflict during coming days or weeks to learn whether or not the Communist threat to China and all Southeast Asia has been turned. In the meantime, the State Department of the United States continues its dangerous dreams of a "workable leftist coalition" in Nanking.

President Truman has not responded to Chiang's desperate plea for a renewed American sympathy and support for China. Instead, the State Department is reported still hopeful of bringing together Communist and Nanking "liberals" in a new regime that would "save China from Russia."

Using the flimsy example of Marshal Tito, the boys in the Far Eastern Division of State trust that Communist leader Mao Tse-tung will prove to be more Chinese than Communist. In spite of denials, reports persist in Nanking that U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart has personally advised Chiang to seek peace with the Red armies and prepare the way for a coalition.

It would be interesting to know on what the Far Eastern Division men base their complacent notions about Mao Tse-tung. It is true that most of the American correspondents who have been permitted to interview Mao in North China have been carefully picked fellow-travelers. But any radio listener in China can hear Mao's rabidly anti-American broadcasts. Back in 1940 he was crying down the "imperialist war" in Europe. Mao's book, "The New Democracy," which outlines political strategy, makes perfectly clear that he would take China into the Russian orbit in opposition to the capitalist states.

Mao's power is based largely on Russian help. Why would he not continue the alliance, once Chiang were ousted from power—with the aid of American lassitude and fond dreams?

There is undoubtedly need for reform, political and economic, in Nanking. And the United States is now in a position to demand reform as a condition of effective aid. But the whole future of East Asia is imperiled by the Titoist notions of our State Department.

We Offer Thanks

This year we will celebrate Thanksgiving as usual, but many of our citizens may wonder what there is to be thankful for. This is only natural; yet if we are to keep our feet on the ground and not fall prey to anxiety, it behooves us to count our blessings and appreciate the good that has come our way. A wholesome mental attitude will see us through many of our problems.

Dr. Van Dellen

We can be grateful for example, that there have been no major epidemics. Throughout the ages, such outbreaks often proved more devastating than wars and, in many instances, changed the course of history. The threat still exists but it is unlikely that we will be overwhelmed if we preserve our present system of maintaining high standards.

Our population has reaped many benefits through recent advances in medicine and surgery. It is a great comfort to know that the wonder drugs have already saved the lives of millions. What better insurance could we have against pneumonia, peritonitis, and blood poisoning? New techniques in surgery assure us of an excellent chance of surviving this ordeal whenever necessary. Research has provided us with vaccines and serums to prevent childhood diseases and other infections. Nowadays our youngsters are given a greater opportunity to reach maturity because of this protection and other health measures. Drugs also are available to relieve suffering in general as well as the discomfort arising from allergies.

Some of the most thankful on this day are individuals who have attained the Biblical three score and ten and are still going strong. It is well known that the vitality of the human brain is not limited by age. Nowadays, this is more evident than ever before because a larger percentage have been able to by-pass the physical ailments that stood in the way of longevity. It must be wonderful to reach this age and feel as good as a person of thirty.

All of this should be stimulating to the younger generation. Furthermore it should encourage moderation of conservation lest the young man spoil his chance for health and happiness when he reaches this period of life that can be so delightful. While no one can be sure he will live to a ripe old age, the number of men and women over sixty is increasing so rapidly that we should all prepare for the future.

Nature also has been kind. She has given us an abundant crop so that not only do we have enough for ourselves but can share with others. The proper food is an important factor in good health and, so long as it is plentiful, more of us are reaping the benefits. Growing children are helped particularly because it assures them of a good foundation upon which their future rests.

Prosperity means better living conditions and better living conditions are on a par with food in preventing disease and promoting health. In addition, all of these factors improve our mental outlook and make it possible for us to enjoy this day in a true spirit of thankfulness.

Reply

If you need more proof that you have not been imbiding have your blood tested for alcohol or go to a police station and subject yourself to the drunkometer. Heart disease rarely produces symptoms which might be confused with inebriation but high blood pressure can make the skin red and produce dizziness. Furthermore, if the kidneys are involved and a uremic condition exists, drowsiness, nausea, and acidosis may be confusing. Why not take your wife with you on your next visit to your physician and have him settle this problem?

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Over 700,000 Americans are expected to visit Europe in the next 12 months.

Gee, the Republicans are really getting out fast.

The U. S. is making sure its citizens are protected from the Russians while they are over there. In Germany we've got General Clay and a hundred thousand troops . . . In Austria we've got General Hodges and fifty thousand troops . . . In Italy we've got Orson Wells and a lot of Californians are going to England for a change of fog.

A group of Americans were sunning themselves on the baech at the Riveria when one French kid took a look at them, turned to his mother and said: "I do not understand, mama . . . You told me all Americans had greenbacks."

And those American tourists are picking up everything in sight for souvenirs. In fact, a school teacher from Milwaukee grabbed the iron curtain and had it half way in her valise before Stalin noticed it was gone and ran for his bathrobe.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Marshall Encouraged About Russian Situation; Iron Curtain Countries Would Like To Be In On Marshall Plan; Forrestal Wants To Keep Job

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Secretary of State Marshall, now pushing 69 and inclined to worry, has come back to Washington reasonably encouraged about the Russian situation.

He has reported to the White House and others that the Berlin airlift has been a tremendous defeat for the Soviet and that the Russians are worried over the way public opinion has turned against them at the Paris sessions of the United Nations.

In general, Marshall believes that come next spring, when the Russians see the airlife can be carried on the year round, they will find their own way of lifting the Berlin blockade.

Marshall reports a disturbed state of mind inside Soviet councils, for two reasons:

1. ERP is making far greater progress than generally realized.

2. The General Assembly has consistently vetoed the Russians down. In contrast to the New York UN meeting last year, where Russian propaganda was much more successful, the Paris meeting has lined up almost solidly against Moscow. The Russians pretend not to care about this, but they do. It has a bad propaganda reaction in the rest of Europe.

Russians Regret ERP

The success of the ERP can be measured by the intensity of Russian attempts to stir up trouble, the Secretary of State has reported. The greater the Marshall Plan's progress, the more the strikes and riots to sabotage it.

The Iron Curtain countries even have a hard time concealing the fact that they would like to be in on the Marshall Plan. Poland, for instance, sent its Foreign Minister to see Secretary Marshall some time ago and told him that he had made a great mistake in not discussing the Marshall Plan with Molotov before he [illegible] over with Foreign Ministers Bevin and Bidault. Then he would have had Russia's cooperation.

Marshall replied that he had not discussed it with Bevin and Bidault in advance, which obviously the Pole did not believe.

The Secreary of State still feels frustated by the one-sidedness of negotiations with Russia. Moscow operates in a vacuum. No criticism is allowed. If the Soviet makes a mistake, no one in Russia knows about it except the privileged few inside the Kremlin. There is no pressure of public opinion inside Russia to force the Soviet Government into a peaceful role.

The United States, on the other hand, operates with the entire world looking over its shoulder. If a bad move is made, every newspaper front-pages it.

Marshall wouldn't change the American system. But when he was in the Army, he operated under much greater secrecy. That's one reason he gets tired and discouraged and would really like to quit in the reasonably near future and go back to his colonial estate at Leesburg, Va.

Truman And Forrestal

Betting odds have increased a bit that James V. Forrestal will win his backstage lobbying game to stay on as Secretary of National Defense.

In contrast to his early statement that he didn't plan to remain in the Cabinet, the Japper Wall Streeter is now frantically contacting friends to help him keep his job.

White House insiders say that if he succeeds it will be a definite reverse of Truman's earlier attitude. They remember during the campaign how they drafted an order for the President to sign, commanding Forrestal to increase Army, Navy and Marine Corps reserves.

As he signed it, Truman dryly remarked:

"If Forrestal recognizes my signature on this one, it will be the first time this year."

Business Report

Attention Wall Street: President Truman has received a private analysis of the economic situation from his top economic advisers. Truman asked for the report himself following disclosures that department-store sales were down, that the stock market is shaky, and that some businessmen are getting jittery.

The analysis which the economists gave him shows not only that prosperity should continue for some time, but that employment, savings, credit and wages are still climbing. So is demand for heavy industrial goods. White House advisers actually are more concerned about continuing inflation than about an early recession.

Note—President Truman also telephoned Chairman Edwin C. Nourse of the Council of Economic Advisers before he returned from Key West and asked him to hold a series of White House conferences to prepare the Truman Administration's economic program for Congress. These conferences have already begun. They will draw the economic blueprint which the Truman Administration will follow during the next four years.

The Diplomatic Pouch

Western allied intelligence reports that Andrei Gromyko, former Soviet representative at the United Nations, appears to have been placed in oblivion. (Even he wasn't anti-American enough.) . . . There is more than meets the eye behind the visit of the Italian Chief of Staff, Gen. Efisizo Marras, to the United States. Real purpose of the trip is to train Italian troops along the lines of the American Army . . . Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has ordered a halt to shipment of American oil machinery to Communist Roumania. (It's about time.) . . . Russia has suddenly stepped up its war of nerves against neighboring Iran. For two weeks, northern Iranian tribesmen—armed with Rusian weapons—have repeatedly clashed with government troops along the Russian frontier. The American Embassy fears this may be the forerunner of new Russian demands . . . Inside reason for evacuating U. S. citizens from China is not fear of injury, but that the Americans, with big automobiles and plenty to eat, will create too much anti-American propaganda.

Administration Reluctant To Be Definite About China War

By MARK SULLIVAN

To make into definite news what Washington is going to do about China has baffled newsmen. The Administration has been reluctant to make definite statements, has been in fact indefinite in its own deliberations. The indefiniteness is likely to continue, and any specific decision bearing on a course about China is likely to be fragmentary. We will probably take steps that will mitigate the China condition, and our steps may be effective; but we are not likely to announce an all-out course toward an end firmly decided upon.

Conceivably we could decide to save China from Communism, in the same sense that we have decided to save the countries of Western Europe, and by the same means, including aid to make those countries economically and militarily strong. But the cost of that course would be unthinkable, literally so, in the sense that no one can think accurately about what the cost would be. A figure current in Washington is five billion dollars. But the more accurate estimate is one which admits that it cannot be accurate at all. A phrase used by persons who earnestly desire to save China, but are also realistic and candid, is, "an indefinite amount for an indefinite number of years."

Dilemma To Be Faced

To add an indefinite commitment of such magnitude to commitments we are already under, definite and indefinite—aid to Europe under the Marshall Plan, increase in our own military strength, aid to European countries to enable them to increase their military strength for defense against Communism and Russia, our own domestic needs—to add those together is to bring us face to face with the dilemma that underlies everything.

That delimma facing up springs from the double strategy of the Russian purpose to Communize the world. The purpose is pursued along two lines. One consists of infiltration into other countries, incitement of chaos and civil war within them, constant pressure, cold war and war of nerves, accompanied by some use of force and constant threat of it.

The other prong of Russian and Communistic strategy is to bring about destruction of the existing economic system in the United States. We are the spearhead of world resistance to the Communist world purpose, and destruction of our economic system would be world victory for Communism. It is this prong of her over-all strategy that Russia has always cherished most. She is as much advantaged by putting us to the expense of defense against her threat of world Communism and of war as she would be by war itself.

The destruction of our economic system which Rusia hopes for could results from violent inflation in the United States. And it is this danger we must take account of when we consider adding to our already dangerous sum of commitments an indefinite one for aid to China.

Dilemma Confronting Us Is Tragic

The dilemma confronting us is tragic. For next to the destruction of our economic system, the principle hope of Russia lies in taking over China. The importance of China is to be found in sentences and phrases of a statement made three years ago by the head of the Communist Party in the United States, Mr. William Z. Foster:

"The war in China is the key to all problems of the international front and it is here, above all else, where we have to deal the hardest blow . . . On the international scale, the key task . . . is to stop American intervention in China . . . the question of China . . . is our key concentration."

This Communist head was emphasizing primarily the importance of China, and secondarily the importance of preventing us from aiding China. But it is not the American Communists who prevent us now from giving China as much aid as we would like to. What deters us is mainly consideration of the cost under existing conditions. We will do what we can, but what we can do is short of all-out dedication to the full extent of our aid to Western Europe.

It is doubtful if Governor Dewey, had he been elected, could have done much more. He, in his campaign, was much stronger about aid to China than President Truman. So far as he emphasized the past, he had a case; three years ago the advance of Communism into North China was slight compared to what it now is. But opposition by us at that time would have run counter to our then broad policy of getting along with Russia.

Electoral System Vs Popular Vote In Presidential Balloting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—There's a saying that "a miss is as good as a mile." It applies particularly to the interesting fact just brought out by the latest Associated Press figures showing that if 35,300 persons out of approximately 47,000,000 had changed their votes Dewey would have been elected.

Such a calculation has been made after nearly every presidential election but this year it has a special meaning. It renders absurd much of the thoughtless comment that has been heard since the election about how intentionally "misleading" were the polls or forecasters.

Too many people have never taken the time or trouble to examine the electoral system by which presidents are chosen. They would have been willing to forget the errors in all the polls and forecasts this year if the electoral vote had resulted in a victory for Dewey. Yet the same margin of error in many states was made in previous elections by the Gallup Poll, for instance, but this was overlooked because the over-all poll happened to pick the winner.

Newspapers Reported The Truth

If, as has been proposed again and again, the election of a President were to be by popular vote there never would have been such despair among the Democratic Party managers as they exhibited privately during the campaign this year, and there never would have been the overconfidence which the Republicans manifested.

All through the campaign, the newspapers generally reported the truth as they saw it—the closeness of the popular vote. Again and again it was pointed out by forecasters and even pollsters—by none other than Dr. Gallup himself—that the popular vote would be close. The public impression today is that Roosevelt won all his elections easily. Yet, in 1940 and 1944 the popular vote was so close it could easily have resulted in a victory for the Republican nominee if just a small number of votes had changed in a few states.

The importance of the popular vote has somehow been minimized and the electoral-vote result overemphasized.

The newspapers are not political organizations, nor are they betting guides on everything from horse races to football games. They express their own views in editorial pages, to be sure, but in the news pages they report the speeches and the happenings of the campaign. The newspapers cannot make a checkup of voters by precincts during campaigns. This is the business of the political parties. To say that their political reporters should have done a different reporting job in each state is to imply that they did not exercise their honest judgment. What the reporters couldn't change was the evidence available to them.

Many Democrats Amazed

Even many of the Democrats now elected to Congress could not see victory for themselves in their own districts, even as late as the day before election. If the reporters who honestly reported what was told them privately by the campaign managers of both sides had guessed a Truman victory they would have been right in their guesses, but they would have been doing a dishonest job of reporting. An honest reporter who conscientiously described the evidence of trends available to him in the campaign need make no apology after a close election.

If the 1948 election brings about a wider education of the public on the difference between popular vote and electoral vote, it will be of tremendous value for the future. As long as the electoral system permits a majority of a single vote of a citizen in the state of New York, for example, to cast 47 electoral votes out of 266 necessary to elect, the forecasting of any election in which the popular division is close can be a surprise. This has been said thousands of times and written many times, including this summer and autumn, but somehow it seems to be still unknown to millions of otherwise well-informed persons.

How many people today know the answer to this question: Has a majority of the popular vote failed to elect a President and how many times did the candidate who polled a minority of the tota of all parties receive a majorit of the electoral votes just the sme and become President? Answr: Yes, three times—1876, 1888 and1916.

These Days

The "Liberals"

ROGERS C. Dunn of the Dunn Survey makes an interesting point:

"Self-styled 'liberals' in the Republican Party are obviously blind to the fact that the more they succeed in making the Republican Party 'liberal,' the more liberal, or leftist, the New Deal is forced to go."

That has now happened in three campaigns. The Republican Party has been moving toward what is called "liberalism," by which is meant timeliness as to policy based upon the probabilities of popularity; this means uncertainty and flexibility as to principle. The Democratic Party, on the other hand, has continued an inner struggle which began with William Jennings Bryan, the struggle between Populism and conservatism.

The Democrats have steadily been moving in the direction of what in Europe is called Social Democracy. The third party in the United States is the Communist Party, by whatever name it may momentarily be called.

Across this ideological simplification run the complexities of American life which are inevitable in a free society.

In a word, men do not fit rigid categories. Such persons as Chester Bowles or Paul Porter would anywhere else in this would be regarded as Socialists; here they are only Socialists in certain phases of political expression; in others, they are actually conservative.

The reason for this lack of clarification is that most Americans in politics do not have a philosophic basis for action; they are generally opportunistic and take winning positions. That is, they "play politics," as the phrase goes; they are not ready to be martyrs to a cause. This was obvious in the last election.

When Dewey refused to defend the 80th Congress, the Taft-Hartley Act, and so on, he forced Truman to move closer to the Wallace program. Truman, who wanted a fighting campaign "to give them hell," found that his principal opponent would not fight back. This was sheer opportunism on all sides. Dewey felt that he could win by his pattern; Truman felt that he could win by his pattern. But who stood up for any principles involved in the election?

The real danger in this opportunism lies in its leftward trend. If the Republicans continue to push the Democrats into Socialism, the general American population, which is conservative and capitalistic, will be without representation altogether. Certainly on basic questions, Dewey and Truman were closer than Truman can possibly be to such men as Chester Bowles and Paul Porter. Senator Barkley is ideologically closer to Senator Taft than he is to Senator Pepper. There is a falseness in the alignments in both parties, an inability to formulate principles and a lack of resistance to leftward magnetism. This we need to understand before the 81st Congress gets to work.

The word "liberal" has come to cover a multitude of confusions. When one speaks of a Republican Liberal, precisely what is meant? How does a Republican liberal differ from a New Dealer? How do Senator Tobey and Senator Aiken differ from Senator Pepper and Senator Glen Taylor? In what fundamental concepts are these men different? Why should one be a Democrat and the other a Republican?

It would be interesting if these four men were to write on paper, say, in something the size of this column, each one's philosophic concept of American life. These men would prove to be close to each other, but all would be far from, let us say, Senator Taft. On the other hand, such a man as Senator George, a Democrat, would not be far removed from Senator Taft.

Unless the Republican Party can formulate a definite and clear philosophic program, it cannot return to office. It has now failed five times, four times because the conservative voters it did not have enough to say.

The last three elections were marked by Republican abstention from voting. These Republicans did not stay away from the polls because they were "lazy" or "overconfident." They stayed away because they were dissatisfied with the position of their party, with its so-called "liberalism," with its running on the heels of the New Deal in the direction of state socialism.

When in Ohio, 300,000 vote for either Governor but cut both Presidential candidates they indicate a distaste for their party's national policy.

Thanksgiving Picture Reversed Since 1620

The harvest was in. The Pilgrims, in that November of 1621, knew at last that most of them would survive a second New England winter. If the crops had failed, or if ships from Europe had failed to arrive with help, few would have lived until spring.

So the Pilgrims celebrated, not a single day, but a long period of thanksgiving. They invited their Indian neighbors, who came bearing great arrow-pierced wild turkeys. They feasted together, and thanked God with songs and prayers, and unlimbered their work-stiffened sinews in lively games with the Indians. They were lucky, and they knew it.

For more than two centuries thereafter Thanksgiving was not celebrated annually, but only in years of particular peril. There was no fixed date for it, and observance was not always nationwide. But for nearly 90 years it has been an annual affair.

Its inner meaning has never been altogether staled by custom, but it no longer lies on the surface and it is necessary to dig deeper to find it. That is particularly true in 1948, when the 1621 picture has almost reversed itself.

The Pilgrims of 1621, threatened by privation that had almost decimated their ranks, had saved themselves, with the help of God, by their own efforts. But their best efforts might have failed if the ships had not borne subsistence from Europe's relative plenty.

Today it is Europe that must save itself, God willing, by its own efforts and the help of the well-fed America.

The desperately poor, in 1621, gave thanks as they could. We, their descendants, in 1948, will give thanks appropriate to our changed status by sharing our God-given abundance. We will thank God by remembering that He loves a cheerful giver.

Communists lost 80 per cent of their seats in the French legislature. France must be full of low-down, imperialistic capitalists.

Newspapers Prove Great Aid To Santa

Newspaper advertising this year is aiding Santa Claus in his annual task as never before. Busy Christmas shoppers save time because they learn by perusing the ads where to find what they seek. Retail outlets large and small are listing their wares in the advertising pages of the newspapers, a good example of which is the expanded edition of today's Cumberland News to meet demands of Cumberland merchants to make known the extent to which they are prepared to serve the public—as a convenience to their customers, and because they know it pays.

Newsprint production in the United States and Canada this year is up 20 per cent but the supply of paper in the pressrooms and warehouses of not only Cumberland's dailies but newspapers of the country is being strained. The stock on hand is no greater than a year ago. The demands for more space made on newspapers by advertisers prevents the building up of paper reserves.

Instances of newspapers printing editions that tax the capacity of their presses is common. Journals with presses that seemed too large a few years ago for economical operation now are placing orders for larger equipment because they are hampered by inadequate press capacity in printing the volume of advertising that is submitted, and at the same time permit editions to be adequately balanced with news.

The Cumberland News is fully conscious of its obligation to not only the business life of the communities it serves but to those who look to it for guidance during the strenuous shopping days ahead. It's a twin responsibility that will not be shirked.

French Communists, calling upon the workers of the world to strike, exempt Russia. Under the reds' Taft-Hartley Act they just don't strike.

State Department's Dream Regarding China Dangerous

It is too soon to know whether Chiang Kai-shek's armies around Soochow can win merely a respite for Nanking or one of the great decisive battles of modern history. Late reports from the battle area are not too promising for the Nanking government so the western world will have to wait for the tide of conflict during coming days or weeks to learn whether or not the Communist threat to China and all Southeast Asia has been turned. In the meantime, the State Department of the United States continues its dangerous dreams of a "workable leftist coalition" in Nanking.

President Truman has not responded to Chiang's desperate plea for a renewed American sympathy and support for China. Instead, the State Department is reported still hopeful of bringing together Communist and Nanking "liberals" in a new regime that would "save China from Russia."

Using the flimsy example of Marshal Tito, the boys in the Far Eastern Division of State trust that Communist leader Mao Tse-tung will prove to be more Chinese than Communist. In spite of denials, reports persist in Nanking that U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart has personally advised Chiang to seek peace with the Red armies and prepare the way for a coalition.

It would be interesting to know on what the Far Eastern Division men base their complacent notions about Mao Tse-tung. It is true that most of the American correspondents who have been permitted to interview Mao in North China have been carefully picked fellow-travelers. But any radio listener in China can hear Mao's rabidly anti-American broadcasts. Back in 1940 he was crying down the "imperialist war" in Europe. Mao's book, "The New Democracy," which outlines political strategy, makes perfectly clear that he would take China into the Russian orbit in opposition to the capitalist states.

Mao's power is based largely on Russian help. Why would he not continue the alliance, once Chiang were ousted from power—with the aid of American lassitude and fond dreams?

There is undoubtedly need for reform, political and economic, in Nanking. And the United States is now in a position to demand reform as a condition of effective aid. But the whole future of East Asia is imperiled by the Titoist notions of our State Department.

We Offer Thanks

This year we will celebrate Thanksgiving as usual, but many of our citizens may wonder what there is to be thankful for. This is only natural; yet if we are to keep our feet on the ground and not fall prey to anxiety, it behooves us to count our blessings and appreciate the good that has come our way. A wholesome mental attitude will see us through many of our problems.

Dr. Van Dellen

We can be grateful for example, that there have been no major epidemics. Throughout the ages, such outbreaks often proved more devastating than wars and, in many instances, changed the course of history. The threat still exists but it is unlikely that we will be overwhelmed if we preserve our present system of maintaining high standards.

Our population has reaped many benefits through recent advances in medicine and surgery. It is a great comfort to know that the wonder drugs have already saved the lives of millions. What better insurance could we have against pneumonia, peritonitis, and blood poisoning? New techniques in surgery assure us of an excellent chance of surviving this ordeal whenever necessary. Research has provided us with vaccines and serums to prevent childhood diseases and other infections. Nowadays our youngsters are given a greater opportunity to reach maturity because of this protection and other health measures. Drugs also are available to relieve suffering in general as well as the discomfort arising from allergies.

Some of the most thankful on this day are individuals who have attained the Biblical three score and ten and are still going strong. It is well known that the vitality of the human brain is not limited by age. Nowadays, this is more evident than ever before because a larger percentage have been able to by-pass the physical ailments that stood in the way of longevity. It must be wonderful to reach this age and feel as good as a person of thirty.

All of this should be stimulating to the younger generation. Furthermore it should encourage moderation of conservation lest the young man spoil his chance for health and happiness when he reaches this period of life that can be so delightful. While no one can be sure he will live to a ripe old age, the number of men and women over sixty is increasing so rapidly that we should all prepare for the future.

Nature also has been kind. She has given us an abundant crop so that not only do we have enough for ourselves but can share with others. The proper food is an important factor in good health and, so long as it is plentiful, more of us are reaping the benefits. Growing children are helped particularly because it assures them of a good foundation upon which their future rests.

Prosperity means better living conditions and better living conditions are on a par with food in preventing disease and promoting health. In addition, all of these factors improve our mental outlook and make it possible for us to enjoy this day in a true spirit of thankfulness.

If you need more proof that you have not been imbibing have your blood tested for alcohol or go to a police station and subject yourself to the drunkometer. Heart disease rarely produces symptoms which might be confused with inebriation but high blood pressure can make the skin red and produce dizziness. Furthermore, if the kidneys are involved and a uremic condition exists, drowsiness, nausea, and acidosis may be confusing. In Austria we've got General Hodges and fifty thousand troops . . . In Italy we've got Orson Wells and a lot of Californians are going to England for a change of fog.

A group of Americans were sunning themselves on the baech at the Riveria when one French kid took a look at them, turned to his mother and said: "I do not understand, mama . . . You told me all Americans had greenbacks."

And those American tourists are picking up everything in sight for souvenirs. In fact, a school teacher from Milwaukee grabbed the iron curtain and had it half way in her valise before Stalin noticed it was gone and ran for his bathrobe.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Marshall Encouraged About Russian Situation; Iron Curtain Countries Would Like To Be In On Marshall Plan; Forrestal Wants To Keep Job

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Secretary of State Marshall, now pushing 69 and inclined to worry, has come back to Washington reasonably encouraged about the Russian situation.

He has reported to the White House and others that the Berlin airlift has been a tremendous defeat for the Soviet and that the Russians are worried over the way public opinion has turned against them at the Paris sessions of the United Nations.

In general, Marshall believes that come next spring, when the Russians see the airlife can be carried on the year round, they will find their own way of lifting the Berlin blockade.

Marshall reports a disturbed state of mind inside Soviet councils, for two reasons:

1. ERP is making far greater progress than generally realized.

2. The General Assembly has consistently vetoed the Russians down. In contrast to the New York UN meeting last year, where Russian propaganda was much more successful, the Paris meeting has lined up almost solidly against Moscow. The Russians pretend not to care about this, but they do. It has a bad propaganda reaction in the rest of Europe.

Russians Regret ERP

The success of the ERP can be measured by the intensity of Russian attempts to stir up trouble, the Secretary of State has reported. The greater the Marshall Plan's progress, the more the strikes and riots to sabotage it.

The Iron Curtain countries even have a hard time concealing the fact that they would like to be in on the Marshall Plan. Poland, for instance, sent its Foreign Minister to see Secretary Marshall some time ago and told him that he had made a great mistake in not discussing the Marshall Plan with Molotov before he left over with Foreign Ministers Bevin and Bidault. Then he would have had Russia's cooperation.

Marshall replied that he had not discussed it with Bevin and Bidault in advance, which obviously the Pole did not believe.

The Secreary of State still feels frustated by the one-sidedness of negotiations with Russia. Moscow operates in a vacuum. No criticism is allowed. If the Soviet makes a mistake, no one in Russia knows about it except the privileged few inside the Kremlin. There is no pressure of public opinion inside Russia to force the Soviet Government into a peaceful role.

The United States, on the other hand, operates with the entire world looking over its shoulder. If a bad move is made, every newspaper front-pages it.

Marshall wouldn't change the American system. But when he was in the Army, he operated under much greater secrecy. That's one reason he gets tired and discouraged and would really like to quit in the reasonably near future and go back to his colonial estate at Leesburg, Va.

Truman And Forrestal

Betting odds have increased a bit that James V. Forrestal will win his backstage lobbying game to stay on as Secretary of National Defense.

In contrast to his early statement that he didn't plan to remain in the Cabinet, the Dapper Wall Streeter is now frantically contacting friends to help him keep his job.

White House insiders say that if he succeeds it will be a definite reverse of Truman's earlier attitude. They remember during the campaign how they drafted an order for the President to sign, commanding Forrestal to increase Army, Navy and Marine Corps reserves.

As he signed it, Truman dryly remarked:

"If Forrestal recognizes my signature on this one, it will be the first time this year."

Business Report

Attention Wall Street: President Truman has received a private analysis of the economic situation from his top economic advisers. Truman asked for the report himself following disclosures that department-store sales were down, that the stock market is shaky, and that some businessmen are getting jittery.

The analysis which the economists gave him shows not only that prosperity should continue for some time, but that employment, savings, credit and wages are still climbing. So is demand for heavy industrial goods. White House advisers actually are more concerned about continuing inflation than about an early recession.

Note—President Truman also telephoned Chairman Edwin C. Nourse of the Council of Economic Advisers before he returned from Key West and asked him to hold a series of White House conferences to prepare the Truman Administration's economic program for Congress. These conferences have already begun. They will draw the economic blueprint which the Truman Administration will follow during the next four years.

The Diplomatic Pouch

Western allied intelligence reports that Andrei Gromyko, former Soviet representative at the United Nations, appears to have been placed in oblivion. (Even he wasn't anti-American enough.) . . . There is more than meets the eye behind the visit of the Italian Chief of Staff, Gen. Efisizo Marras, to the United States. Real purpose of the trip is to train Italian troops along the lines of the American Army . . . Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has ordered a halt to shipment of American oil machinery to Communist Roumania. (It's about time.) . . . Russia has suddenly stepped up its war of nerves against neighboring Iran. For two weeks, northern Iranian tribesmen—armed with Rusian weapons—have repeatedly clashed with government troops along the Russian frontier. The American Embassy fears this may be the forerunner of new Russian demands . . . Inside reason for evacuating U. S. citizens from China is not fear of injury, but that the Americans, with big automobiles and plenty to eat, will create too much anti-American propaganda.

Administration Reluctant To Be Definite About China War

By MARK SULLIVAN

To make into definite news what Washington is going to do about China has baffled newsmen. The Administration has been reluctant to make definite statements, has been in fact indefinite in its own deliberations. The indefiniteness is likely to continue, and any specific decision bearing on a course about China is likely to be fragmentary. We will probably take steps that will mitigate the China condition, and our steps may be effective; but we are not likely to announce an all-out course toward an end firmly decided upon.

Conceivably we could decide to save China from Communism, in the same sense that we have decided to save the countries of Western Europe, and by the same means, including aid to make those countries economically and militarily strong. But the cost of that course would be unthinkable, literally so, in the sense that no one can think accurately about what the cost would be. A figure current in Washington is five billion dollars. But the more accurate estimate is one which admits that it cannot be accurate at all. A phrase used by persons who earnestly desire to save China, but are also realistic and candid, is, "an indefinite amount for an indefinite number of years."

Dilemma To Be Faced

To add an indefinite commitment of such magnitude to commitments we are already under, definite and indefinite—aid to Europe under the Marshall Plan, increase in our own military strength, aid to European countries to enable them to increase their military strength for defense against Communism and Russia, our own domestic needs—to add those together is to bring us face to face with the dilemma that underlies everything.

That delimma facing up springs from the double strategy of the Russian purpose to Communize the world. The purpose is pursued along two lines. One consists of infiltration into other countries, incitement of chaos and civil war within them, constant pressure, cold war and war of nerves, accompanied by some use of force and constant threat of it.

The other prong of Russian and Communistic strategy is to bring about destruction of the existing economic system in the United States. We are the spearhead of world resistance to the Communist world purpose, and destruction of our economic system would be world victory for Communism. It is this prong of her over-all strategy that Russia has always cherished most. She is as much advantaged by putting us to the expense of defense against her threat of world Communism and of war as she would be by war itself.

The destruction of our economic system which Rusia hopes for could results from violent inflation in the United States. And it is this danger we must take account of when we consider adding to our already dangerous sum of commitments an indefinite one for aid to China.

Dilemma Confronting Us Is Tragic

The dilemma confronting us is tragic. For next to the destruction of our economic system, the principle hope of Russia lies in taking over China. The importance of China is to be found in sentences and phrases of a statement made three years ago by the head of the Communist Party in the United States, Mr. William Z. Foster:

"The war in China is the key to all problems of the international front and it is here, above all else, where we have to deal the hardest blow . . . On the international scale, the key task . . . is to stop American intervention in China . . . the question of China . . . is our key concentration."

This Communist head was emphasizing primarily the importance of China, and secondarily the importance of preventing us from aiding China. But it is not the American Communists who prevent us now from giving China as much aid as we would like to. What deters us is mainly consideration of the cost under existing conditions We will do what we can, but what we can do is short of all-out dedication to the full extent of our aid to Western Europe.

It is doubtful if Governor Dewey, had he been elected, could have done much more. He, in his campaign, was much stronger about aid to China than President Truman. So far as he emphasized the past, he had a case; three years ago the advance of Communism into North China was slight compared to what it now is. But opposition by us at that time would have run counter to our then broad policy of getting along with Russia.

Electoral System Vs Popular Vote In Presidential Balloting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—There's a saying that "a miss is as good as a mile." It applies particularly to the interesting fact just brought out by the latest Associated Press figures showing that if 35,300 persons out of approximately 47,000,000 had changed their votes Dewey would have been elected.

Such a calculation has been made after nearly every presidential election but this year it has a special meaning. It renders absurd much of the thoughtless comment that has been heard since the election about how intentionally "misleading" were the polls or forecasters.

Too many people have never taken the time or trouble to examine the electoral system by which presidents are chosen. They would have been willing to forget the errors in all the polls and forecasts this year if the electoral vote had resulted in a victory for Dewey. Yet the same margin of error in many states was made in previous elections by the Gallup Poll, for instance, but this was overlooked because the over-all poll happened to pick the winner.

Newspapers Reported The Truth

If, as has been proposed again and again, the election of a President were to be by popular vote there never would have been such despair among the Democratic Party managers as they exhibited privately during the campaign this year, and there never would have been the overconfidence which the Republicans manifested.

All through the campaign, the newspapers generally reported the truth as they saw it—the closeness of the popular vote. Again and again it was pointed out by forecasters and even pollsters—by none other than Dr. Gallup himself—that the popular vote would be close. The public impression today is that Roosevelt won all his elections easily. Yet, in 1940 and 1944 the popular vote was so close it could easily have resulted in a victory for the Republican nominee if just a small number of votes had changed in a few states.

The importance of the popular vote has somehow been minimized and the electoral-vote result overemphasized.

The newspapers are not political organizations, nor are they betting guides on everything from horse races to football games. They express their own views in editorial pages, to be sure, but in the news pages they report the speeches and the happenings of the campaign. The newspapers cannot make a checkup of voters by precincts during campaigns. This is the business of the political parties. To say that their political reporters should have done a different reporting job in each state is to imply that they did not exercise their honest judgment. What the reporters couldn't change was the evidence available to them.

Many Democrats Amazed

Even many of the Democrats now elected to Congress could not see victory for themselves in their own districts, even as late as the day before election. If the reporters who honestly reported what was told them privately by the campaign managers of both sides had guessed a Truman victory they would have been right in their guesses, but they would have been doing a dishonest job of reporting. An honest reporter who conscientiously described the evidence of trends available to him in the campaign need make no apology after a close election.

If the 1948 election brings about a wider education of the public on the difference between popular vote and electoral vote, it will be of tremendous value for the future. As long as the electoral system permits a majority of a single vote of a citizen in the state of New York, for example, to cast 47 electoral votes out of 266 necessary to elect, the forecasting of any election in which the popular division is close can be a surprise. This has been said thousands of times and written many times, including this summer and autumn, but somehow it seems to be still unknown to millions of otherwise well-informed persons.

How many people today know the answer to this question: Has a majority of the popular vote failed to elect a President and how many times did the candidate who polled a minority of the tota of all parties receive a majorit of the electoral votes just the sme and become President? Answe: Yes, three times—1876, 1888 and1916.

The "Liberals"

ROGERS C. Dunn of the Dunn Survey makes an interesting point:

"Self-styled 'liberals' in the Republican Party are obviously blind to the fact that the more they succeed in making the Republican Party 'liberal,' the more liberal, or leftist, the New Deal is forced to go."

That has now happened in three campaigns. The Republican Party has been moving toward what is called "liberalism," by which is meant timeliness as to policy based upon the probabilities of popularity; this means uncertainty and flexibility as to principle. The Democratic Party, on the other hand, has continued an inner struggle which began with William Jennings Bryan, the struggle between Populism and conservatism.

The Democrats have steadily been moving in the direction of what in Europe is called Social Democracy. The third party in the United States is the Communist Party, by whatever name it may momentarily be called.

Across this ideological simplification run the complexities of American life which are inevitable in a free society.

In a word, men do not fit rigid categories. Such persons as Chester Bowles or Paul Porter would anywhere else in this would be regarded as Socialists; here they are only Socialists in certain phases of political expression; in others, they are actually conservative.

The reason for this lack of clarification is that most Americans in politics do not have a philosophic basis for action; they are generally opportunistic and take winning positions. That is, they "play politics," as the phrase goes; they are not ready to be martyrs to a cause. This was obvious in the last election.

When Dewey refused to defend the 80th Congress, the Taft-Hartley Act, and so on, he forced Truman to move closer to the Wallace program. Truman, who wanted a fighting campaign "to give them hell," found that his principal opponent would not fight back. This was sheer opportunism on all sides. Dewey felt that he could win by his pattern; Truman felt that he could win by his pattern. But who stood up for any principles involved in the election?

The real danger in this opportunism lies in its leftward trend. If the Republicans continue to push the Democrats into Socialism, the general American population, which is conservative and capitalistic, will be without representation altogether. Certainly on basic questions, Dewey and Truman were closer than Truman can possibly be to such men as Chester Bowles and Paul Porter. Senator Barkley is ideologically closer to Senator Taft than he is to Senator Pepper. There is a falseness in the alignments in both parties, an inability to formulate principles and a lack of resistance to leftward magnetism. This we need to understand before the 81st Congress gets to work.

The word "liberal" has come to cover a multitude of confusions. When one speaks of a Republican liberal, precisely what is meant? How does a Republican liberal differ from a New Dealer? How do Senator Tobey and Senator Aiken differ from Senator Pepper and Senator Glen Taylor? In what fundamental concepts are these men different? Why should one be a Democrat and the other a Republican?

It would be interesting if these four men were to write on paper, say, in something the size of this column, each one's philosophic concept of American life. These men would prove to be close to each other, but all would be far from, let us say, Senator Taft. On the other hand, such a man as Senator George, a Democrat, would not be far removed from Senator Taft.

Unless the Republican Party can formulate a definite and clear philosophic program, it cannot return to office. It has now failed five times, four times because the conservative voters it did not have enough to say.

The last three elections were marked by Republican abstention from voting. These Republicans did not stay away from the polls because they were "lazy" or "overconfident." They stayed away because they were dissatisfied with the position of their party, with its so-called "liberalism," with its running on the heels of the New Deal in the direction of state socialism.

When in Ohio, 300,000 vote for either Governor but cut both Presidential candidates they indicate a distaste for their party's national policy.

Let me explain something about numerous references to Literary Digest. When I went into the Army in 1918, I had just started a weekly Gage series on lantern slides.

When I came out, the idea had been captured by Literary Digest for movies. It piled up a fortune. When Literary Digest stepped on its chin in 1936 the general impression was that its misinformation had been subsidized.

Esther E. Frazee Becomes Bride Of Robert H. Fisher

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Frazee, Confluence, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Esther E. Frazee, to Robert Harold Fisher, son of Mrs. Maye Bower, also of Confluence.

The marriage ceremony was solemnized October 9 in First Methodist Church here, with Rev. James Elliott officiating. Miss Evangeline J. Engle, city, was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant.

The bride wore a grey suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds completed her costume. Her attendant wore a black suit with a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Fisher is a graduate of Confluence High School, class of 1945, and attended Catherman's Business School. She has been employed in the Cumberland District office of the Prudential Insurance Company for two years.

Mr. Fisher entered the Army in May, 1945, and was in the Army of Occupation in Germany until March, 1947, at which time he received his discharge. He enlisted in the Navy, February 9, 1948, and now is stationed at Chincoteague, Va., where he and his bride will reside.

Miriam Douglas Is To Be Honored At Two More Parties

The two final parties in compliment to Miss Mariam Douglas prior to her marriage to Chauncey Monroe Sanner will be given by Mr. and Mrs. E. Frederick Avers and Mrs. W. Bruce Douglas tonight and tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Avers, uncle and aunt of the bride-elect, will entertain with a dinner honoring Miss Douglas and Mr. Sanner at 6 tonight at Ali Ghan Country Club, preceding the wedding rehearsal. The bridal motif will be carried out in the arrangement of white flowers and candelabra of white tapers centering the table.

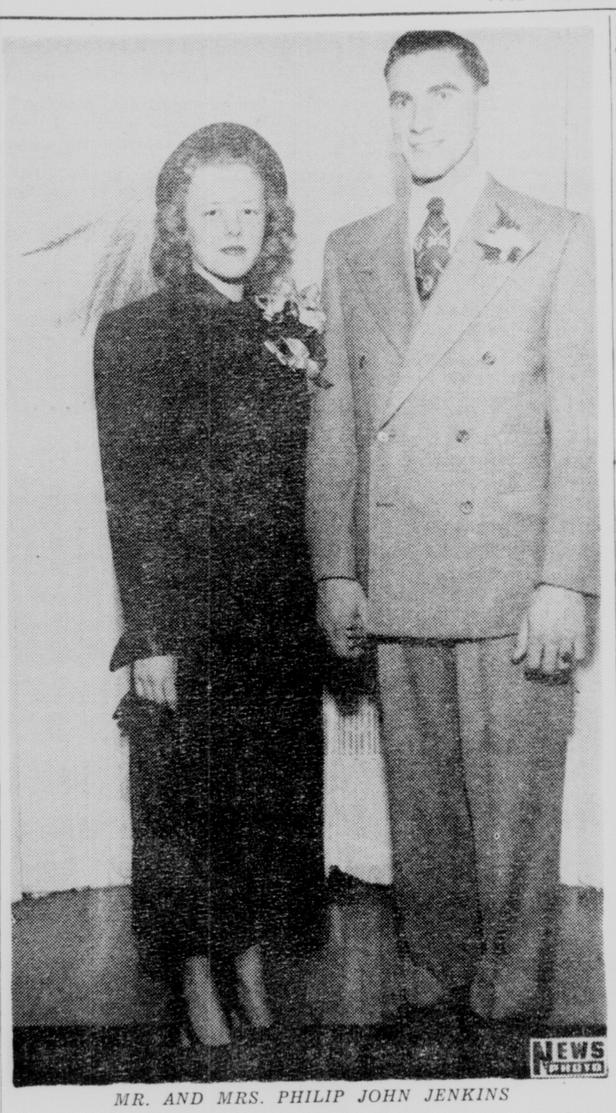
Guests will be Rev. H. T. Bowersox, D. D., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanner, Mr. and Mrs. Emmons C. Sanner, Frederick; Mr. and Mrs. W. Bruce Douglas, Swarthmore, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Atwood C. Page, Jr., Pearl River, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. William Kehne, Baltimore; Dr. and Mrs. William Fridinger, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Buchanan, Miss Jeanne Bowersox, Miss Ann Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Somerville, Baltimore; Arthur Wenborne, Frank J. Reddington, New Canaan, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, Miss Anna Avers, Baltimore; Miss Norma Avers and Miss Catherine Avers.

Members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests will be entertained by Mrs. W. Bruce Douglas tomorrow at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Wilson, Bedford Road. Dolls, dressed in fall colors, representing the bridal party, will center the table. The bridal motif will also be carried out in the white bride's cake and tapers used on the table and buffet. The same color scheme will be repeated in the Brandywine roses and yellow and bronze chrysanthemums used throughout the house.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, LaVale, Miss Douglas is to become the bride of Mr. Sanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmons C. Sanner, Frederick, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in St. Paul's Lutheran Church with Rev. Dr. Bowersox officiating. Mrs. Bruce Douglas will be her matron of honor; Mrs. Page, Miss Griffith, Miss Bowersox and Mrs. Somerville, the bridesmaids.

Charles S. Sanner will be his brother's best man and Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Douglas, Mr. Wenborne, Dr. Fridinger, Dr. Kehne and Mr. Reddington, ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas will entertain with a wedding reception at the Cumberland Country Club following the ceremony.



MR. AND MRS. PHILIP JOHN JENKINS

Doris L. Hoffman Becomes Bride Of Philip J. Jenkins

Rev. W. E. Holley Performs Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hoffman, 458 Williams Street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Doris Lee Hoffman, to Philip John Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jenkins, 49 West Main Street, Frostburg.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized, in the presence of the immediate families, yesterday at 3 o'clock, in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church, Frostburg, with Rev. Watson E. Holley, pastor, officiating.

Miss E. Wilton Jenkins and Jonathan Jenkins, sister and brother of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

The bride wore a dark brown costume suit with matching accessories. A corsage of tan orchids completed her costume. Miss Jenkins was attired in a brown wool dress with brown accessories and a corsage of green orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1944 and of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, class of 1947. The bridegroom is a graduate of Beall . .h School, class of 1940, and of the University of Michigan, 1944. He is associated with his father and brothers in the coal business.

Following the wedding trip to New York and Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will reside in Frostburg.

Events In Brief

Cumberland Chapter 56, OES, will exemplify the degree work and honor the Star Points at the meeting at 8 tonight at the Temple. Mrs. Elizabeth Lamp and Austin Ward will preside.

The Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club will hold a rummage sale to raise funds for the nurse scholarship fund Tuesday, beginning at 10 a. m., at 123 South Mechanic Street.

The Rawlings WSCS will meet at the home of Mrs. Brownlee Armstrong, at 7:30 tomorrow night.

Chapter 914, Women of the Moose, will meet at 7 tonight at the home.

James E. Lippold To Wed Mildred (Peggy) O'Neal

Wedding Will Be Performed Today

Miss Mildred (Peggy) O'Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. O'Neal, 1205 Bedford Street, will become the bride of James E. Lippold, son of Mrs. Pearl M. Lippold, Route 3, Bedford Road, and the late Edward J. Lippold, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 10 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church with Rev. Thomas A. Hardesty officiating. Miss June Klosterman, Baltimore, will be the maid of honor and bride's only attendant. Michael Lindner will serve as Mr. Lippold's best man.

The bride has chosen a forest green suit for her wedding; with it she will wear brown accessories and a corsage of orchids. Her attendant is wearing a brown costume with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1947, where she was on the staff of the Allegewi, Alchohi Mirror, a member of the History Club and active in dramatics. Mr. Lippold is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1945, served three years in the Marine Corps and for the past six months has been on the staff of the inspector-instructor, Company D, Infantry Battalion, USMC Reserve. He is employed at Schwarzenbach's Store.

A wedding reception is to be held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. A pink and white color scheme is being used in the flowers throughout the house and on the table with the three tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Homer Dawson will assist in serving.

After their wedding trip Mr. Lippold and his bride will reside at 1205 Bedford Street.

Park Place WSCS Meets

The WSCS of Park Place Methodist Church met at the church Tuesday night with Mrs. David Durst presiding. The program was given under the direction of Circle 2.

After the opening song, "Open My Eyes That I May See," prayer was offered by Mrs. Edward Chenowith. Mrs. Theodore Brant gave an inspirational talk on "What Is Your Life," after which "The Haven of Rest" was sung by the group and Mrs. Brant gave the closing prayer.

During the business meeting plans were formulated for a "Day of Advance" to be held in January. Concluding the meeting refreshments were served by Circle 1.

The deacons of First Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 tomorrow night.

Doub To Represent Allegany In Contest

Allegany High School will be represented in the "I Speak for America" contest sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce by William Doub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Doub.

Doub was declared the winner this week in a final test with Catherine Morton. Others in the semi-finals were Robert Keefe, William Lester, Marcelle Mullan, Madeline Cooper, and Doris Platt.

The judges were: Miss Margaret Baker, Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, Mrs. Berenice Rogers, Mrs. Roberta Andrews, Miss Dorothy Byers and Miss Mary Murray.

County semi-finals and finals will be conducted Saturday and Sunday. The county winner will compete in a state contest.

Bruce Praised By Petit Jury

The Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury yesterday presented a letter to the court praising the co-operation and understanding of Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.—an action believed to be unique in local court history.

The letter was addressed to Judge Bruce, and was signed by members of the jury. It said in part:

"The x x x petit jurors x x x wish to thank the court for the co-operation and consideration given to the entire jury during the progress of the October term of court.

"Inasmuch as members of this panel have not all had previous experience, the kind consideration of the court, at all times, proved the Governor of this State made a wise decision when he appointed the Honorable Oliver Bruce as associate judge of this circuit."

Court convened briefly yesterday mornin. Judge Bruce, in dismissing the jurors who are subject to recall, thanked them for their work.

"The jury system," he said, "is one of the great bulwarks of American liberty. We should feel fortunate we have the civil institutions of courts and it is our obligation to preserve the rights given us by the fathers of the republic."

The court is scheduled to hear one more case next Monday, when a manslaughter by automobile charge against William Walter Shumaker, 29, Ridgeley, will be heard before Judge Bruce at 9:15.

Shumaker is charged with the death of a 75-year-old pedestrian, Fred R. Crowe, 625 Greene Street. Grove was killed October 23, when Shumaker's pickup truck struck him while he was crossing the street at the corner of Greene Street and McKinley Avenue.

Schumaker has been free on $1,000 bond. He will be represented by Attorneys Earl E. Manges and William A. Huster, former chief judge of the Circuit Court.

On Honor Roll

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — John Jenkins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, Mathias, was one of five students who made the honor list at Shenandoah College, Dayton, Va., during the first quarter, which ended November 15. Honor list students must carry a minimum of 15 semester hours and not have a grade below 89 per cent.

Jenkins is a second-year student in the liberal arts course and is a student assitant in biology. He is also on the staff of the college paper, the Arrowhead. He plans to become a public school teacher.

LaSalle and Beall will ring down the curtain on the 1948 football season when they collide in their third annual game today at 2 p. m., on Frostburg State Teachers' College Field.

Coach Joseph Hoopengardner's Mountaineers have won only one of seven games this year and that was a stunning upset over Keyser while the Explorers have annexed three games while losing five and tying one.

LaSalle, coached by Phil Carolan and Jim Gaffney, is figured to win its third straight game of the series. The Cumberland school won in 1946 by the score of 26-0 and took last year's tilt by the score of 20-0.

The game is expected to attract about 2,500 persons.

Nineteen seniors will be playing their final scholastic game—twelve from LaSalle and seven from Beall. Darrell Stevens and Berl Plummer will be Beall's co-captains while Dick Leo and Bob Herstine will play similar roles for the Explorers. Lucindo Fabbri and Francis Ruffo, Frostburg boys on the LaSalle squad, have been named honorary captains of LaSalle. Probable starting lineups:

CENTRAL MOTORS SET PACE IN COMMERCIAL

Central Motors is still leading the Commercial Bowling League with a 24-9 record, one full game in the fore of Rosenbaum's.

Led by Marguerite Chase who spilled 344 pins, Central annexed two out of three games from Manhattan this week. Louise Jones paced the winners with 346.

Dessie Dayton's 481 led the Hi Dee Bar to a 3-0 victory over Wilda's Beauty Salon. Ellen McVicker's 320 was high for the losers.

Rosenbaum's grabbed two out of three from the G. C. Murphy Company. Ruby Levin of Rosenbaum's posted a 397 while Mona Blume topped the losers with 305. Standings:

Cresap Tavern Wins

Cresap Tavern ladies shuffleboard team won two out of three games from the Owls last night by the score of 110 to 78. Mrs. Eleanor Hazelton led the winners with 27 points while Mrs. Ruth Durkin paced the Owls with a score of 20.

Penn And Cornell Clash In Major College Battle

Colgate Opposes Brow In Morning Tilt Today

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—A Cornell-Pennsylvania clash for the Ivy League title is the main dish on a slim Thanksgiving Day football menu.

Turkey Day, once the focal point of the grid season, brings only 13 games involving major college teams. In many cities, high school teams will monopolize the attention of the fans.

Texas and Texas Aggies, usually waiting for a bowl invitation, will fight for little more than the championship of Texas and Texas Aggies at Austin's Memorial Stadium.

It's still possible for Texas to tie Southern Methodist for the Southwest Conference crown if S.M.U. should lose Saturday to Texas Christian. In any event, S.M.U. would go to the Cotton Bowl as it thumped Texas, 21-6.

Kansas and Missouri, both of whom were practically decapitated by the powerful Oklahoma Sooners, meet at Columbia, Mo. to decide second place in the Big Seven.

Utah can sew up the Big Six Conference championship by downing Utah State at Salt Lake City. Wyoming plays at Denver in the other Rocky Mountain district tilt. The South, which has several top notch pairings Saturday, has four Southern Conference games tomorrow. Perhaps the best is Wake Forest, which has lost only three in rugged competition, meeting South Carolina. Virginia Military plays at Virginia Tech, a traditional contest; Washington and Lee invades Richmond and Furman faces Davidson in a game to be played at Charlotte, N. C.

In addition to Kansas-Missouri, the west has only Kansas State at St. Louis and Nevada at Wichita.

Colgate faces Brown in the usual morning contest at Providence and San Francisco journeys to Olean, N. Y., to test the strong St. Bonaventure team.

Goodfellowship Club Lead Is Reduced As Barton Annexes Pair

In the County Duckpin League this week, Harry Oss led the Bowl Mor Centre of Barton in defeating the Goodfellowship Club of Cumberland two of three games with a 489 set. This is the first time league leading Goodfellowship Club has lost more than one game of a set this season.

The Roxy took two of three games from Lonaconing's Republican Club. This put the 2nd place Roxy team only one win behind the Goodfellowship Club. B. Schramm of Lonaconing was the high scorer of the two teams with a 570 set.

The Westernport Legion won two of three games from the Devon Club. Mike Francis was the high man for the Legion with a 564 set. For the Devon Club A. DiUbaldo had a 511 set.

Jim Brady, of the Majestic Sports Center, led his team to a two to one victory over Midland with 489. J. Eagan was high for Midland with a 479 set. The standings:

	W	L
Goodfellowship Club	14	7
Roxy	13	8
Westernport Legion	12	9
Republican Club	12	9
Bowl Mor Centre	10	11
Devon Club	9	12

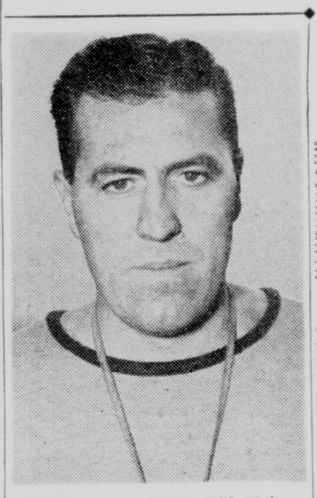
Voigts Gets Reward

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—Northwestern University announced today the contracts of Bob Voigts, football coach, and Ted Payseur, athletic director, had been extended for five years.

Lew Andreas, Syracuse athletic director and basketball coach, is starting his 24th cage season this winter.

Fort Hill And Allegany Ready For Title Game At 2:15 Today

9,000 Expected To See Contest Of The Year; Schools Meet 21st Time; 30 To Play Final Game



SEEKS 31ST WIN—Bill Hahn will conclude his 4th season as football coach at Fort Hill High School when the Sentinels battle Allegany today. His teams have won 30, lost 3 and tied 3. In 1942 The Hilltoppers record was 7-1-1. In 1946 it was 5-1-2 and last year 9-1-0. Hahn coached teams have won their last 18 games, including nine in a row this year. The only schools to defeat Fort Hill since Hahn has been at the helm were Allegany in 1942, Hagerstown in 1946 and Washington and Lee of Arlington, Va., last year.

Two evenly matched football teams boasting unblemished records will come to grips today when Fort Hill and Allegany hook up for the city championship in the local stadium at 2:15 p. m.

It's the game of the year in the tri-state area and when the opening kickoff takes place close to 9,000 persons are expected to be on hand rooting for their favorites.

If the game doesn't end in a tie score, the winning team will be the first in Cumberland to go through a 10-game schedule without a setback. Each team enters today's battle with a record of nine wins and no defeats for the season.

Need Win To Tie Record

A victory for Fort Hill would enable the Sentinels to tie the 19-game winning streak set over a span of two seasons by Allegany teams coached by Herman Ball.

Four all-time records already have been established here this season. AHS has scored 333 points in nine games, Earl "Lefty" Bruce has hung up records of 22 touchdowns and 132 points and Glen Burke has collected 34 points after touchdowns.

Six thousand fans will be seated at today's game while the remainder will be standees.

Music will be provided by the bands of both schools.

Four officials from West Virginia will handle the game, namely, Art Ward, referee; Newton Anderson, umpire; Lou Wojcihovski, head linesman, and "Chuck" Weihl, field judge.

It will mark the 21st meeting of Fort Hill and Allegany since the series was launched at Penn Avenue in 1932. Allegany has won 12 games, Fort Hill six and two ended in ties. It will be the 15th Turkey Day contest between the schools. Allegany holds a 10-4 edge in the holiday tilts with Fort Hill grabbing the last two by scores of 21-0 and 25-0.

30 Seniors In Final

Thirty seniors will be playing their final game at the stadium today. Sixteen are members of the Campers' squad and fourteen are with Fort Hill.

John Vernall, left end, and Jim Ruehl, center, are Allegany's co-captains, while Charles Lattimer, center, and Glen Burke, end, will lead the Sentinels.

Coaches Bob Pence and Bill Hahn expect the game to be a "tough" one but neither have made any prediction as to the outcome.

Probable starting lineups:

Mounties To Play In Sun Bowl Game

West Virginia Squad Votes On Acceptance

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 24 (AP)—West Virginia University has accepted an invitation to meet Texas Mines in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex., New Years Day, Mountaineer Athletic Director Roy M. Hawley said tonight.

The announcement came a few hours after Chairman G. Ott Romney of the WVU Athletic Council assured newsmen that Mountaineer chances of getting such a bid still were "very much alive." WVU has won seven games and lost three to date this season.

It also followed an announcement late yesterday by Lafayette College officials at Easton, Pa., that they had refused an invitation to meet Texas Mines, champions of the Border Conference, in the New Years Day clash.

Before the acceptance was made final, the coaches put the matter to a vote on the Mountaineer grid squad this afternoon while the players were on the field preparing for Saturday's game with Maryland. The response, Hawley said, was "enthusiastic."

It will be the third post-season game in West Virginia grid history, and the Mountaineers won both earlier encounters. On New Years Day of 1938 they defeated Texas Tech 7-6 in the Sun Bowl. At the close of the 1922 season, West Virginia journeyed to San Diego, Calif., and defeated Gonzaga of Spokane, Wash., 21-13.

St. Patrick's Plays St. Mary's On Sunday

St. Mary's and St. Patrick's of the Knights of Columbus Youth Football League will clash on Sunday at Campobello at 3:30 p. m.

The game was originally scheduled as a preliminary to the LaSalle-Beall game at Frostburg today but has been postponed.

St. Mary's leads the league with a 3-0 record. SS. Peter and Paul has won two and lost two and St. Patrick's has lost three in a row.

FRAZIER TO OPPOSE PITTSBURGH FIGHTER IN SHOW HERE MONDAY

Bill Frazier, local middleweight, will make his first appearance in a local ring since June 14 when he fights Cal Vidmar of the DeLuca Athletic Club, Pittsburgh, Monday night in the Diamond A. C. amateur show at the State Armory.

The match will be a three-rounder on the card topped by the five-round contest between Jim Folk, Royale A. C. welterweight, and Tommy Silva of Pittsburgh.

Frazier lost a decision to Tojo Wade of Johnstown, Pa., in his last outing here.

Matchmaker Jim Klosterman also has paired Lee Stevens of the Diamond A. C. with Ted Banks of the Royale A. C. in a three-round preliminary.

Jimmie Brown, Jake Koelker and Jim Childress of the D.A.C. will appear in other matches.

WEBSTER DESIGNATES LOCATION OF SEATS FOR STADIUM GAME

Ralph R. Webster, principal of Allegany High School, yesterday announced seating arrangements for today's game between Fort Hill and Allegany as follows:

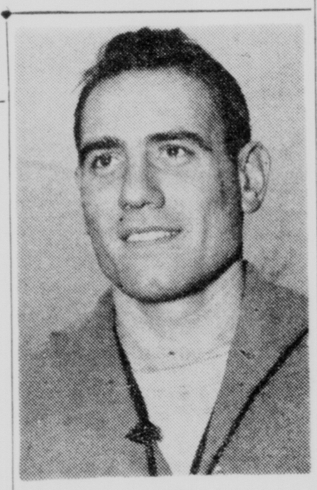
Fort Hill Asks Change In Date For Cage Tilt

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh has requested a change in the date for Fort Hill High School's opening basketball contest with Piedmont High School.

The game was originally set for December 10 at Piedmont but due to a school play at Fort Hill on that date the Sentinels have asked Piedmont to reschedule the game for Dec. 11 in the West Virginia town.

The Sentinels open their home campaign with Davis (W. Va.) High December 14.

Coach Cavanaugh cut his squad from 40 to 26 players yesterday. Members of the football team will report for basketball drills next week.



HAS .500 RECORD—When Allegany High School meets Fort Hill High School today the campers will be seeking win No. 14 since Coach Robert Pence took over the reins in 1946. Pence's teams have won 13, lost 13 and tied three in three seasons. The 1946 team had a 2-7-1 record while last year the Blue and White won two, lost six and played two tie games.

Pittsburgh Plays Dukes Here Sunday

Davies Will Appoint Officials For Game

Two out-of-town officials will work the opening game of the season in the All-American Professional Basketball League between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cumberland Dukes Sunday at 9 p. m., at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, it was announced last night by Bob White, business manager of the local club.

The officials will be assigned by Charles R. "Chick" Davies, former Duquesne University coach who is now league commissioner.

The Pittsburgh team is headed by Freddie Crum and Joe Urso, who played with the Pirates last season when Pittsburgh played independent ball.

Pittsburgh and Cumberland met twice last year, the Buccaneers taking the opener 65-51 while the Dukes took the second 70-49.

There will be a preliminary game Sunday at 7:30 o'clock.

FOUR DEER KILLED, SPOTLIGHTERS STILL ACTIVE IN SECTION

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reports that during the past few days four nice buck deer were lost to the hunters of Allegany county.

Two were killed by cars, one on the McMullen Highway near McCoole and another on the Uhl highway near Tow Creek, and two others were slain by hunters.

One of the animals is believed to have been killed by spotlight hunters and the other by small game hunters. The latter, a ten pointer, was hit with a charge of fine shot from a shotgun.

Spotlight hunting is still keeping the wardens busy in Garrett and Allegany counties, even though 13 persons have been convicted during the past month for either hunting deer with spotlights or having deer meat in possession. There is still plenty of evidence that spotlighters are operating in the remote sections of both counties.

Barton Will Open Season On Dec. 10 With Elk Garden

Schedule Of 19 Games Is Released By Footen

Barton High School's basketball team will open its season on December 10 with Elk Garden High School, at Barton, Coach Paul Footen announced yesterday.

The squad includes seven seniors, four sophomores and five freshmen, as follows:

Seniors — Bill Inskeep, Emmett Brennan, Melvin Kyle, James Clark, James Shaw, Paul Miller and Robert Berry.

Sophomores — Arnold Tichnell, Billy Kirk, Don Bean and Tim Kirk.

Inskeep, Brennan, M. Kyle, J. Clark and Tichnell are holdovers from last season's squad. Tim Clark, Kirk, Bean and Bailey had experience with the jayvees.

New bleachers have been constructed at Barton for the games this season.

Barton cheerleaders are Jean Pollock, "Bonnie" Wilson, Kate Fairgrieve, Margaret Wilson and Emily Kyle. Ruth Mowbray and Glenna McDonald will handle the scorebook and clock. New uniforms are on order for the varsity team and should be on hand for the opener with Elk Garden. The schedule:

Dec. 10—Elk Garden, home. Dec. 14—Piedmont, home. Dec. 21—Fort Ashby, home.

Jan. 6—Allegany, away. Jan. 11—Bruce, away. Jan. 14—Central, away. Jan. 18—Fort Hill, home. Jan. 21—Beall, away. Jan. 25—LaSalle, away.

Feb. 2—Fort Ashby, away. Feb. 4—Allegany, home. Feb. 8—Bruce, home. Feb. 11—Central, home. Feb. 15—Fort Hill, away. Feb. 18—Beall, home. Feb. 22—Piedmont, away. Feb. 25—Elk Garden, away. Feb. 28—LaSalle, home.

A game with the Alumni is yet to be scheduled.

Mize Comes To Terms

SANFORD, Fla., Nov. 24. (INS)—Johnny Mize, power-hitting first baseman, agreed to terms for the 1949 season with the New York Giants tonight at Sanford.

Mize and Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, made the announcement.

The longest forward pass ever thrown in a Rose Bowl game was tossed by Johnny Mack Brown to beat Washington for Alabama in 1926. It traveled 59 yards.

Ridin' High

ONLY an apprentice jockey, Clarence Picou, 16, is the current star of the turf. Picou rode three or more winners at Bowie, Md., track for four straight days and has won 16 out of 45 races during current meeting. He hails from Beaumont, Tex. (International)

Keyser High School will be angling for the victory that will tie Ridgeley for the Potomac Valley Conference championship and Romney High School will be striving for the win that will give Coach Richard McElwee his best record since taking over the coaching reins five years ago when the Golden Tornado and the Pioneers clash today at Romney in their first annual Thanksgiving Day game.

The opening kickoff is set for 2:30 o'clock and the game is expected to attract the largest crowd in the history of the gridiron sport in the Hampshire county community.

This is Keyser's most important game of the season as Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's eleven must win or else lose out to Ridgeley's Blackhawks in the title race.

Romney won 7 and lost 3 last season and a win today in the season's finale would give the Pioneers an 8-2 record which would be the best since McElwee took over as grid mentor.

Moose lodges are donating three trophies in today's game. The outstanding player on each team will be honored while the winning team will gain the first leg on a three-year trophy. The second game of the Turkey Day classics will be staged in 1949 at Keyser.

"Hack" Wilson Will Have Proper Funeral

CHICAGO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Hack Wilson, former Chicago Cub home run king, will have "a proper funeral," Philip K. Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs said today.

Wilson's body lay unclaimed for about 24 hours in the Baltimore City Hospital morgue.

"A group from the east is making all funeral arrangements," said Wrigley, "nobody wants to take credit for it. But he will have a proper funeral."

"Baseball people will make all the arrangements for the funeral," he added.

Johns Hopkins Turns Down Bowl Invite

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24. (AP)—Johns Hopkins University today turned down an invitation to play football in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., on New Year's Day.

Head Coach Howdy Myers said the decision is in line with a standing policy against post-season athletic contests.

Johns Hopkins closed out its regular season last Saturday with a 7-6 win over Western Maryland that gave the Bluejays a Mason-Dixon Conference championship.

Joe Leaves Hospital

The slugging Yankee sparkplug said his affected right heel feels fine but that the real test will come in spring training.

Five football teams have had point-a-minute records. They were Phillips, 1922, Missouri Mines, 1914, Georgia Tech, 1918, and Henry Kendall, in 1919 and 1920.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—A Cornell-Pennsylvania clash for the Ivy League title is the main dish on a slim Thanksgiving Day football menu.

Turkey Day, once the focal point of the grid season, brings only 13 games involving major college teams. In many cities, high school teams will monopolize the attention of the fans.

Texas and Texas Aggies, usually waiting for a bowl invitation, will fight for little more than the championship of Texas and Texas Aggies at Austin's Memorial Stadium.

It's still possible for Texas to tie Southern Methodist for the Southwest Conference crown if S.M.U. should lose Saturday to Texas Christian. In any event, S.M.U. would go to the Cotton Bowl as it thumped Texas, 21-6.

Kansas and Missouri, both of whom were practically decapitated by the powerful Oklahoma Sooners, meet at Columbia, Mo. to decide second place in the Big Seven.

Utah can sew up the Big Six Conference championship by downing Utah State at Salt Lake City. Wyoming plays at Denver in the other Rocky Mountain district tilt. The South, which has several top notch pairings Saturday, has four Southern Conference games tomorrow. Perhaps the best is Wake Forest, which has lost only three in rugged competition, meeting South Carolina. Virginia Military plays at Virginia Tech, a traditional contest; Washington and Lee invades Richmond and Furman faces Davidson in a game to be played at Charlotte, N. C.

In addition to Kansas-Missouri, the west has only Kansas State at St. Louis and Nevada at Wichita.

Colgate faces Brown in the usual morning contest at Providence and San Francisco journeys to Olean, N. Y., to test the strong St. Bonaventure team.

Goodfellowship Club Lead Is Reduced As Barton Annexes Pair

In the County Duckpin League this week, Harry Oss led the Bowl Mor Centre of Barton in defeating the Goodfellowship Club of Cumberland two of three games with a 489 set. This is the first time league leading Goodfellowship Club has lost more than one game of a set this season.

The Roxy took two of three games from Lonaconing's Republican Club. This put the 2nd place Roxy team only one win behind the Goodfellowship Club. B. Schramm of Lonaconing was the high scorer of the two teams with a 570 set.

The Westernport Legion won two of three games from the Devon Club. Mike Francis was the high man for the Legion with a 564 set. For the Devon Club A. DiUbaldo had a 511 set.

Jim Brady, of the Majestic Sports Center, led his team to a two to one victory over Midland with 489. J. Eagan was high for Midland with a 479 set. The standings:

	W	L
Goodfellowship Club	14	7
Roxy	13	8
Westernport Legion	12	9
Republican Club	12	9
Bowl Mor Centre	10	11
Devon Club	9	12
Majestic	8	13
Midland	6	15

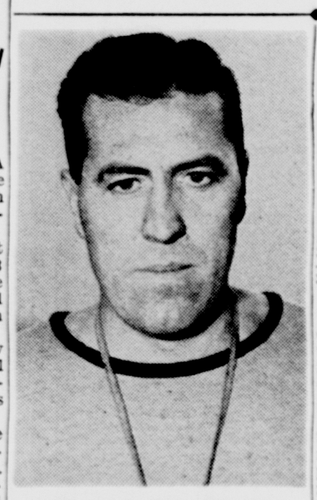
Voigts Gets Reward

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—Northwestern University announced today the contracts of Bob Voigts, football coach, and Ted Payseur, athletic director, had been extended for five years.

Lew Andreas, Syracuse athletic director and basketball coach, is starting his 24th cage season this winter.

Fort Hill And Allegany Ready For Title Game At 2:15 Today

9,000 Expected To See Contest Of The Year; Schools Meet 21st Time; 30 To Play Final Game



SEEKS 31ST WIN—Bill Hahn will conclude his 4th season as football coach at Fort Hill High School when the Sentinels battle Allegany today. His teams have won 30, lost 3 and tied 3. In 1942 The Hilltoppers record was 7-1-1. In 1946 it was 5-1-2 and last year 9-1-0. Hahn coached teams have won their last 18 games, including nine in a row this year. The only schools to defeat Fort Hill since Hahn has been at the helm were Allegany in 1942, Hagerstown in 1946 and Washington and Lee of Arlington, Va., last year.

Two evenly matched football teams boasting unblemished records will come to grips today when Fort Hill and Allegany hook up for the city championship in the local stadium at 2:15 p. m.

It's the game of the year in the tri-state area and when the opening kickoff takes place close to 9,000 persons are expected to be on hand rooting for their favorites.

If the game doesn't end in a tie score, the winning team will be the first in Cumberland to go through a 10-game schedule without a setback. Each team enters today's battle with a record of nine wins and no defeats for the season.

Need Win To Tie Record

A victory for Fort Hill would enable the Sentinels to tie the 19-game winning streak set over a span of two seasons by Allegany teams coached by Herman Ball.

Four all-time records already have been established here this season. AHS has scored 333 points in nine games, Earl "Lefty" Bruce has hung up records of 22 touchdowns and 132 points and Glen Burke has collected 34 points after touchdowns.

Six thousand fans will be seated at today's game while the remainder will be standees.

Music will be provided by the bands of both schools.

Four officials from West Virginia will handle the game, namely, Art Ward, referee; Newton Anderson, umpire; Lou Wojcihovski, head linesman, and "Chuck" Weihl, field judge.

It will mark the 21st meeting of Fort Hill and Allegany since the series was launched at Penn Avenue in 1932. Allegany has won 12 games, Fort Hill six and two ended in ties. It will be the 15th Turkey Day contest between the schools. Allegany holds a 10-4 edge in the holiday tilts with Fort Hill grabbing the last two by scores of 21-0 and 25-0.

30 Seniors In Final

Thirty seniors will be playing their final game at the stadium today. Sixteen are members of the Campers' squad and fourteen are with Fort Hill.

John Vernall, left end, and Jim Ruehl, center, are Allegany's co-captains, while Charles Lattimer, center, and Glen Burke, end, will lead the Sentinels.

Coaches Bob Pence and Bill Hahn expect the game to be a "tough" one but neither have made any prediction as to the outcome.

FRAZIER TO OPPOSE PITTSBURGH FIGHTER IN SHOW HERE MONDAY

Bill Frazier, local middleweight, will make his first appearance in a local ring since June 14 when he fights Cal Vidmar of the DeLuca Athletic Club, Pittsburgh, Monday night in the Diamond A. C. amateur show at the State Armory.

The match will be a three-rounder on the card topped by the five-round contest between Jim Folk, Royale A. C. welterweight, and Tommy Silva of Pittsburgh.

Frazier lost a decision to Tojo Wade of Johnstown, Pa., in his last outing here.

Matchmaker Jim Klosterman also has paired Lee Stevens of the Diamond A. C. with Ted Banks of the Royale A. C. in a three-round preliminary.

Jimmie Brown, Jake Koelker and Jim Childress of the D.A.C. will appear in other matches.

WEBSTER DESIGNATES LOCATION OF SEATS FOR STADIUM GAME

Ralph R. Webster, principal of Allegany High School, yesterday announced seating arrangements for today's game between Fort Hill and Allegany as follows:

Chair Section K on track in front of concrete stand, enter upper or lower gates.

General Admission — Standing Room—on upper rim of bowl.

Parking Space—Rear of Fort Hill High School.

Fort Hill Asks Change In Date For Cage Tilt

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh has requested a change in the date for Fort Hill High School's opening basketball contest with Piedmont High School.

The game was originally set for December 10 at Piedmont but due to a school play at Fort Hill on that date the Sentinels have asked Piedmont to reschedule the game for Dec. 11 in the West Virginia town.

The Sentinels open their home campaign with Davis (W. Va.) High December 14.

Coach Cavanaugh cut his squad from 40 to 26 players yesterday. Members of the football team will report for basketball drills next week.

HAS .500 RECORD—When Allegany High School meets Fort Hill High School today the campers will be seeking win No. 14 since Coach Robert Pence took over the reins in 1946. Pence's teams have won 13, lost 13 and tied three in three seasons. The 1946 team had a 2-7-1 record while last year the Blue and White won two, lost six and played two tie games.

Pittsburgh Plays Dukes Here Sunday

Davies Will Appoint Officials For Game

Two out-of-town officials will work the opening game of the season in the All-American Professional Basketball League between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cumberland Dukes Sunday at 9 p. m., at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, it was announced last night by Bob White, business manager of the local club.

The officials will be assigned by Charles R. "Chick" Davies, former Duquesne University coach who is now league commissioner.

The Pittsburgh team is headed by Freddie Crum and Joe Urso, who played with the Pirates last season when Pittsburgh played independent ball.

Pittsburgh and Cumberland met twice last year, the Buccaneers taking the opener 65-51 while the Dukes took the second 70-49.

There will be a preliminary game Sunday at 7:30 o'clock.

FOUR DEER KILLED, SPOTLIGHTERS STILL ACTIVE IN SECTION

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reports that during the past few days four nice buck deer were lost to the hunters of Allegany county.

Two were killed by cars, one on the McMullen Highway near McCoole and another on the Uhl highway near Tow Creek, and two others were slain by hunters.

One of the animals is believed to have been killed by spotlight hunters and the other by small game hunters. The latter, a ten pointer, was hit with a charge of fine shot from a shotgun.

Spotlight hunting is still keeping the wardens busy in Garrett and Allegany counties, even though 13 persons have been convicted during the past month for either hunting deer with spotlights or having deer meat in possession. There is still plenty of evidence that spotlighters are operating in the remote sections of both counties.

Mounties To Play In Sun Bowl Game

West Virginia Squad Votes On Acceptance

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 24 (AP)—West Virginia University has accepted an invitation to meet Texas Mines in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex., New Years Day, Mountaineer Athletic Director Roy M. Hawley said tonight.

The announcement came a few hours after Chairman G. Ott Romney of the WVU Athletic Council assured newsmen that Mountaineer chances of getting such a bid still were "very much alive." WVU has won seven games and lost three to date this season.

It also followed an announcement late yesterday by Lafayette College officials at Easton, Pa., that they had refused an invitation to meet Texas Mines, champions of the Border Conference, in the New Years Day clash.

Before the acceptance was made final, the coaches put the matter to a vote on the Mountaineer grid squad this afternoon while the players were on the field preparing for Saturday's game with Maryland. The response, Hawley said, was "enthusiastic."

It will be the third post-season game in West Virginia grid history, and the Mountaineers won both earlier encounters. On New Years Day of 1938 they defeated Texas Tech 7-6 in the Sun Bowl. At the close of the 1922 season, West Virginia journeyed to San Diego, Calif., and defeated Gonzaga of Spokane, Wash., 21-13.

St. Patrick's Plays St. Mary's On Sunday

St. Mary's and St. Patrick's of the Knights of Columbus Youth Football League will clash on Sunday at Campobello at 3:30 p. m.

The game was originally scheduled as a preliminary to the LaSalle-Beall game at Frostburg today but has been postponed.

St. Mary's leads the league with a 3-0 record. SS. Peter and Paul has won two and lost two and St. Patrick's has lost three in a row.

Barton Will Open Season On Dec. 10 With Elk Garden

Schedule Of 19 Games Is Released By Footen

Barton High School's basketball team will open its season on December 10 with Elk Garden High School, at Barton, Coach Paul Footen announced yesterday.

The squad includes seven seniors, four sophomores and five freshmen, as follows:

Seniors — Bill Inskeep, Emmett Brennan, Melvin Kyle, James Clark, James Shaw, Paul Miller and Robert Berry.

Sophomores — Arnold Tichnell, Billy Kirk, Don Bean and Tim Kirk.

Inskeep, Brennan, M. Kyle, J. Clark and Tichnell are holdovers from last season's squad. Tim Clark, Kirk, Bean and Bailey had experience with the jayvees.

New bleachers have been constructed at Barton for the games this season.

Barton cheerleaders are Jean Pollock, "Bonnie" Wilson, Kate Fairgrieve, Margaret Wilson and Emily Kyle. Ruth Mowbray and Glenna McDonald will handle the scorebook and clock. New uniforms are on order for the varsity team and should be on hand for the opener with Elk Garden. The schedule:

Dec. 10—Elk Garden, home. Dec. 14—Piedmont, home. Dec. 21—Fort Ashby, home.

Jan. 6—Allegany, away. Jan. 11—Bruce, away. Jan. 14—Central, away. Jan. 18—Fort Hill, home. Jan. 21—Beall, away. Jan. 25—LaSalle, away.

Feb. 2—Fort Ashby, away. Feb. 4—Allegany, home. Feb. 8—Bruce, home. Feb. 11—Central, home. Feb. 15—Fort Hill, away. Feb. 18—Beall, home. Feb. 22—Piedmont, away. Feb. 25—Elk Garden, away. Feb. 28—LaSalle, home.

A game with the Alumni is yet to be scheduled.

Mize Comes To Terms

SANFORD, Fla., Nov. 24. (INS)—Johnny Mize, power-hitting first baseman, agreed to terms for the 1949 season with the New York Giants tonight at Sanford.

Mize and Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, made the announcement.

The longest forward pass ever thrown in a Rose Bowl game was tossed by Johnny Mack Brown to beat Washington for Alabama in 1926. It traveled 59 yards.

Ridin' High

ONLY an apprentice jockey, Clarence Picou, 16, is the current star of the turf. Picou rode three or more winners at Bowie, Md., track for four straight days and has won 16 out of 45 races during current meeting. He hails from Beaumont, Tex. (International)

Keyser High School will be angling for the victory that will tie Ridgeley for the Potomac Valley Conference championship and Romney High School will be striving for the win that will give Coach Richard McElwee his best record since taking over the coaching reins five years ago when the Golden Tornado and the Pioneers clash today at Romney in their first annual Thanksgiving Day game.

The opening kickoff is set for 2:30 o'clock and the game is expected to attract the largest crowd in the history of the gridiron sport in the Hampshire county community.

This is Keyser's most important game of the season as Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's eleven must win or else lose out to Ridgeley's Blackhawks in the title race.

Romney won 7 and lost 3 last season and a win today in the season's finale would give the Pioneers an 8-2 record which would be the best since McElwee took over as grid mentor.

Moose lodges are donating three trophies in today's game. The outstanding player on each team will be honored while the winning team will gain the first leg on a three-year trophy. The second game of the Turkey Day classics will be staged in 1949 at Keyser.

"Hack" Wilson Will Have Proper Funeral

CHICAGO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Hack Wilson, former Chicago Cub home run king, will have "a proper funeral," Philip K. Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs said today.

Wilson's body lay unclaimed for about 24 hours in the Baltimore City Hospital morgue.

"A group from the east is making all funeral arrangements," said Wrigley, "nobody wants to take credit for it. But he will have a proper funeral."

"Baseball people will make all the arrangements for the funeral," he added.

Johns Hopkins Turns Down Bowl Invite

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24. (AP)—Johns Hopkins University today turned down an invitation to play football in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., on New Year's Day.

Head Coach Howdy Myers said the decision is in line with a standing policy against post-season athletic contests.

Johns Hopkins closed out its regular season last Saturday with a 7-6 win over Western Maryland that gave the Bluejays a Mason-Dixon Conference championship.

Joe Leaves Hospital

The slugging Yankee sparkplug said his affected right heel feels fine but that the real test will come in spring training.

Five football teams have had point-a-minute records. They were Phillips, 1922, Missouri Mines, 1914, Georgia Tech, 1918, and Henry Kendall, in 1919 and 1920.

Millions Give Thanks
Millions of Americans have been deeply grateful in the past 58 years for more than $405,000,000 paid by the Woodmen of the World in settlement of death and disability claims, refunds and cash withdrawals.
Every day thousands more Woodmen and their beneficiaries are thankful for safe, sound Woodmen life insurance protection that provides food, shelter and other needs.
Your local Woodmen representative will help you select the type of Woodmen life insurance certificate to best protect you and your loved ones. He will explain, too, the extra fraternal benefits that members of the Woodmen Society receive.

THANKSGIVING . . . WHAT IT MEANS!

We call to mind a country pastor who helped straighten us out on Thanksgiving. "Most people," he said, "think they're thankful when they are complacent and satisfied. That is often the trouble with counting our blessings. We end up being smug. Thanksgiving Day is a mockery if we just spend it admiring the family sterling and bone china and gorging ourselves until we stagger. Thanksgiving is no time to reflect either quiet self-satisfaction upon our material possessions and our appetites. "No, life is insecure at best and the last Thursday in November is as good a time as any to remember that we still have a chance to help a distressed neighbor, to enpoy the blessings of useful work, to give a friendly word to the passerby, to take happiness in a baby's smile to remember that life is a journey, not a goal and from the depths of our hearts to give thanks that we can be of service to others . . . for service is the rent we pay for the space we occupy on earth."

Just Between Us

If He Isn't Ready To Go Steady You're Wasting Time

By NANCY MOTTRAM

You'd wanted a date with him for ages before he finally got around to asking you for one. But instead of drifting around on a cloud and having your life calm and peaceful at this point, with your Saturday nights set for a week in advance and all those dance and party dates assured, you're still worrying. It seems that it didn't turn out so simply after all.

Nancy Mottram

He calls — once in a while. And he takes you out —three or four times a month. He's never mentioned a word about going steady or thinking you're tops as far as he's concerned. You might as well be passing acquaintances when you meet in the halls at school and after your last class, he's off with the boys. You're left to tote your own books to your door or stop for a coke with the girls.

Saying that you're not sure of him is putting it mildly. You know he's dated other gals in between times he's taken you out. He sees you more often, but that's not much of a consolation. You'd like to have him tied up and just where you want him from now on. Only that hasn't happened. You haven't the vaguest idea of where you stand.

You've tried to put him into the same minor state in your life. But when you begin thinking of him when you're out with someone else —connect him with every dreamy song that comes out of the juke box, and rush to the phone the instant it rings, you realize you can't do it. He's your major interest, but he doesn't feel the same about you. So here you sit—stumped.

It's gone on for quite a few weeks and there isn't much hope that it will change overnight. He likes to date you, he probably thinks you're a swell gal, but that's it. You might as well face the facts. It's pretty much of a one-sided romance, and he's content to have it that way, but it's only making you unhappy. So, unless you like those blue moods, talk it over with yourself and come to some definite conclusion and stick to it.

He doesn't want to see too much of one girl. He wants to free lance and responsibilities like callin every night and asking for a date for next week end like clockwor doesn't appeal to him. A steady romance doesn't fit into his plan and that's quite obvious by now ou might as well admit it and ake some plans of your own. The ind that aren't built around just opes.

You can do it if you try. After while, he won't come into your ind as often, and you'll surprise yourself by having fun even when he isn't around. It's possible that somebody else will gradually fit into his place, and it won't matter then if he disappears entirely. Give yourself a chance and in spite of what you think now, you will be able to forget him. When you see that there's no sense in carrying a torch, you'll have won most of the battle.

Nancy would like to help you with her problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

ALL THEY ASKED WAS AN EVEN BREAK

Building a new country was not easy. But there were men and women willing to turn their backs on a safe life, and their faces toward new frontiers. All they asked was an even break.

Free enterprise is another way of saying "an even break." Free enterprise is the basic American principle of vision and personal initiative. Just give an American an even break — a chance to get ahead — and he'll go on from there.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its own citizens, the American ideal of an even break is destroyed. For government in business grants itself special privileges that are denied to people in business.

Take government-owned power systems, for example. They pay few, if any, taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes, fair interest on the money they borrow. It's a tribute to American self-reliance that taxpaying, self-supporting companies supply over ⅘ of the enormous amount of electric power this country depends on . . . at the lowest possible cost.

There are still new frontiers in electric living to be opened. And businessmen can do the job better than bureaucrats.

Just Between Us

If He Isn't Ready To Go Steady You're Wasting Time

By NANCY MOTTRAM

You'd wanted a date with him for ages before he finally got around to asking you for one. But instead of drifting around on a cloud and having your life calm and peaceful at this point, with your Saturday nights set for a week in advance and all those dance and party dates assured, you're still worrying. It seems that it didn't turn out so simply after all.

Nancy Mottram

He calls — once in a while. And he takes you out —three or four times a month. He's never mentioned a word about going steady or thinking you're tops as far as he's concerned. You might as well be passing acquaintances when you meet in the halls at school and after your last class, he's off with the boys. You're left to tote your own books to your door or stop for a coke with the girls.

Saying that you're not sure of him is putting it mildly. You know he's dated other gals in between times he's taken you out. He sees you more often, but that's not much of a consolation. You'd like to have him tied up and just where you want him from now on. Only that hasn't happened. You haven't the vaguest idea of where you stand.

You've tried to put him into the same minor state in your life. But when you begin thinking of him when you're out with someone else —connect him with every dreamy song that comes out of the juke box, and rush to the phone the instant it rings, you realize you can't do it. He's your major interest, but he doesn't feel the same about you. So here you sit—stumped.

It's gone on for quite a few weeks and there isn't much hope that it will change overnight. He likes to date you, he probably thinks you're a swell gal, but that's it. You might as well face the facts. It's pretty much of a one-sided romance, and he's content to have it that way, but it's only making you unhappy. So, unless you like those blue moods, talk it over with yourself and come to some definite conclusion and stick to it.

He doesn't want to see too much of one girl. He wants to free lance and responsibilities like callin every night and asking for a dat for next week end like clockwor doesn't appeal to him. A steady romance doesn't fit into his plan and that's quite obvious by now ou might as well admit it and ake some plans of your own. The ind that aren't built around just opes.

You can do it if you try. After while, he won't come into your ind as often, and you'll surprise yourself by having fun even when he isn't around. It's possible that somebody else will gradually fit into his place, and it won't matter then if he disappears entirely. Give yourself a chance and in spite of what you think now, you will be able to forget him. When you see that there's no sense in carrying a torch, you'll have won most of the battle.

Nancy would like to help you with her problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

GOOD NEWS FOR SICK PEOPLE

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid coddition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Read What They Say!

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds."

100% Guaranteed!

GOOD NEWS FOR SICK PEOPLE

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid coddition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Read What They Say!

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds."

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

McHenry Wins State Honor

The Maryland county agent's award will be presented to Ralph F. McHenry, Allegany County Agricultural Agent since 1920, at the annual convention of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents in Chicago Monday.

McHenry was selected by a vote of the state's county agents. The award is to be presented at 6:30 p.m. at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

McHenry is the third Maryland county agent to receive the award which is an annual project of the state association.

Notification of the award came from Warren G. Myers, Howard county agent, an official of the state group.

McHenry said today he will leave tomorrow night in company with H. M. Carroll, Harford county agent, who is the official delegate of the state association to the convention.

McHenry and Carroll will travel in a special railroad coach carrying delegates from the state to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago next week.

Drunk Driver Is Fined $100

After pleading guilty to a charge of drunken driving, George W. Garlick, Route 1, Hyndman, Pa., was fined $100.75 in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Garlick also paid $5.75 for reckless driving but was acquitted of failing to keep to the right of the center of the highway. City Police arrested him Sunday at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Pear Street.

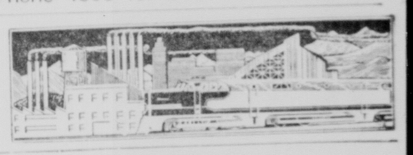
KEYSER



Union Service Of Thanksgiving Set In Keyser

Rev. Myerly Will Preach Sermon

KEYSER, W. Va.—Union Thanksgiving service will be held in First Presbyterian Church here this morning at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. H. S. Myerly, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, delivering the sermon.

The service will include Handel's "Thanks Be To God"; hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come"; invocation; Lord's Prayer; responsive reading from the Book of Luke; anthem, "O, Be Joyful"; the reading of Psalm 136, and the pastoral prayer by Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren.

The topic of Rev. Myerly's sermon will be "Give Thanks Unto The Lord". The program for the special service also includes the hymns "O Thou Whose Bounty Fills My Cup" and "Praise to God, Immortal Praise."

Rev. L. A. Steele, pastor of First Methodist Church, was scheduled to deliver the sermon but is ill. The offering taken at the service will be used in administering religious service by the Keyser Ministerium.

Boyd Addresses Legion Post

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Glen Boyd, Piedmont, 10th District Commander for the West Virginia Department of the American Legion, addressed the John M. Golladay Post of the Legion in a special meeting Tuesday night at the Legion home.

Boyd announced that women members of the auxiliary departments of the armed forces, WAVES, WACS and Women Marines were eligible for membership in the Legion provided they were in the serivce during the eligible dates.

The district commander urged the members of the Legion Post to purchase the Legion Christmas seals, proceeds from which will be used for the veterans now in the various government veterans hospitals.

Boyd also urged the members of the post to continue the current membership drive, which ends January 1.

During the business session of the post a donation of $25 was made to the Moorefield Public Library and a donation of $10 was made to the troop committee of the Moorefield By Scouts.

Emoryville Man Held In Theft Case

KEYSER, W. Va.—Ward H. Whetzell, 50, Emoryville, remained in Mineral County Jail last night in default of $1,000 bond for his appearance before the January term of Mineral County grand jury on a charge of theft of household items owned by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar O'Haver, of the Waxler section.

Whetzell waived a preliminary hearing when taken before Justice of the Peace Madlyn Bazzle Tuesday afternoon after his arrest earlier in the day by Sheriff James A. Dixon.

The items, ranging from a Bible to a shaving mug, were stored in an empty house belonging to O. A. Harman on the Waxler Road while the O'Havers were building a home in that section. The items were reported stolen in October. Other items included two sheets, two pillow cases, two centerpieces, two fountain pens, three bedspreads, 22 feed sacks and two red glasses, with a total value of $48.48.

St. James Church Has Service Today

WESTERNPORT.—A Thanksgiving service will be held today at 10 a. m. at St. James Episcopal Church with a choral celebration of the Holy Communion.

The choir will sing the traditional Thanksgiving hymns and the rector, Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, will preach on the theme, "Thanksgiving for the Proper Things." In addition to the General Thanksgiving which will be recited by the entire congregation, special prayers will be offered for the President, the nation, the family of nations and modern industry.

Christmas Lights Placed In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—Christmas decorating of streets in Keyser's business section was completed yesterday by employes of the Potomac Light and Power Company. The lights will not be turned on until December 4 but were put up yesterday due to the fact that many of the workers will be out of town next week deer hunting.

The decorations consist of colored lights along each side of the street, and colored lights with green leaves strung across the street about every half block.

Pfc. Max Garrett Is Reburied

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The body of Pfc. Max Garrett was interred at Arlington Cemetery November 11 after having been brought home from Germany, where he lost his life February 28, 1945.

Garrett, 19 at the time of his death, was the son of Mrs. Maude Garrett and the late Gilbert Garrett. He was inducted into the service at Fort Meade, Md., March 17, 1944 and received training at Camp Wheeler and Fort Benning, Ga. He was sent to England in October, 1944 and went on to France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He was a bazooka man in the 84th Division of Simpson's 9th Army, and death came as he was creeping forward to fire upon a concealed enemy machine gun nest in the battle for Hetzerath.

Pfc. Garrett is survived by his mother, three sisters, Juanita, Mary and Viola and two brothers, Gilbert and George.

Christmas Lights Placed In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—Christmas decorating of streets in Keyser's business section was completed yesterday by employes of the Potomac Light and Power Company. The lights will not be turned on until December 4 but were put up yesterday due to the fact that many of the workers will be out of town next week deer hunting.

The decorations consist of colored lights along each side of the street, and colored lights with green leaves strung across the street about every half block.

St. James Church Has Service Today

WESTERNPORT.—A Thanksgiving service will be held today at 10 a. m. at St. James Episcopal Church with a choral celebration of the Holy Communion.

The choir will sing the traditional Thanksgiving hymns and the rector, Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, will preach on the theme, "Thanksgiving for the Proper Things." In addition to the General Thanksgiving which will be recited by the entire congregation, special prayers will be offered for the President, the nation, the family of nations and modern industry.

Crash Victim In Good Condition

Harry C. Thompson, 22, 476 Williams Street, cartoonist who was hurt in a car-truck collision early yesterday morning, was reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted after the crash.

Thompson and Carl R. Skidmore, 30, 202 Laing Avenue, were injured, Skidmore slightly, when the car Skidmore was driving crashed against a parked tractor-trailer truck and turned over on Maryland Avenue at 2:10 a. m. yesterday.

Thompson, who was a passenger in Skidmore's car, sustained lacerations of the chin and possible head and chest injuries. Another passenger, Robert M. Iser, Ridgeley, was unhurt. Skidmore sustained lacerations of the scalp.

Lt. James E. Van said Skidmore told him the steering wheel failed to operate as he traveled north on Maryland Avenue and caused the tractor-trailer parked in front of 930 Maryland Avenue. Driver of the truck was identified as Truman Paul Smith, 39, Hagerstown.

Wheels on the right side of the truck were on the sidewalk, Lt. Van stated. All three men in the car, which was damaged to the extent of $300, were riding in the front seat of the machine with Thompson seated in the middle. Approximately $20 damage was done to the tractor-trailer.

Police said no charges were preferred. Officers D. J. Racey and Patsy Algieri assisted in the investigation.

Merchants Go 'All Out' To Give Service

Mercantile Bureau Head Says Selection Most Complete Since War

"You'll find it in Cumberland", Frank A. Martin, chairman of the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, announced in welcoming tri-state shoppers to this city during the Christmas season.

The merchants of this city, he added, have gone "all out" in obtaining the most complete selection of beautiful and useful Christmas gift items available here since the beginning of World War II.

To back up this special Christmas issue, merchants exerted much effort in searching all the markets of the United States and Martin said he is sure tri-state shoppers will find Cumberland a mecca offering enticing gifts for every income bracket.

Scarce Items Available

Shoppers will find that many of the items which have been in short supply in recent years will be available. Many new items resulting from post-war research will also be found in stores here for the first time.

The quality of merchandise purchased for the 1948 Christmas season is definitely better and workmanship has again reached its pre-war quality, he added.

Prices are generally more reasonable than in recent years, merchants report. In some lines, there is a very favorable appearance of better values. In some cases, prices are definitely lower than last Christmas.

Cater To All Incomes

Cumberland, Martin pointed out, is particularly desirable as a shopping center because of the fact stores catering to all income groups are available.

Every effort will be made by Cumberland merchants to facilitate shopping, he added.

Many stores, he concluded, will have gift certificates available for the harried shopper who is in a quandary as to the type of gift to select and prefers to leave the selection up to the individual.

Tri-State shoppers will find parking lots on North George Street, South Liberty Street, North Mechanic Street and Pershing Street, and at various garages.

Early Buyers Get Best Selections

Cumberland stores are filled to the brim with the widest and most enticing collections of Christmas gifts available since the beginning of World War II, but "Buy Early" is good advice this year as always, Frank A. Martin, chairman of the Mercantile Bureau, reports.

Early Christmas shoppers may take advantage of the wide stocks merchants have been building up especially for the 1948 Christmas shopping season.

The discriminating shopper, merchants report, will benefit from the leisurely shopping possible during the early days of the season.

Exchanges also should be made as early as possible, Martin said. If customers make exchanges as soon as possible after Christma they will receive the benefit of better selections from the stocks built up especially for the Christmas season.

Social etiquette of the 1880's decreed that elaborate, silk-fringed Christmas cards be delivered on Christmas Day by uniformed footmen using the family coach.

Tonight Marks First Showing Of New Lights

The Christmas season will be officially ushered in tonight when elaborate holiday decorations installed on Baltimore Street are illuminated.

The novel decorations, sponsored by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, will provide this city with the most outstanding street decorations in the Tri-State area.

Chief features of the decorations are giant illuminated plastic figures, including Star of Bethlehem wreaths, Santa Claus wreaths and Christmas bells.

Aluminum Foil

To pick up and reflect the lights from the decorations, all of the figures are joined with giant festoons of aluminum foil resembling tinsel streamers.

All of the designs are double faced and tinted red, white and blue.

In the center of intersections the four-foot Star of Bethlehem figures will be suspended. Flanking the giant star will be two Santa Claus wreaths. The designs will be joined by the metal festoons.

Bells, Santa Alternate

At alternate guy wires between the railroad crossings Christmas bells will be substituted for the Santa Claus designs.

Harry B. Williams, chairman of the committee, said the new designs will mark the first major change in the Christmas street decorating scheme since 1940.

Since the designs are substantially built, they are expected to last for several years.

Virtually every Baltimore Street store is also planning novel decorations for the Christmas season.

Decorators have been busy for several weeks preparing to transform each store into a Christmas wonderland with new decorations which are available for the first time since the war ended.

Salvation Army Fund Aids Needy

Only the most calloused could sit down to a bountiful Christmas dinner if he realized that some of his neighbors were facing a cold, hungry and cheerless Christmas Day.

It is to provide that extra bit of cheer—a good Christmas dinner, a toy or two for the children and a bag of candy and a word of encouragement for the aged and the prisoners in our jails that the Salvation Army conducts its annual Christmas fund campaign.

The familiar Salvation Army kettles will make their appearance on Baltimore Street and Virginia Avenue on Saturday, November 27.

Use Kettle House

The innovation this year will be the use of a Salvation Army Kettle House which will be in operation on Baltimore Street beginning December 1.

Funds from the campaign will be used to provide a Christmas grocery order of Christmas food basket for families who otherwise might have cheerless meals that day and to provide candy, nuts and toys for the children.

A veteran Salvation Army officer tells this story to illustrate just what that little bit of help might mean to others.

One year, he said, a successful businessman walked up to a Salvation kettle and dropped in a large contribution.

Remember Childhood

As if to explain the extent of the donation he said, "When I was a little kid, the Salvation Army gave me the only toy I received one Christmas when mother and father were sick.

"I've never forgotten that gift and I want to be sure that Santa brings at least one gift to every child around here.

"I wouldn't mind now if I never got another Christmas gift because I am grown up. But children just wouldn't understand."

C. Of C. Says City To Rival Large Centers

Store Owners, Buyers Lauded By Secretary For Yule Preparations

Shoppers from the tri-state area will receive a hearty welcome in Cumberland during the holiday season, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said.

"Our friends in the tri-state area will find the Cumberland stores filled with fine new merchandise for the holiday buyers. Cumberland has the reputation of being a city in which the quality of merchandise, carried by the merchants, is well above the average for the United States, and the qualitly this year is better than it has been since World War II," Smith said.

Lauds Owners, Buyers

"Experienced proprietors manage the Cumberland stores. The buyers have searched the country's major markets for a wide assortment of attractive holiday goods.

"Cumberland is the shopping center for a wide area; consequently, it offers opportunities for shopping which compare favorably with those of cities many times its size.

"The principal stores are located in a very compact area, enabling the customer to visit a great variety of stores in a comparatively short time.

Easily Accessible

"Cumberland can be reached conveniently by the residents of many surrounding communities. Good roads lead to Cumberland; good bus service will bring you here. The new bus terminal is convenient; close to the downtown district.

"While you are here doing your Christmas buying, you can find entertainment in the comfortable and restful moving picture houses. You can find restaurants where food is served promptly, or you can relax in entertainment spots, so come to Cumberland for your Christmas shopping. Spend the day with us in a holiday spirit."

Stores Plan Late Holiday Closings

Cumberland stores will remain open until 9 p. m. from Wednesday, December 16, to Thursday 23.

Santa Claus will, of course, make his appearance in the toylands of many Cumberland stores to delight the little tots.

Special Christmas decorations being installed in Riverside Park by the City of Cumberland will also prove an attraction to Tri-State shoppers.

City officials are planning to decorate a huge community Christmas tree there and to reconstruct the Christmas story at the bandstand of the park.

The display will replace the community Christmas tree which in past years was installed at City Hall Plaza.

An Ol' Swedish Custom

Sweden originated a Christmas custom of the family placing their shoes together Christmas Eve. It was said that this custom would help them live together happily and without quarreling during the following year.

Early American Christmas cards are rare and valuable collector's items.

A Holiday Hook-up

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Plotting ways to make a memorable entrance at holiday parties?

Wear a ribbon-knit dress, which you can make yourself.

Art ribbon brightened by metallic thread can be hooked up rapidly to make a party dress, a blouse, a skirt or a high-styled accessory. Instructions for making a smart dress, such as the one Joan Crawford designed and models in its finished form (left) are available at no cost at art needle-work departments of stores and at knitting specialty shops.

All that's needed, besides directions, to make this smart party dress are 19 spools of art ribbon which offer a knitter the choice of 18 fashionable wardrobe colors.

Remember Childhood

As if to explain the extent of the donation he said, "When I was a little kid, the Salvation Army gave me the only toy I received one Christmas when mother and father were sick.

"I've never forgotten that gift and I want to be sure that Santa brings at least one gift to every child around here.

"I wouldn't mind now if I never got another Christmas gift because I am grown up. But children just wouldn't understand."

C. Of C. Says City To Rival Large Centers

Store Owners, Buyers Lauded By Secretary For Yule Preparations

Shoppers from the tri-state area will receive a hearty welcome in Cumberland during the holiday season, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said.

"Our friends in the tri-state area will find the Cumberland stores filled with fine new merchandise for the holiday buyers. Cumberland has the reputation of being a city in which the quality of merchandise, carried by the merchants, is well above the average for the United States, and the qualitly this year is better than it has been since World War II," Smith said.

Lauds Owners, Buyers

"Experienced proprietors manage the Cumberland stores. The buyers have searched the country's major markets for a wide assortment of attractive holiday goods.

"Cumberland is the shopping center for a wide area; consequently, it offers opportunities for shopoing which compare favorably with those of cities many times its size.

"The principal stores are located in a very compact area, enabling the customer to visit a great variety of stores in a comparatively short time.

Easily Accessible

"Cumberland can be reached conveniently by the residents of many surrounding communities. Good roads lead to Cumberland; good bus service will bring you here. The new bus terminal is convenient; close to the downtown district.

"While you are here doing your Christmas buying, you can find entertainment in the comfortable and restful moving picture houses. You can find restaurants where food is served promptly, or you can relax in entertainment spots, so come to Cumberland for your Christmas shopping. Spend the day with us in a holiday spirit."

Stores Plan Late Holiday Closings

Cumberland stores will remain open until 9 p. m. from Wednesday, December 16, to Thursday 23.

Santa Claus will, of course, make his appearance in the toylands of many Cumberland stores to delight the little tots.

Special Christmas decorations being installed in Riverside Park by the City of Cumberland will also prove an attraction to Tri-State shoppers.

City officials are planning to decorate a huge community Christmas tree there and to reconstruct the Christmas story at the bandstand of the park.

The display will replace the community Christmas tree which in past years was installed at City Hall Plaza.

An Ol' Swedish Custom

Sweden originated a Christmas custom of the family placing their shoes together Christmas Eve. It was said that this custom would help them live together happily and without quarreling during the following year.

Early American Christmas cards are rare and valuable collector's items.

A Holiday Hook-up

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Plotting ways to make a memorable entrance at holiday parties?

Wear a ribbon-knit dress, which you can make yourself.

Art ribbon brightened by metallic thread can be hooked up rapidly to make a party dress, a blouse, a skirt or a high-styled accessory. Instructions for making a smart dress, such as the one Joan Crawford designed and models in its finished form (left) are available at no cost at art needle-work departments of stores and at knitting specialty shops.

All that's needed, besides directions, to make this smart party dress are 19 spools of art ribbon which offer a knitter the choice of 18 fashionable wardrobe colors.

—EPSIE KINARD, NEA Fashion Editor.

Choice Of Party Dresses Varied

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—When a pretty girl thinks of Christmas she thinks of gay holiday parties and new dance frocks. She thinks of mistletoe and sleighbells and a tinsled tree, of carol-singing and packages—and herself in a gay new dress.

Nicole France, a pretty girl from Paris, is no exception to the rule. On her arrival in New York, to rehearse for the road show of the Broadway musical "Allegro" she thought first of new dresses, so young and smart and pennywise in America. After traveling all over Europe and the Far East with the London Ballet, Nicole was doubly appreciative of the budget-soothing prices and smooth styling of the dresses she found in New York.

Dorris Varnum, who designs junior dresses, by the million, helped Nicole select some frocks to see her smartly through the winter party season, assure her of the spotlight wherever she went. She pointed out the wisdom of having one shoe-top length dress for after-five parties, with a matching bolero to button up demurely over the low-cut neckline and the little cap sleeves.

She chose for the more formal occasions a strapless gown of scarlet satin polka dotted in black, with bustle back and a general air of daring flirtatiousness.

So Nicole was outfitted with party dresses in which she may step out to the big town's most glittering night clubs, costing less than it would to pick up the check.

LONG AND SHORT OF IT . . . Dancer Nicole France chooses a shoe-top length bolero dress of jewel-toned moire, and a strapless satin formal, by Dorris Varnum.

Santa's Pack Filled With Toys Planned To Help Children, Especially Careers

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you want little Johnny to be president, start with his first rattle to choose toys to develop his special aptitudes. Give him a gavel instead of a hammer; supply him with a bandwagon and plenty of flags to wave.

This is the advice of experts of the American Toy Institute, who are ready with a record toy pack estimated at $300 million for Christmas, 1948.

Toyland this year is geared to build characters. Whether your plans for Johnny lean toward engineering, science or the arts, an up-to-date Santa is ready with toys to help him along the way. Whether little Mary wants to be a home economist, a nurse or just the mother of a large doll family, the right, scientifically tested toys are on hand.

Special emphasis has been placed this year on testing toys for age and aptitude interest so that parents may be guided to correct selections, says Kenneth P. Fallon, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A. The widest selection of toys since before the war will be available for young America, and toy sellers are preparing for record business.

With more than 24 million children added to the toy-using population since the war, toy sales are expected to show a 20 per cent increase over last year, says Mr. Fallon. Extra attention also has been paid to the toy demands of children under six, because of the great increase in their number in the last few years.

There are toys this year that reproduce in workable miniature the tools of every career: homemaking, transportation, engineering, architecture, science, agriculture, fashion and art.

HOMEMAKER . . . Modern toyland kitchen includes waffle iron, electric mixer, pop-up toaster, streamlined range, cabinets and functional pots and pans.

There are up-to-the-minute designs in toy helicopters, station wagons, taxis, electronically controlled trains, prefabricated houses, television sets, juke boxes and warp-waisted doll fashions.

An "atomic" chemistry set has a sample of unarium. Doll house furniture features period and modern styles. A new development in plastics is used to make the machinery of mechanical toys. And Junior can build a real mechanical man who walks and flashes his eyes, powered by an electric motor.

In the play costume category, cowboy and cowgirl costumes head the list of preferences. There's a boom in farm machinery toys, and the newest tricycle has a special step for a hitchhiker.

Playthings reach new heights of realism. There is a chicken that lays an egg, cackles and walks away. Three plush puppies emergs from a larger dog with a zipper stomach. There is a cow with rubber udders which can be milked.

Dolls are almost human in their functions. One of the newest coos when patted and screams when spanked. Another eats crackers (which are later removed from the back of the neck). The doll that blows bubbles now has washable hair and achieves a voice when a pacifier is put in its mouth and the stomach is pressed.

Small fry will play soda jerker with a realistic miniature of a drug store soda fountain. A toy cash register makes change up to a dollar. A pop-up toaster and electric mixer are additions to home-making equipment.

There is an all-steel doll house with pre-fabricated parts, easy to set up. Even kindergarten architects can do a good job of city planning with pre-fabricated housing sets.

Brother And Sister Dolls Pay Dividend

By PAUL C. WAGNER
AP Newsfeatures

SEATTLE — The Keenan Kids, Sweetie Marie and Sonny Boy—brother and sister dolls—are the original creations of Ann Keenan's doll family.

"Necessity is the mother of invention," said Mrs. Keenan, who now has a flourishing doll business here.

Five years ago at Christmas time, Mrs. Keenan said, she had presents to buy for nieces, but no money. The girls would want dolls. So she made them. Some cloth and cotton stuffing; a dress for the girl doll; and pants for the boy doll. A little paint here and there on a cheek and there were the dolls.

The girls began to take the dolls to bed with them, Mrs. Keenan said. They were cuddly and warm. The soft cotton wouldn't lay hard underneath the girls while they were asleep.

Friends saw the dolls; they wanted some. A salesman was among the friends, and that is how the dolls joined Santa Claus in the department stores.

A Seattle department store ordered 120 dozen. Then a Tacoma store ordered. The orders started Mrs. Keenan in a doll shop.

In 1947 Mrs. Keenan visited a toy fair in New York City and had her dolls on exhibit. A toy representative wanted to handle the sales for her. Other salesmen took the Keenan Kids to other parts of the United States. Now the dolls are numbered in the thousands.

Masterpieces Give Greeting Card New Look

AP Newsfeatures

Christmas cards are going "arty." They still are only a fraction of the total number of greeting cards sold, but reproductions by "fine artists" are becoming more numerous every year. More and more art galleries, studios, museums and commercial manufacturers are sponsoring the work of past and present fine arts headliners.

Many of them also are introducing new tricks to the trade.

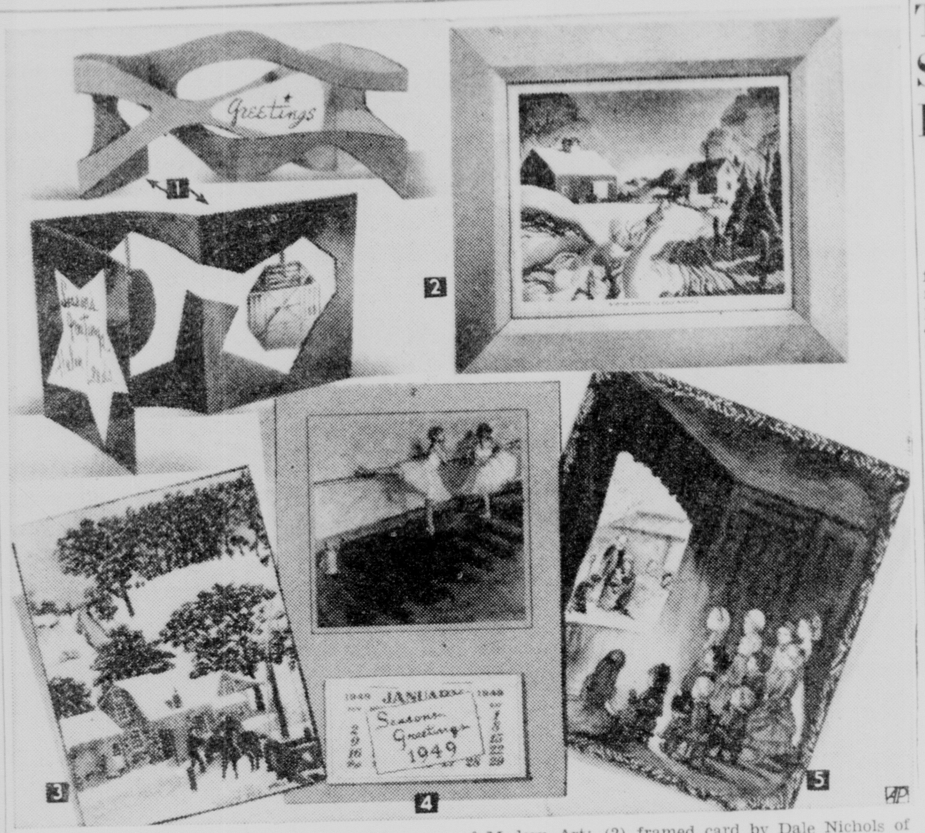
For example, the American Artists' Group now has "framed Christmas Cards." Full-color reproductions of paintings by Alexander Brook, Gladys Rockmore Davis, Adolf Dehn, Ernest Fiene, Lauren Ford, Gordon Grant, Rockwell Kent, Henry McFee, Dale Nichols and others are included. These cards are inserted in light pickled-pine frames which are designed with button-backs to allow for the writing of a personal message on the inside of the card.

"Arty" cards cater to just about every taste. They range from ancient Chinese woodcuts to medieval tapestries, classics by Giotto, Raphael, El Greco, Rembrandt, Cezanne to the work of moderns like Norman Rockwell and Grandma Moses. Featured in Christmas "art shows" along Fifth Avenue, New York, are the work of Lucille Corcos, Eyvind Earle, Ruth Reeves, Tasha Tudor, Dorothy Simmons and Cecilia Staples.

Yule Spinach

Armenians believe spinach was eaten by the Virgin Mary so the custom is to eat it on Christmas Eve.

New Year's greeting cards make unique place cards when setting your table for a New Year's Eve party.



ARTY GREETINGS: (1) mantel cards of Museum of Modern Art; (2) framed card by Dale Nichols of American Artists Group; (3) Grandma Moses painting, "The Postman is Coming"; (4) Degas painting on Metropolitan Museum of Art calendar; (5) Tasha Tudor card.

The Puritans would have frowned on Christmas cards. It was the law in Massachusetts from 1659 to 1681 that "Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas . . . either by forebearing of labor, feasting, or in any other way, shall be fined five shillings."

Full Stockings

The Dutch settlers brought to New Amsterdam the custom of having a burgher dress as old St. Nicholas and distribute toys and sweets to the children.

One novel 1948 Christmas card contains a postcard for the recipient to send back, indicating how he fared over the holidays.

Holly, mistletoe, poinsettia, and other floral motifs provide the most popular Christmas card designs.

Toys Should Suit Child, Experts Says

Written Exclusively for AP Newsfeatures

By LAWRENCE FRANK

Chairman of the Advisory Committee to the American Toy Institute

The selection of toys you make for the youngsters on your Christmas list can play a very important part in their education for living. Shopping for toys should be preceded by some careful observation of each child's play interests, by playing with him and watching his play activities. Before you buy, take advantage of informative labels and tags which American manufacturers offer, advising an age appeal of toys, based on research.

Most children will develop many different interests, if you provide them with the toys that will encourage them. They like active physical play; they like imitative, imaginative, dramatic play; they like manipulative, constructive and especially creative play materials. They need toys not only for these interests, but also toys that change with the changing interests and capacities of the child at each age level.

Here are some suggestions on basic play interests at different age levels, as worked out by various studies:

For the infant to 2 years—rattles and other sound producing toys, things to grasp and pound and bang; as he begins to walk, things to push, pull, and carry; soft cuddly dolls and animals; rubber toys; bath toys; things to put together and take apart.

For 2 years to 4 years—push-pull toys; wheel toys; climbing apparatus; dolls and simple housekeeping equipment; farm animals and zoo animals; sand toys; blocks; paints and crayons and clay; musical instruments, etc.

For 4 to 6 years—in addition to those of the age before, toys for store play; doctor and nurse kits; trucks and wagons; more blocks of different sizes and shapes; puzzles, games with words, numbers, time; more musical instruments; simple carpentry equipment; boats and trains, etc.

For 6 to 8 years—in addition, science materials; all kinds of mechanical toys; real housekeeping things; miniatures of all kinds; paper dolls and cut-outs; dress-up materials, etc.

For 8 years and over—hobby outfits of all kinds; competitive games; games of skill and information; puzzles; costumes and props for simple dramatics; model sets; puppets; construction sets, etc.

These age norms should not be applied rigidly—each child grows and matures at his or her own rate and some are fast and some are slow. Buy toys that fit your child, not an age group.

Santa's Goat

In Sweden, the Julbock, or Christmas goat, takes the place of Santa as gift giver, it is said. It is a straw animal given to children and is believed to distribute presents around the room on Christmas Eve.

Americans will spend more than $50,000,000 this year for stamps to mail their Christmas cards. This provides about one-twentieth of the Post Office Department's total annual stamp revenue.

Realistic Toys Will Teach Tots

Parents may expect some jolts from the new realism of 1948 toys. But Santa's theory this year, backed up by leading child psychologists, is that modern toys should reflect life as it is. Children, he explains, don't like to be kidded.

The newest baby doll will perform almost all the human functions. It can be fed crackers (later removed from a container in the back of the neck). It takes water from a bottle and later either wets its diaper or performs the same function on a small pot. It has hair that can be washed and when its stomach is pressed it burps.

The first known Christmas card was designed in 1842 in London, England, by a 16-year-old engraver's apprentice. It is now preserved in the British Museum there.

Merchants Ready For Record Sales

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Americans will celebrate their most bountiful Christmas this year, in a land of uneasy peace and unquestioned plenty.

Though there has been a slackening of the hysterical buying spree which marked the first post-war years, merchants expect this Christmas to set a new record in gift sales. Money is still freely spent, and shelves are packed with all the once-scarce items for which the public yearned.

In the toy line, new wonders are ready to amaze and delight the small fry. There are atomic chemistry sets for boys, dolls that eat, drink, cry, wet their diapers and have their hair shampooed for the girls. There are robots with flashing eyes and legs that walk for the mechanical minded child, all the modern kitchen gadgets in miniature for pint-size housekeepers. There are washing machines that wash, electric irons that iron, stoves that cook, pop-up toasters, electric mixers and everything that saves household labor for Mother.

Most popular gift for grow-up girls this year will be nylon lingerie, now widely available in new and filmy styles. Lacy and alluring or tailored and trim, it's at the top of most gift lists.

Costume jewelry also is enjoying an ever-increasing vogue, and the manufacturers are ready with new glitter stuff, so cunningly made and carefully styled that it's hard to tell a rhinestone from a diamond, or a $5 facsimile from a $5,000 antique.

Nylon stockings are now so sheer that you can't see them at all once they are in place on the leg--but that's the way women want them. The newest colors are dark—deep brown, gunmetal, bronze or black, in cob-webby weights that make a mere shadow on the leg.

Furs are opulent, fabulous and with price tags astronomical. Best buy for the budget class is the mouton coat, newly styled and processed to make it look astonishingly like its more expensive sister, beaver. Mouton also is shown in improbable colors such as green, gray and navy blue, for the more daring and for the young.

For the man of the family there are woolen socks, sweaters and shirts that can be tossed in the washing machine and come out the same size. The shrink-resistant process so long heralded is finally on the market, and generally available.

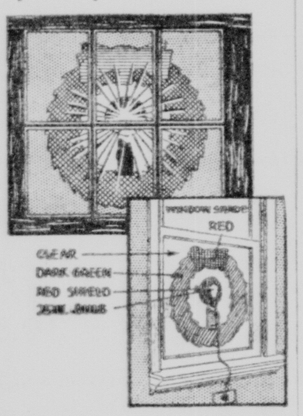
For the home, the television set is the No. 1 gift of 1948. The sets come in all sizes and price ranges, and are eagerly sought.

Even new automobiles may be obtained in time for Christmas, dealers insist, though you may have to know the president of the company.

In fact, about the only thing old Santa won't be able to deliver in time for Christmas this year is a new house.

And after all, you can't have everything.

Make Your Windows Say Merry Christmas



Let holiday cheer pour through your windows with this unusual lighted wreath decoration which can be made at home in an evening or two.

It's not only inexpensive and easy to make, but provides a welcome change from the customary type of lighted window wreath.

Here are the simple steps which General Electric lighting specialists outline for making this lighted window arrangement. First, cut a large wreath from green cellophane. Next, cut a sandle from blue cellophane and a perky bow and candle shield from red cellophane. Attach to the wreath as shown in the drawing above.

Then, paste the wreath over a sheet of clear cellophane and attach the clear cellophane sheet to the window with tabs of self-sticking tape. Now, place a 25-watt clear daylight bulb (in an extension socket supported by a simple wire frame) in the center of the wreath. The light serves not only as a candle flame but also illuminates the entire window.

Finally, draw a light colored window blind down over the entire window so that the light will be reflected outward.

The world's first Christmas cards with religious designs were published in Belfast, Ireland, in 1875

Alfred Lord Tennyson, was once offered 1,000 guineas (about $5,000) for eight Christmas card verses.

Holiday Trimming Ideas Made Easy With Materials On Farm

When decorating your farm home for the holidays don't overlook many of the convenient materials which you probably already have on hand.

Several suggestions made by General Electric farm specialists for decorating the rural residence include materials yielded by the farm workship and near-by woods.

An outstanding decoration can be created quickly from chicken wire. Stretch the wire between two trees and stud it with colored bulbs to form a poinsettia design. Fill in around the design with pine boughs arranged in the shape of a Christmas tree.

The woodcutters are assembled before a background of real snow and floodlighted by a pair of projector lamps. If you lack real snow, create an artificial background from beaverboard and paint it white.

The ruddy, jovial Santa Claus of the Christmas cards was first sketched in his present-day form by Thomas Nast the cartoonist who created the G. O. P. Elephant and Democratic Donkey.

The earliest known New Year's greetings" are medals marked with good wishes which date back to the reign of the Roman Emperor Commodus (180-192 A. D.)

The candle in the window, a [illegible] card design traces back to an old Irish belief that the Christ Child, out alone in the cold, needs light to find his way on Christmas Eve.

Designing and publishing a Christmas card requires 15 months and nearly 100 different processes.

The first recorded almanac was written in 1380 in England.

One of the earliest holiday greetings [illegible] Child in a treasure ship overflowing with good wishes. It was produced by a German printer in 1450 as a New Year's card.

The first complete line of Christmas cards in the United States was printed in 1875 by Louis Prang, an immigrant lithographer exiled from Germany following the unsuccessful revolution there in 1848.

The early Persians said "Happy New Year" by giving colored eggs, much as we now send gay New Year's greetings.

Special Yule cards have been designed to congratulate the 2,300,000 persons whose birthdays fall during Christmas week.

One ingenious Christmas card this year combines Yuletide greetings with an invitation to an eggnog party.

Rich Yuletide

Merchants Ready For Record Sales

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Americans will celebrate their most bountiful Christmas this year, in a land of uneasy peace and unquestioned plenty.

Though there has been a slackening of the hysterical buying spree which marked the first post-war years, merchants expect this Christmas to set a new record in gift sales. Money is still freely spent, and shelves are packed with all the once-scarce items for which the public yearned.

In the toy line, new wonders are ready to amaze and delight the small fry. There are atomic chemistry sets for boys, dolls that eat, drink, cry, wet their diapers and have their hair shampooed for the girls. There are robots with flashing eyes and legs that walk for the mechanical minded child, all the modern kitchen gadgets in miniature for pint-size housekeepers. There are washing machines that wash, electric irons that iron, stoves that cook, pop-up toasters, electric mixers and everything that saves household labor for Mother.

Most popular gift for grow-up girls this year will be nylon lingerie, now widely available in new and filmy styles. Lacy and alluring or tailored and trim, it's at the top of most gift lists.

Costume jewelry also is enjoying an ever-increasing vogue, and the manufacturers are ready with new glitter stuff, so cunningly made and carefully styled that it's hard to tell a rhinestone from a diamond, or a $5 facsimile from a $5,000 antique.

Nylon stockings are now so sheer that you can't see them at all once they are in place on the leg--but that's the way women want them. The newest colors are dark—deep brown, gunmetal, bronze or black, in cob-webby weights that make a mere shadow on the leg.

Furs are opulent, fabulous and with price tags astronomical. Best buy for the budget class is the mouton coat, newly styled and processed to make it look astonishingly like its more expensive sister, beaver. Mouton also is shown in improbable colors such as green, gray and navy blue, for the more daring and for the young.

For the man of the family there are woolen socks, sweaters and shirts that can be tossed in the washing machine and come out the same size. The shrink-resistant process so long heralded is finally on the market, and generally available.

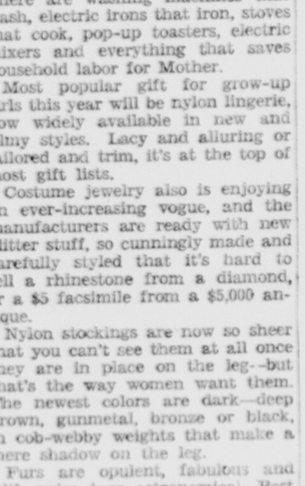
For the home, the television set is the No. 1 gift of 1948. The sets come in all sizes and price ranges, and are eagerly sought.

Even new automobiles may be obtained in time for Christmas, dealers insist, though you may have to know the president of the company.

In fact, about the only thing old Santa won't be able to deliver in time for Christmas this year is a new house.

And after all, you can't have everything.

Make Your Windows Say Merry Christmas



Let holiday cheer pour through your windows with this unusual lighted wreath decoration which can be made at home in an evening or two.

It's not only inexpensive and easy to make, but provides a welcome change from the customary type of lighted window wreath.

Here are the simple steps which General Electric lighting specialists outline for making this lighted window arrangement. First, cut a large wreath from green cellophane. Next, cut a sandle from blue cellophane and a perky bow and candle shield from red cellophane. Attach to the wreath as shown in the drawing above.

Then, paste the wreath over a sheet of clear cellophane and attach the clear cellophane sheet to the window with tabs of self-sticking tape. Now, place a 25-watt clear daylight bulb (in an extension socket supported by a simple wire frame) in the center of the wreath. The light serves not only as a candle flame but also illuminates the entire window.

Finally, draw a light colored window blind down over the entire window so that the light will be reflected outward.

The world's first Christmas cards with religious designs were published in Belfast, Ireland, in 1875

Alfred Lord Tennyson, was once offered 1,000 guineas (about $5,000) for eight Christmas card verses.

Holiday Trimming Ideas Made Easy With Materials On Farm

When decorating your farm home for the holidays don't overlook many of the convenient materials which you probably already have on hand.

Several suggestions made by General Electric farm specialists for decorating the rural residence include materials yielded by the farm workship and near-by woods.

An outstanding decoration can be created quickly from chicken wire. Stretch the wire between two trees and stud it with colored bulbs to form a poinsettia design. Fill in around the design with pine boughs arranged in the shape of a Christmas tree.

The woodcutters are assembled before a background of real snow and floodlighted by a pair of projector lamps. If you lack real snow, create an artificial background from beaverboard and paint it white.

The ruddy, jovial Santa Claus of the Christmas cards was first sketched in his present-day form by Thomas Nast the cartoonist who created the G. O. P. Elephant and Democratic Donkey.

The earliest known New Year's "greetings" are medals marked with good wishes which date back to the reign of the Roman Emperor Commodus (180-192 A. D.)

The candle in the window, a ... card design traces back to an old Irish belief that the Christ Child, out alone in the cold, needs light to find his way on Christmas Eve.

Designing and publishing a Christmas card requires 15 months and nearly 100 different processes.

The first recorded almanac was written in 1380 in England.

One of the earliest holiday greetings ... a blue wood cut of the Child in a treasure ship overflowing with good wishes. It was produced by a German printer in 1450 as a New Year's card.

The first complete line of Christmas cards in the United States was printed in 1875 by Louis Prang, an immigrant lithographer exiled from Germany following the unsuccessful revolution there in 1848.

Noel Joy Can Go Up In Smoke

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

Each year fire turns Christmas, the most joyful time of the year, into tragedy in hundreds of American homes. But if parents knew of the hazards surrounding a Christmas tree, and learned how to prevent tragic fires, says the National Safety Council, they could help keep Christmas as joyful as it should be.

How can you prevent accidents from ruining your holiday? All you have to do, says the Council, is to follow some simple rules.

First, buy a fresh, green tree. Put it in water outside the house as soon as you get it home. If you live in an apartment, place it in the coolest spot in the apartment and turn off the radiator nearest it. Then, cut off the bottom of the trunk on a slant—at an angle with the line of the trunk—and stand it in one of the special tree holders with a water cup and fill it daily.

Plain water is best, says the Council. Chemicals to be added to the water, supposedly to fireproof the tree, have not proved to be satisfactory. Some have made trees even more flammable. No fire-proofing done at home can be depended upon.

Be sure that your tree is fastened with wire or cord to at least two points on the walls to prevent it from being pushed over by junior.

If junior is to help you trim the tree, reserve the lower branches for his contributions to the artistic effect. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.

Get your Christmas tree lights out of storage well in advance. Do it now, says the Council. Look over the wires and examine each socket carefully. If the socket is broken, if any of its parts appear to be loose, if any bare metal is visible where the wires enter the socket, then cut that socket out of the string and replace it with a new one.

If you use metal foil "icicles," avoid the possibility of a short-circuit by being careful not to allow the metal to come in contact with any lighting sockets or fixtures.

Don't attach too many light strings to one outlet. A blown fuse is the signal of a dangerous overload. Be sure fuses are the right size and never use a penny in a fuse socket.

Don't use lighted candles on the Christmas tree or with other decorations. Place the tree well away from a fireplace or any other location where it is exposed to sparks or strong heat. Also keep tissue wrappings away from heat.

On Christmas morning, provide a large basket, box, or carton for the gift wrapping removed from the presents. Remove the wrappings from the room as soon as possible after the gifts have been opened.

Other prevention hints are provided by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. They add that it is a good idea to provide a switch some distance from the tree, rather than a plug, for turning the electric lights off and on; not to leave tree lights burning when no one is home; inspect the tree to see whether any of the needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the location of the lights. When the needles start falling, it is a good idea to take the tree down and discard it.

Simple Bouquet To Homes Add Festive Airs Of Pine

Here's an idea for the business girl who likes to keep her Christmas decorations simple, yet effective, without ornaments and trimmings which require year 'round storage space.

A bouquet of long needle pine, lighted from behind by a string of white Christmas tree lights taped to the back of the vase, is all that's needed to produce the enchanting holiday arrangement pictured above. (This same effect can be achieved with a single lamp.)

General Electric lighting specialists point out that several of the branches must "spill" toward the back of the arrangement to produce the shadow patterns on the wall.

If you don't have tree lights handy, try spotlighting a similar arrangement with a regular 25-watt household bulb (in an extension cord and socket) hung in a papier mache bell above the bouquet.

Glamor Perfume Makes Wonderful Gift For Christmas

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

You can please any woman with a Christmas gift of perfume unless she is allergic to it. The size won't make any difference. When it comes to the sweet smelling scents you can make the ladies happy with just one dram.

If you can't afford to spend much, there are exciting little perfume containers on the market that are inexpensive, make attractive gifts and good purse-size receptacles for the fragrance. These gadgets come in a number of sizes and metals but all serve the same purpose.

SWANK PURSER . . . Gold toned metal container. Contains a dram of perfume.

There are ball-point perfume containers that can be carried in the bag without the fear of spilling, applied in a jiffy when needed. Another cute silver container has a hinged top which flips off with the flick of the thumb. A budget-priced gold toned metal "purser" comes with a dram of perfume in any of four lovely fragrances.

Whenever funds are limited much more consideration should be given to the selection of the gift. Very often with a little thought and careful planning the most inexpensive gift on the tree can steal the show from Santa's pack of luxury items.

Christmas cards make beautiful mantelpiece decorations during the holiday season.

Flakes of cellaphane are used to provide the "snow" on Christmas cards.

Stocking Stuffers

PERFUME BRACELET . . . Golden links with perfume vial in melon ball pendant.

BEAUTY WALLET . . . Compact, lipstick, plaid motif. Complete billfold to boot.

KEYS TO GLAMOR . . . 4 lipsticks, heart shaped mirror on silver key chain.

BODY DUSTER . . . Powder in transparent cylinder handle, sifts through brush.

IT'S MARTIN'S IN CUMBERLAND

Just Get A Christmas Grab Bag In Tabbing Gifts Of Cosmetics For Wife, Sweetheart

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

You'll just have to get a Christmas grab bag, fill it up with gifts, and let the recipients pick. So many delightful new things are crowding cosmetics counters that Mrs. Santa will have quite a problem deciding how to tag the loot.

Everything from inexpensive sachets to swank fitted cases will catch the eye of the Christmas shopper. It all depends on the budget, however, and every girl for herself.

Junior purses will find colognes, perfumes and sachets individually packaged, and well within the realm of half-pint pocketbooks. Also there are: a belle-hop zipper kit containing dry skin cleanser, special dry skin mixture, orange flower skin lotion, face powder and lipstick; body duster made of clear plastic with a brush of snowy-white goat's hair. Powder is in the transparent cylinder in the handle and sifts through the brush; four lipsticks on a smart silver key chain with a heart-shaped metal mirror for initials; spicy scented toilet water, dusting powder or perfume in Early American decorated bottles; a debutante set of toilet water, tangy pine bath oil, face powder and sweet-scented pink bath soap; pocketbook size gold plated nail clip in a leather case; vanity case with lipstick attached; lipstick and nail polish set in plastic box to be used later for hair clips or pins; a roly-poly Santa, real red velveteen hood, jingling bell, contains 3 bottles of cologne; straw basket containing cleansing cream, powder, lipstick and rouge. Use it later for a bread basket.

The Christmas Club girl with more to spend might select bejeweled compacts and lipsticks in matching sets; a bracelet of golden links with a melon ball pendant containing a vial of perfume; a dresser set in jewel-like colors—ruby, sapphire or clear crystal — complete with professional brush with comb and mirror grouped on a plastic dressing table tray; oblong satin evening bag in bright green, red or witch black, chain handle, containing golden plaid compact and lipstick; manicure set complete from polish to tweezers and emery boards in luxurious pinseal leather case with simulated tortoise shell tray.

Plush-lined pocketbooks can splurge on a pouch bag of black or cocoa calf with adjustable strap. An outside front pocket holds a powder compact, lipstick, coin purse and comb. Back has large flat pocket for notes and papers; perfume in fancy and luxurious packagings; an elegant kit of genuine alligator calf, fitted with a treatment tray of make-up boxes. Two jewel boxes for precious treasures, zippered waterproof sections for wash clothes, shower caps. Underneath sections for personal finery; solid gold and jeweled lipsticks.

HALF-PINT PURSES . . . find a dry perfume in the scent of a 'fragrant breeze' just the thing for Mom.

Trim Off Pounds Before Holidays

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If you want to cut a figure at holiday parties, start now to trim off those few surplus pounds that threaten to defeat that aim.

Slim young things may be able to stuff themselves from now on until the holidays and still slip into size 12 dresses. But most of us who are older and less active are apt to require more discipline at the table.

A little curtailment of diet between now and the holidays ahead pay dividends in a trimmer figure when you dress up in more festive clothes.

Here's the kind of pre-holiday regimen to adopt which need not be painful. Swap low-caloried fruits for rich desserts. Say "No" to second helpings. Cut down a little on the amount of butter that you take. After the day's eye-opener is taken with cream and sugar, take the other cup of coffee black.

College Head Dies

BEAVER FALLS, Pa.—(AP)—Dr. McLoed Milligan Pearce, president of Geneva College for more than a quarter century, died unexpectedly yesterday in Providence Hospital. He was 74.

...ed Presbyterian minister, Dr. Pearce had been in the hospital since Nov. 13 after suffering a heart attack.

14 Die In Crash

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(AP)—Fourteen persons were believed to have been killed today when a bus crashed through the rail of a bridge and plunged into water 66 feet below.

The accident occurred after the bus was in a collision with a truck on the Stora Essingen bridge. The bus sank into 74 feet of water in Essingen Sound.

Spread Christmas Cheer In Every Room

Don't confine your indoor Christmas decorating to the family tree. Instread, spread it throughout your rooms to create a bewitching holiday atmosphere. A secretary, for instance, provides the perfect spot for an attractive Yuletide setting.

As shown in the picture above, long needle pine boughs are banked with large cones on the top of a secretary. Hidden within is a string of Christmas tree lights (or, you can use a single bulb) which add sparkle and mystery to the arrangement.

General Electric lighting specialists point out that each bulb is carefully arranged so that its light will cast long graceful shadows on the wall behind. Notice how the small bridge lamp is also bedecked with Christmas greens.

China Makes Inexpensive Holiday Gift

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Chinaware can make a lovely and inexpensive Yule gift. You can even splurge patterns to be used for special occasions—fancy or gay, these will have great appeal.

Take your choice of plain everyday pastels used for kitchen and informal dining. Go gay with some decorated with Christmas trees or turkeys or poinsettias to be used for festive holidays. Special china for breakfast, bridge lunch or tea is welcome in any china closet.

There is suitable china and pottery for every girl you know. Your choice will depend on what you know of her home, her way of living and her individual tastes. American dinnerware is marked for budget pocketbooks.

A couple with a small one-room kitchenette apartment, emerald curtains, white wall paper with perhaps a tiny border of ivy-leaf design around the kitchen, is a good example. You wouldn't buy them solid pink, blue or grey china or pottery.

You would get them a set of peasant ware pottery in plain dark green or white with a small ivy pattern or plain white china with a lacy raised pattern. The plain white is perhaps the best choice since it can be used against a wide variety of backgrounds and is a safe bet if Jane is the type who will change the color of her kitchen every few months.

United Stats potters make three types of dinnerware: vitrified china, semi-vitreous ware (fine earthenware) and pottery.

Vitrified china is fine, hard ware, sturdy and long wearing. You can identify a china plate by holding it up against the light with your hand behind it. If you see the outline of your fingers through the ware it is china—American vitrified china is translucent. Or balance a china plate on the tips of your fingers and tap the edge of it lightly with a pencil—the china plate will ring with a clear bell-like note.

Semi-vitreous ware is made of just about the same ingredients used in china, but it is handled differently in the kiln. The result is thicker molding. It is strong of weight, has a deep, lustrous glaze and will give excellent service. Because of its less delicate construction, semi-vitreous ware usually is decorated with less formal patterns than those used on china.

Pottery is really semi-vitreous ware but it is made up in more casual styles, decorated in gayer patterns and comes in a rainbow of fascinating colors.

Kansas City Street Named After Truman

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Kansas City's busiest east-west street will be renamed in honor of President Truman.

The City Council last night ordered "Fifteenth Street" changed to "Truman Road." The change becomes effective Jan. 20, the date of the President's inauguration.

The proposal to change the name originally was introduced in the City Council in February, 1946. It was pigeon holed because of lack of interest.

A few days after President Truman's surprise re-election last Nov. 2, the proposal was brought up for reconsideration.

Writer Finds Early Shoppers Obnoxious, Likes In-Between

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There are a few obnoxious people around these days: the foresighted types who have their Christmas shopping done before there's even frost on the pumpkin.

Next to people who boast about how early they get up in the morning, they are my winter-season candidates for extinction. It's not so much that they've put the business of gift-buying behind them, it's the gentle, superior sort of way they go on. And the way they let you know right off the bat they haven't a worry in the Yuletide world except to fuss over a wreath for the front door and pick up some holly, and, darling, the holly this year seems sort of scrubby. All this when I'm in a star-spangled swivet about remembering whether Aunt Emma is allergic to wool and whether little Priscilla has gone out of the toy, and into the zook, age.

There aren't many of them, thank goodness. But in the interests of my own self-esteem—I'm a last-minute shopper by nature—I recently surveyed those among my acquaintances who were all finished with Christmas shopping when I was fooling around with the idea of a Labor Day barbecue.

Every father's daughter among them went a-traveling this summer.

Maudie, with a three-day stopover in Paris, walked among the Seine bookstalls, and picked up a gross of those quaint old maps of the Ville Lumiere.

Joannie, on that all-expense Mexican junket, bought out a Taxco shoppe which featured quaint, old, made-in-Syracuse pottery.

And Pattie, on her something less than A Deck Caribbean cruise, came back with a formidable sunburn and loaded down to the duty-free line with perfume.

All this is very commendable, but it's not for me, thanks. Christmas shopping is different from any other kind of shopping. It should be done with a spirit, at a time when there's a feel of winter in the air, fake Santas ringing bells on corners and crowds in the stores. There should be an urgency about it, a feeling of holiday in the heart and store windows full of tinsel and soap-chip snow.

Of course, if you're going to parcel out gifts from a stock-pile, as though you were issuing ammunition to a regiment, Maudie, Joannie and Pattie are pretty smart people. But that makes Christmas quite simply a day on which presents are meticulously swapped, not a day of giving. In that case, August mark-down sales are perfect times to pick up a couple of dozen tie-dyed scarfs for a song.

But that's not for me. I'll concede, however, there's a happy ground somewhere between the two. Like right this minute, even if I just start making a list. Ooops, $5.37 in the bank and those organdy curtains for the living room coming C.O.D. Wednesday. Well, next year. I'll do it, and that's for sure. Guess I'll even join a Christmas club.

DON'T BE A LAST-MINUTE LIZ . . . If you wait until Christmas Eve to mail cards, you might as well skip it.

Kinsey Defends His Sex Survey

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey has an answer for those who think the pollsters wrong forecasts about the presidential election mean that the "Kinsey Report" may also be in error.

"We recorded what people did, not what they were going to do. The thing about the election was that people simply changed their minds."

Dr. Kinsey, principal author of "Sexual Behavior in The Human Male," spoke yesterday to a small group of professional men and women at Johns Hopkins University. The book was based on the results of extensive interviewing.

China Makes Inexpensive Holiday Gift

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Chinaware can make a lovely and inexpensive Yule gift. You can even splurge patterns to be used for special occasions—fancy or gay, these will have great appeal.

Take your choice of plain everyday pastels used for kitchen and informal dining. Go gay with some decorated with Christmas trees or turkeys or poinsettias to be used for festive holidays. Special china for breakfast, bridge lunch or tea is welcome in any china closet.

There is suitable china and pottery for every girl you know. Your choice will depend on what you know of her home, her way of living and her individual tastes. American dinnerware is marked for budget pocketbooks.

A couple with a small one-room kitchenette apartment, emerald curtains, white wall paper with perhaps a tiny border of ivy-leaf design around the kitchen, is a good example. You wouldn't buy them solid pink, blue or grey china or pottery.

You would get them a set of peasant ware pottery in plain dark green or white with a small ivy pattern or plain white china with a lacy raised pattern. The plain white is perhaps the best choice since it can be used against a wide variety of backgrounds and is a safe bet if Jane is the type who will change the color of her kitchen every few months.

United Stats potters make three types of dinnerware: vitrified china, semi-vitreous ware (fine earthenware) and pottery.

Vitrified china is fine, hard ware, sturdy and long wearing. You can identify a china plate by holding it up against the light with your hand behind it. If you see the outline of your fingers through the ware it is china—American vitrified china is translucent. Or balance a china plate on the tips of your fingers and tap the edge of it lightly with a pencil—the china plate will ring with a clear bell-like note.

Semi-vitreous ware is made of just about the same ingredients used in china, but it is handled differently in the kiln. The result is thicker molding. It is strong of weight, has a deep, lustrous glaze and will give excellent service. Because of its less delicate construction, semi-vitreous ware usually is decorated with less formal patterns than those used on china.

Pottery is really semi-vitreous ware but it is made up in more casual styles, decorated in gayer patterns and comes in a rainbow of fascinating colors.

Kansas City Street Named After Truman

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Kansas City's busiest east-west street will be renamed in honor of President Truman.

The City Council last night ordered "Fifteenth Street" changed to "Truman Road." The change becomes effective Jan. 20, the date of the President's inauguration.

The proposal to change the name originally was introduced in the City Council in February, 1946. It was pigeon holed because of lack of interest.

A few days after President Truman's surprise re-election last Nov. 2, the proposal was brought up for reconsideration.

Writer Finds Early Shoppers Obnoxious, Likes In-Between

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There are a few obnoxious people around these days: the foresighted types who have their Christmas shopping done before there's even frost on the pumpkin.

Next to people who boast about how early they get up in the morning, they are my winter-season candidates for extinction. It's not so much that they've put the business of gift-buying behind them, it's the gentle, superior sort of way they go on. And the way they let you know right off the bat they haven't a worry in the Yuletide world except to fuss over a wreath for the front door and pick up some holly, and, darling, the holly this year seems sort of scrubby. All this when I'm in a star-spangled swivet about remembering whether Aunt Emma is allergic to wool and whether little Priscilla has gone out of the toy, and into the zook, age.

There aren't many of them, thank goodness. But in the interests of my own self-esteem—I'm a last-minute shopper by nature—I recently surveyed those among my acquaintances who were all finished with Christmas shopping when I was fooling around with the idea of a Labor Day barbecue.

Every father's daughter among them went a-traveling this summer.

Maudie, with a three-day stopover in Paris, walked among the Seine bookstalls, and picked up a gross of those quaint old maps of the Ville Lumiere.

Joannie, on that all-expense Mexican junket, bought out a Taxco shoppe which featured quaint, old, made-in-Syracuse pottery.

And Pattie, on her something less than A Deck Caribbean cruise, came back with a formidable sunburn and loaded down to the duty-free line with perfume.

All this is very commendable, but it's not for me, thanks. Christmas shopping is different from any other kind of shopping. It should be done with a spirit, at a time when there's a feel of winter in the air, fake Santas ringing bells on corners and crowds in the stores. There should be an urgency about it, a feeling of holiday in the heart and store windows full of tinsel and soap-chip snow.

Of course, if you're going to parcel out gifts from a stock-pile, as though you were issuing ammunition to a regiment, Maudie, Joannie and Pattie are pretty smart people. But that makes Christmas quite simply a day on which presents are meticulously swapped, not a day of giving. In that case, August mark-down sales are perfect times to pick up a couple of dozen tie-dyed scarfs for a song.

But that's not for me. I'll concede, however, there's a happy ground somewhere between the two. Like right this minute, even if I just start making a list. Ooops, $5.37 in the bank and those organdy curtains for the living room coming C.O.D. Wednesday. Well, next year. I'll do it, and that's for sure. Guess I'll even join a Christmas club.

DON'T BE A LAST-MINUTE LIZ . . . If you wait until Christmas Eve to mail cards, you might as well skip it.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24 (INS)—I wish you a thoughtful and grateful Thanksgiving as well as a happy one, as we all remember the blessings we have in our spiritual strength, our unity and our freedom from want.

Al Jolson

As usual, this is a family day in Hollywood, but with so many of our stars away, Thanksgiving is being spent in unusual ways.

Robert Taylor, in England, is joining up with the Gene Kellys and Montgomery Clift for the proverbial feast — but minus turkey. There isn't any.

James Mason may become a papa on Thanksgiving! Anyway, whether the new arrival has made his or her appearance, the British actor will play turkey-day host to Glenn Ford and his four-year-old son, Peter, who live next door. They're "orphans" with Eleanor Powell away on personals.

Ida Lupino gulps down a dinner she prepared with her own lily whites—then dashes out to the airport to fly to Phoenix at midnight to catch up with the "Greed" location troupe.

Frank Sinatra, stripped down to sun shorts, whittles his turkey drumstick down with Nancy and the kids in his Palm Springs house.

Poor Wally Beery, in the hospital, gets nothing but rice pudding and milk on his holiday tray.

The busiest Thanksgiving will be Jane Powell's. She'll eat turkey on a tray sandwiched in between the five shows she has to play at the Capitol theatre in New York.

Bob Hope is going to a football game—then home to dive into the cranberries with 30 relatives—"all mine," sez he.

Clark Gable will eat the "lonesomest" dinner. He's heading for his Rogue river home all by himself.

Betty Hutton and Ted Briskin celebrate a three way holiday. The turkey table marks the first Thanksgiving celebrated by Betty's mother and her stepfather since their reconciliation—plus a birthday plug for their two-year-old Lindsey, turned two last Tuesday.

Van Hefflin has a sure stomach ache lined up. He is eating his first meal with his two daughters in their new playhouse before moving back to the big house for a repeat on the "stuffings."

Frank Morgan will be officially installed as the mayor of Borrego, a little desert ranch community—and the big turkey dinner following is just the kickoff to a four-day celebration.

Thanksgiving day is a good time to announce Al Jolson's good will plans. In 1949 he will make a world tour and all of his entertainment will be either a benefit for charity, or a show for the troops.

Al was one of the first entertainers in World War II, and he contracted a serious illness from which the doctors gave him little hope of recovering. He not only got well, but had a return success such as very few men of his age or any age ever have had in the theatrical world.

Al is now over 60, and still going strong. He sings like a young man, and is one of the tops in radio.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Very good news this Thanksgiving Day to hear that Atwater Kent, who has been quite sick with a virus infection, is on the road to recovery.

The Darryl Zanucks leave for Sun Valley December 18. The Gary Coopers will also spend Christmas there, and so will Ann Sothern. Ann Rutherford, who says she hates New Year's eve anyway, will be on the train New Year's eve headed for Sun Valley. She will arrive early New Year's Day to spend six weeks at the ski resort.

Mary Astor telephoned to tell me that she is not dangerously sick as was reported, and that she only had to leave a picture at MGM because of a sinus condition. I hear that Mary is wonderful as Marmee in "Little Women."

That's all today.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24 (INS)—I wish you a thoughtful and grateful Thanksgiving as well as a happy one, as we all remember the blessings we have in our spiritual strength, our unity and our freedom from want.

Al Jolson

As usual, this is a family day in Hollywood, but with so many of our stars away, Thanksgiving is being spent in unusual ways.

Robert Taylor, in England, is joining up with the Gene Kellys and Montgomery Clift for the proverbial feast — but minus turkey. There isn't any.

James Mason may become a papa on Thanksgiving! Anyway, whether the new arrival has made his or her appearance, the British actor will play turkey-day host to Glenn Ford and his four-year-old son, Peter, who live next door. They're "orphans" with Eleanor Powell away on personals.

Ida Lupino gulps down a dinner she prepared with her own lily whites—then dashes out to the airport to fly to Phoenix at midnight to catch up with the "Greed" location troupe.

Frank Sinatra, stripped down to sun shorts, whittles his turkey drumstick down with Nancy and the kids in his Palm Springs house.

Poor Wally Beery, in the hospital, gets nothing but rice pudding and milk on his holiday tray.

The busiest Thanksgiving will be Jane Powell's. She'll eat turkey on a tray sandwiched in between the five shows she has to play at the Capitol theatre in New York.

Bob Hope is going to a football game—then home to dive into the cranberries with 30 relatives—"all mine," sez he.

Clark Gable will eat the "lonesomest" dinner. He's heading for his Rogue river home all by himself.

Betty Hutton and Ted Briskin celebrate a three way holiday. The turkey table marks the first Thanksgiving celebrated by Betty's mother and her stepfather since their reconciliation—plus a birthday plug for their two-year-old Lindsey, turned two last Tuesday.

Van Heflin has a sure stomach ache lined up. He is eating his first meal with his two daughters in their new playhouse before moving back to the big house for a repeat on the "stuffings."

Frank Morgan will be officially installed as the mayor of Borrego, a little desert ranch community—and the big turkey dinner following is just the kickoff to a four-day celebration.

NBC To Offer Big Thanksgiving Day Show With "Stars"

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Two of the networks are going to greet Thanksgiving with rival two-hour productions of variety at the same time. They are NBC and CBS and the shows go on both chains from 4 to 6.

The rivalry came about when the sponsor of the former CBS series decided to move to NBC and CBS produced another and a new sponsor for its show.

The NBC offering will have Don Ameche as MC under the title of "Holiday Star Time," and it will be filled with act after act such as Jack Benny, Red Skelton, Jimmy Durante, etc, etc, etc, etc.

Arthur Godfrey is rushing to Hollywood to handle the CBS production, which among others will have Amos and Andy, Danny Kaye, Abbott and Costello and also etc, etc, etc. Program title is "Thanksgiving Festival."

Then there are these other holiday specials: NBC 9:30 a. m. Church World Service Thanksgiving, Walter Abel and others; NBC 12:15 p. m. Thanksgiving in Paris among American Workers at UN; NBC 12:30 Columbia U. teachers college choir; ABC 3:45 p. m. Edwin C. Hill's annual Thanksgiving story.

Also there's television. The same sponsor who is giving the NBC radio show, will have a two-hour variety time for ABC television. Andre Baruch will MC for the east coast network at 7:30. The program will be relayed from film by most ABC midwest tele stations at 7 p. m. next Monday.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Morning radio, which is becoming surprisingly literate these days, has been further enriched by a new fifteen-minute transcribed Bing Crosby show (CBS 9:45 a. m. EST Mondays through Fridays). The housewife, if she's nimble enough with the dial, can pick up Crosby at 9:45, jump over to Fred Waring on NBC at 10, latch on to Anna and Eleanor Roosevelt on ABC at 10:45, and thus get through about half of her chores without running into a single soap opera.

Bing Crosby

Since Crosby's voice is heard roughly twenty-four hours a day on radios and jukeboxes, the addition of a new Crosby program seems a little unnecessary but this one deserves mention if only for its financial implications. All news stories about Crosby these days dwell heavily on the financial angles. Having been exploited beyond the realm of further exploitation as the greatest entertainer of his day, Crosby is now regarded with some justification as one of the great wizards of finance and may yet go down in history as the Hetty Green of his era.

Crosby, whose income has already passed reasonable limits, was lured into this daytime program on a stock deal which may or may not become a basis for future deals. He acquired 20,000 shares of Vacuum Foods Corp. which puts out Minute Maid Orange Juice, the product he's sponsoring, and was also made a director of the corporation in a deal engineered by John Hay Whitney, who controls Vacuum Food. His immediate paper profit, according to "Time" magazine, was $138,000.

However, if the stock rises—and that's exactly what the program is designed to do—Crosby is in on the ground floor of a very good thing. (Capital gains tax is 25 per cent, as opposed to income tax of around 77 per cent.) He also, of course, draws down a salary for this task. Some years back, as I recall, large fears were expressed that women were gradually taking over ownership of the country. I submit the Crosby business dealings as a possible indication the entertainers are making a bid to take it away from the women.

Let's get away from this gross talk about money. "This is Bing Crosby" is a pleasant fifteen minutes of old and new Crosby records introduced by the Groaner himself. On his first program Crosby offered his old "I Don't Stand a Ghost of a Chance With You" and a fairly new "160 Acres In The Valley" in partnership with the Andrews Sisters who are never far away from Crosby. One Ella Fitzgerald record crept in there too so I guess the show won't be confined entirely to Crosby.

Between records—and you get just three—Crosby delivered one commercial after another. For a fifteen minute program there was an awful lot of talk about orange juice. Crosby, of course, has chatted in the past about his sponsors, Kraft and Philco, but never with such vehement enthusiasm as this. Well, I don't suppose he owned 20,000 shares of those other companies. In the middle of the show, Dorothy Kirsten walked in and I rather hoped she'd sing a song. She didn't. She just dropped in to bum a can of orange juice. Crosby didn't have one on hand so she sprinted right out again to the nearest grocery store.

Ken Carpenter, Crosby's perennial announcer, is with him on this one, mainly, I guess, to keep him company. Since the singer handles both commercials and song introductions, there isn't much for Carpenter to do. Incidentally a recent article in the magazine "Advertising and Selling" comments on the great sales impact "of a few words from a guy like Crosby." This being so, the theory, I suppose, is that a great many words from a guy like Crosby will have an even greater sales impact.

Art and commerce have never been linked so inextricably as in this one. And despite all this sordid money-making, it's a nice morning show. I just hope the great financier gets around to playing some of those splendid old songs—"Please," "Thanks," "Just One More Chance," "Moonlight Becomes You," "Shine"—made way back when singing was his paramount interest in life.

NBC To Offer Big Thanksgiving Day Show With "Stars"

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Two of the networks are going to greet Thanksgiving with rival two-hour productions of variety at the same time. They are NBC and CBS and the shows go on both chains from 4 to 6.

The rivalry came about when the sponsor of the former CBS series decided to move to NBC and CBS produced another and a new sponsor for its show.

The NBC offering will have Don Ameche as MC under the title of "Holiday Star Time," and it will be filled with act after act such as Jack Benny, Red Skelton, Jimmy Durante, etc, etc, etc, etc.

Arthur Godfrey is rushing to Hollywood to handle the CBS production, which among others will have Amos and Andy, Danny Kaye, Abbott and Costello and also etc, etc, etc. Program title is "Thanksgiving Festival."

Then there are these other holiday specials: NBC 9:30 a. m. Church World Service Thanksgiving, Walter Abel and others; NBC 12:15 p. m. Thanksgiving in Paris among American Workers at UN; NBC 12:30 Columbia U. teachers college choir; ABC 3:45 p. m. Edwin C. Hill's annual Thanksgiving story.

Also there's television. The same sponsor who is giving the NBC radio show, will have a two-hour variety time for ABC television. Andre Baruch will MC for the east coast network at 7:30. The program will be relayed from film by most ABC midwest tele stations at 7 p. m. next Monday.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Morning radio, which is becoming surprisingly literate these days, has been further enriched by a new fifteen-minute transcribed Bing Crosby show (CBS 9:45 a. m. EST Mondays through Fridays). The housewife, if she's nimble enough with the dial, can pick up Crosby at 9:45, jump over to Fred Waring on NBC at 10, latch on to Anna and Eleanor Roosevelt on ABC at 10:45, and thus get through about half of her chores without running into a single soap opera.

Bing Crosby

Since Crosby's voice is heard roughly twenty-four hours a day on radios and jukeboxes, the addition of a new Crosby program seems a little unnecessary but this one deserves mention if only for its financial implications. All news stories about Crosby these days dwell heavily on the financial angles. Having been exploited beyond the realm of further exploitation as the greatest entertainer of his day, Crosby is now regarded with some justification as one of the great wizards of finance and may yet go down in history as the Hetty Green of his era.

Crosby, whose income has already passed reasonable limits, was lured into this daytime program on a stock deal which may or may not become a basis for future deals. He acquired 20,000 shares of Vacuum Foods Corp. which puts out Minute Maid Orange Juice, the product he's sponsoring, and was also made a director of the corporation in a deal engineered by John Hay Whitney, who controls Vacuum Food. His immediate paper profit, according to "Time" magazine, was $138,000.

However, if the stock rises—and that's exactly what the program is designed to do—Crosby is in on the ground floor of a very good thing. (Capital gains tax is 25 per cent, as opposed to income tax of around 77 per cent.) He also, of course, draws down a salary for this task. Some years back, as I recall, large fears were expressed that women were gradually taking over ownership of the country. I submit the Crosby business dealings as a possible indication the entertainers are making a bid to take it away from the women.

Let's get away from this gross talk about money. "This is Bing Crosby" is a pleasant fifteen minutes of old and new Crosby records introduced by the Groaner himself. On his first program Crosby offered his old "I Don't Stand a Ghost of a Chance With You" and a fairly new "160 Acres In The Valley" in partnership with the Andrews Sisters who are never far away from Crosby. One Ella Fitzgerald record crept in there too so I guess the show won't be confined entirely to Crosby.

Between records—and you get just three—Crosby delivered one commercial after another. For a fifteen minute program there was an awful lot of talk about orange juice. Crosby, of course, has chatted in the past about his sponsors, Kraft and Philco, but never with such vehement enthusiasm as this. Well, I don't suppose he owned 20,000 shares of those other companies. In the middle of the show, Dorothy Kirsten walked in and I rather hoped she'd sing a song. She didn't. She just dropped in to bum a can of orange juice. Crosby didn't have one on hand so she sprinted right out again to the nearest grocery store.

Ken Carpenter, Crosby's perennial announcer, is with him on this one, mainly, I guess, to keep him company. Since the singer handles both commercials and song introductions, there isn't much for Carpenter to do. Incidentally a recent article in the magazine "Advertising and Selling" comments on the great sales impact "of a few words from a guy like Crosby." This being so, the theory, I suppose, is that a great many words from a guy like Crosby will have an even greater sales impact.

Art and commerce have never been linked so inextricably as in this one. And despite all this sordid money-making, it's a nice morning show. I just hope the great financier gets around to playing some of those splendid old songs—"Please," "Thanks," "Just One More Chance," "Moonlight Becomes You," "Shine"—made way back when singing was his paramount interest in life.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Rebecca D. Moore, who passed away three years ago, November 25th, 1945.

In Heaven's Mansion she entered,
Never to sigh or weep;
After long years of life and struggle,
Mother has fallen asleep.

Angels in Heaven will guide her;
Jesus will bless and keep;
Not for the world would He wake her
Mother has fallen asleep.

Sadly missed by her daughter

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kindness and sympathy during the reburial of our son and husband, Pfc. William E. Turner. We especially wish to thank Rev. C. L. Beard and Rev. B. F. Hartman, those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Turner
Mrs. Beverley Turner

We wish to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives and the Rev. McDonald for their kindness and sympathy during our recent loss of our beloved wife and Mother, Hazel G. Lindsay. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who loaned cars for the funeral and those who sent floral tributes.

Mr. T. C. Linday & Children.

We wish to thank our many friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kindness and sympathy during the recent loss of our beloved husband and father.

We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, and those who donated the use of their cars.

Mrs. Louis Knippenberg, and Family.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Rebecca D. Moore, who passed away three years ago, November 25th, 1945.

In Heaven's Mansion she entered,
Never to sigh or weep;
After long years of life and struggle,
Mother has fallen asleep.

Angels in Heaven will guide her;
Jesus will bless and keep;
Not for the world would He wake her
Mother has fallen asleep.

Sadly missed by her daughter
Mrs. Ethel Selfarth

DEATHS

PFC. KOLB REBURIAL

A reburial service for Pfc. Douglas P. Kolb, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kolb, London, England, former Cumberland resident, was held Tuesday in Antietem National Cemetery, Sharpsburg, with Rev. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, officiating. Military honors were accorded by the Sharpsburg American Legion post.

Killed in Italy in 1944, Pfc. Kolb was one of the youngest soldiers to lose his life in World War II. He was a graduate of Allegany High School.

MRS. HARTMAN SERVICE

A funeral service for Mrs. Sarah Jane Hartman, 79, who died early Monday morning at the home of her son, Ernest E. Hartman, New Colonial Inn, Long Stretch, was held yesterday at the Hafer Funeral Home with Rev. James Reckley officiating. Burial was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were James Shanks, Delvin C. Gainer, William Twigg, Joseph Weaver, William Hitchcock and John Balch.

THOMAS A. FRANKLIN

FROSTBURG — Thomas A. Franklin, 73, died yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at his home, corner of Grant and McCulloh Streets, following a long illness.

Born in Southern Maryland, Mr. Franklin was a son of the late Thomas and Dorcas Weems Franklin. He was employed for many years by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Washington, D. C., prior to his retirement about 16 years ago.

Mr. Franklin was a former president of Printing Pressman's Union No. 1, Washington, and belonged to Hope Lodge No. 20, A. F. ad A. M., Washington. He was also a member of Mt Chapter No 15, Order of the Eastern Star, Frostburg, and First Presbyterian Church here.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Sarah Grindel Franklin, he is survived by two sons by a former marriage, Andrew Franklin, Arlington, Va., and Weems L. Franklin, Washington; one step-daughter, Miss Jane H. Grindel, at home; a sister, Mrs. S. W. Gunnette, Cumberland; and a grandson, Weems Franklin, Jr., Washington.

Mr. Franklin's first wife, the former Philipine Lapp, died in 1932.

The body will be taken to the Hafer Funeral Home here.

T-5 CHARLES WOODS

The body of T-5 Charles Davis "Dody" Woods, 34, son of James H. Woods, 31 Potomac Street, Ridgeley, and the late Louisa Brown Woods, who was killed in Italy January 13, 1944, will arrive here tomorrow night and will be taken to the Kight Funeral Home for services Saturday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Chesley V. Daniel, vicar of St. Philip's Episcpoal Church here, and Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport, will officiate. Reburial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery with full military honors accorded by Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, this city, and Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley.

A native of this city, T-5 Woods was employed as a bellhop at the Fort Cumberland Hotel before he entered the Armed Forces. He trained at Fort Hayes, Ohio, and Camp Rucker, Ala., before going overseas to Africa to serve with Company B, 909th Air Base. He lost his life in action at San Pan Grazio, Italy.

Besides his father, he leaves five sisters, Miss Ellen Jane Woods, Mrs. Catherine Means, Mrs. Louise Brantley and Miss Fannie Woods, all of Gary, Ind., and Mrs. Preston Johnson, South Bend, Ind.; his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Helen Woods, at home; a half-sister, Miss Alverta Woods, Ridgeley; one step-brother, James Raymond Woods, Aberdeen, and a step-sister, Mrs. Bessie Spicer, this city.

EATON SERVICES

A service was held yesterday at the Kight Funeral Home for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Eaton, Route 1, who died Monday night in Allegany Hospital. Interment was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Joanne and Mary Lou Eaton; a brother, Junior Eaton, at home; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Eaton, this city, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yacenech, Grafton, W. Va.

Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, pastor of LaVale Baptist Chapel, officiated.

ROBINETTE FUNERAL

A funeral service for Adam Earl Robinette, 44, Wiley Ford, W. Va., employe in the acetate department at the Celanese plant, who dropped dead at work Tuesday night, will be held tomorrow. Following a short prayer at 12:30 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home, the body will be taken to Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Augusta, W. Va., for a service at 2 p. m. with Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor of the Flintstone Methodist Circuit, officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Born December 30, 1904, in Cumberland, he was a son of John W. and Mary Gross Robinette.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Gladys Timbrook Robinette; six sons, Walter, Eugene, Earl W., Merle R., Leroy F. and Harold Robinette, all of Wiley Ford; three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor B. Wright, Eckhart; Mrs. Waunetta V. Carder, Oldtown, and Jeannette Marlene Robinette, at home; a brother, George A. Robinette, this city; two sisters, Mrs. Arliss Trout, Cumberland, and Mrs. Martha Banzhof, Westernport, and one grandchild.

DEATHS

PFC. KOLB REBURIAL

A reburial service for Pfc. Douglas P. Kolb, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kolb, London, England, former Cumberland resident, was held Tuesday in Antietem National Cemetery, Sharpsburg, with Rev. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, officiating. Military honors were accorded by the Sharpsburg American Legion post.

Killed in Italy in 1944, Pfc. Kolb was one of the youngest soldiers to lose his life in World War II. He was a graduate of Allegany High School.

MRS. HARTMAN SERVICE

A funeral service for Mrs. Sarah Jane Hartman, 79, who died early Monday morning at the home of her son, Ernest E. Hartman, New Colonial Inn, Long Stretch, was held yesterday at the Hafer Funeral Home with Rev. James Reckley officiating. Burial was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were James Shanks, Delvin C. Gainer, William Twigg, Joseph Weaver, William Hitchcock and John Balch.

THOMAS A. FRANKLIN

FROSTBURG — Thomas A. Franklin, 73, died yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at his home, corner of Grant and McCulloh Streets, following a long illness.

Born in Southern Maryland, Mr. Franklin was a son of the late Thomas and Dorcas Weems Franklin. He was employed for many years by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Washington, D. C., prior to his retirement about 16 years ago.

Mr. Franklin was a former president of Printing Pressman's Union No. 1, Washington, and belonged to Hope Lodge No. 20, A. F. ad A. M., Washington. He was also a member of Mt Chapter No 15, Order of the Eastern Star, Frostburg, and First Presbyterian Church here.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Sarah Grindel Franklin, he is survived by two sons by a former marriage, Andrew Franklin, Arlington, Va., and Weems L. Franklin, Washington; one step-daughter, Miss Jane H. Grindel, at home; a sister, Mrs. S. W. Gunnette, Cumberland; and a grandson, Weems Franklin, Jr., Washington.

Mr. Franklin's first wife, the former Philipine Lapp, died in 1932.

The body will be taken to the Hafer Funeral Home here.

T-5 CHARLES WOODS

The body of T-5 Charles Davis "Dody" Woods, 34, son of James H. Woods, 31 Potomac Street, Ridgeley, and the late Louisa Brown Woods, who was killed in Italy January 13, 1944, will arrive here tomorrow night and will be taken to the Kight Funeral Home for services Saturday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Chesley V. Daniel, vicar of St. Philip's Episcpoal Church here, and Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport, will officiate. Reburial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery with full military honors accorded by Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, this city, and Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley.

A native of this city, T-5 Woods was employed as a bellhop at the Fort Cumberland Hotel before he entered the Armed Forces. He trained at Fort Hayes, Ohio, and Camp Rucker, Ala., before going overseas to Africa to serve with Company B, 909th Air Base. He lost his life in action at San Pan Grazio, Italy.

Besides his father, he leaves five sisters, Miss Ellen Jane Woods, Mrs. Catherine Means, Mrs. Louise Brantley and Miss Fannie Woods, all of Gary, Ind., and Mrs. Preston Johnson, South Bend, Ind.; his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Helen Woods, at home; a half-sister, Miss Alverta Woods, Ridgeley; one step-brother, James Raymond Woods, Aberdeen, and a step-sister, Mrs. Bessie Spicer, this city.

EATON SERVICES

A service was held yesterday at the Kight Funeral Home for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Eaton, Route 1, who died Monday night in Allegany Hospital. Interment was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Joanne and Mary Lou Eaton; a brother, Junior Eaton, at home; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Eaton, this city, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yacenech, Grafton, W. Va.

Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, pastor of LaVale Baptist Chapel, officiated.

ROBINETTE FUNERAL

A funeral service for Adam Earl Robinette, 44, Wiley Ford, W. Va., employe in the acetate department at the Celanese plant, who dropped dead at work Tuesday night, will be held tomorrow. Following a short prayer at 12:30 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home, the body will be taken to Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Augusta, W. Va., for a service at 2 p. m. with Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor of the Flintstone Methodist Circuit, officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Born December 30, 1904, in Cumberland, he was a son of John W. and Mary Gross Robinette.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Gladys Timbrook Robinette; six sons, Walter, Eugene, Earl W., Merle R., Leroy F. and Harold Robinette, all of Wiley Ford; three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor B. Wright, Eckhart; Mrs. Waunetta V. Carder, Oldtown, and Jeannette Marlene Robinette, at home; a brother, George A. Football Game Will Highlight Holiday Here

Stadium Sellout Is Reported

Highlight of today's Thanksgiving holiday in Cumberland will be the annual football contest between the undefeated teams of Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools at 2:15 p. m. at Fort Hill Stadium.

Many families will begin their observance of the holiday by attending special church services before sitting down to the traditional turkey dinner.

All business places and city, state and county offices will be closed.

Students of three local high schools began working well in advance of the holiday to make sure that less fortunate families will have a real Thanksgiving today.

Food Is Donated

For the past two weeks, Allegany and Fort Hill students have been bringing dried fruits, vegetables and canned foods to school, where the supplies were collected by members of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y groups, sponsored by Central YMCA.

The packages, wrapped in white, were distributed yesterday by a city crew under the direction of Miss Jeannette L. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities.

In addition, four Thanksgiving baskets for needy families were prepared by the New Homemakers Club of America at Carver School.

Students contributed 165 articles of food, with the fifth and sixth grades leading with 42 items each.

A special church service not previously announced will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at First Church of the Nazarene, Oldtown Road, with a Thanksgiving message by the pastor, Rev. C. Neal Hutchinson. The choir will sing "Praise to the King Immortal." The public is invited.

Interest Running High

Interest in the traditional Turkey Day game this afternoon at Fort Hill Stadium is running high.

The game has been a sellout for days as far as stadium seats are concerned, and extra bleacher seats and chairs have been added to make a total capacity of close to 7,000 as compared to the normal 4,800. In addition to the 7,000 who have seats, it is anticipated another 3,000 will clamor for the available standing room.

The only thing which can keep the crowd down is bad weather and there was good news yesterday from the Weather Bureau. An earlier forecast had been for rain but no mention is made of rain in the latest prediction. The temperature is expected to be about the same as today.

"Stay sober at the Thanksgiving Day football game."

That was the warning issued yesterday by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn to fans planning to attend this afternoon's gridiron battle at Fort Hill Stadium between Allegany and Fort Hill.

"Police will not put up with the practice of passing bottles around as in previous years," Chief Flynn said, adding that "bottles will be confiscated and imbibers ejected from the stadium."

Chief Flynn stated that walks and aisles in the stadium must be kept clear at all times during the game. He asks fans to remain orderly after the game, especially during the parade to the Main Stem.

Their Heads At Stake In Year's Grid Classic

Mrs. Edward Durr Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Reatha M. Scott Durr, 62, died suddenly yesterday at her home 106 Polk Street. Widow of a well known local pharmacist, the late Edward W. Durr who died 13 years ago, she had been in failing health for sometime.

Mrs. Durr was discovered dead at about 1 p. m. yesterday by her daughter Mrs. Bernice D. Litle. According to Mrs. Little, who works at night, she awakened shortly after noon and went downstairs where she found her mother, dead, seated on the davenport. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, was summoned and pronounced death due to natural causes.

Mrs. Durr was a native of Elkins, W. Va., born July 27, 1886, a daughter of the late Wilbur B. Scott and Elizabeth Apperson Scott. She had lived in Cumberland about 36 years, during which time her husband was a partner in the S. and D. Pharmacy on Baltimore Street here for many years. He later operated a drug store on North Centre Street but retired and moved to Winchester, Va., where he died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Little, who lived there then.

Mrs. Durr is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Edwena D. Arnold, 121 Bedford Street, a public school teacher; two brothers, Wilbur Scott, Cleveland, Ohio, and Cecil Scott, Elmira, N. Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Mertis Wills, Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Bernice Loving, Parkersburg, W. Va., together with a number of nieces and nephews.

The body was removed to Hafer Funeral Home.

Oakland Veteran Is Found Dead Of Bullet Wound

George G. Nine, 32, Had Been Melancholy

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday by Dr. E. I. Baumbartner, Garrett County deputy medical examiner, in the death of George D. Nine, 32-year-old Oakland World War II veteran whose body was discovered Tuesday morning.

Nine, who was unmarried, had been missing for two days, when his body, sitting in an upright position and leaning against a lumber pile along runway tracks of a saw mill two miles northwest of Oakland, was discovered by the sawmill operator, Carl Frazee. A .25 calibre pistol, probably a war souvenir, was lying between Nine's legs. The young man had a bullet wound just above his right ear, Dr .Baumbartner said.

People who knew the young man said he was first missed Sunday morning when he failed to snow up at a service station where he worked as an attendant. He was reported to have been in a depressed state of mind much of the time since his Army discharge in 1945. He was last seen alive about 3:30 a. m. Sunday.

Dr. Baumgartner said the young man has probably been dead about 36 hours when the body was discovered by Frazee who notified Sheriff Juniper S. Teats. Authorities said no "note" was found.

The young man had been in the Army during the recent war and served overseas with the 1897th Construction Engineers Battalion for three years. He received the meritorious service award for his unit's activities on Saipan. When discharged, he was a Tech. 5.

A native of Oakland, he was born October 19, 1916. His parents were the late Irvin and innie Paulie Nine. He was a member of the Oakland Lutheran Church, American Legion Post No. 71 and the Oakland Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He is survived by one brother, Walter I. Nine, Grantstown, W. Va.; and three sisters, Mrs. Paul Hinebaugh, Oakland, Mrs. George S. Worley, Charleston, W. Va., and Mrs. Walter Davies, New Madison, Ohio.

A funeral service will be held at 3 p. m. today at the Bolden Funeral Home with interment in the Oakland Cemetery. Rev. Luther L. Hare will officiate, with the American Legion conducting military rites.

Recruiting Offices Are Closed Today

Area men wishing to join the various branches of service will have to wait until tomorrow because all recruiting agencies are taking Thanksgiving Day off.

The Marines, however, mentioned that starting tomorrow, they will be able to take an unlimited number of 18-year-olds wishing to join the Corps for one year. Recruiter Vernon Debnam stressed the fact that nine-tenths of those undergoing this training will be sent to specialized training schools.

First Lt. George J. Gocke of the Army recruiting office announced one Thanksgiving Eve enlistment. Lewis K. Tressler, Shaw, W. Va., has joined the Regular Army unassigned for three years.

Hospitals Have Finger Injury Epidemic

Several people are going to have trouble eating their turkey today if reports from local hospitals mean anything. Late last night at least four finger injuries had been treated.

Another hunting mishap was announced by Allegany Hospital. Herbert Shipe, 33, Spring Gap, had buckshot removed from an arm and leg yesterday.

Loring Baldwin, 240 North Centre Street, was treated at the same hospital for an injured left ankle suffered when he fell from a school bus.

Boosters Club Stages Rally At Fort Hill

Allegany Students Also Have Bonfire

Upwards of 1,500 students and fans of Fort Hill High School staged an impromptu but enthusiastic and successful pep rally, snake dance and bonfire last night on Fort Hill, sponsored by the Fort Hill Boosters Club in conjunction with the Fort Hill Boys and Girls Hi-Y Clubs.

Barbara Matheney, president of the Girls Hi-Y introduced Coach Bill Hahn and his assistant, Bob Bigler, both of whom promised victory in the annual Turkey Day football game with Allegany High School Campers this afternoon.

At the same time, several hundred Allegany students were staging a similar rally and bonfire across the city on Campobello, with Coach Bob Pence predicting a fast game and victory for the Campers.

Members of the Fort Hill Boosters began planning their rally at 3 p. m. yesterday, when it became evident that no school-sponsored affair was planned, members said. They proceeded to organize and obtained the co-operation of the student body, cheer leaders, team members, coaches and boosters and fans.

Among those who spoke were William "Bee" Orndorff, Jacob Browne, and James Hiplsey of the Boosters Club and Robert Welshans representing the alumni. Robert Morris, student counsellor, spoke for the faculty.

R. R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park, provided wood and material for the bonfire, and Nelson W. Russler, another booster donated the use of his sound truck and amplifiers.

Following the speaking, cheers and songs and a huge snake dance was held around the bonfire.

At Allegany, students cheered, sang school songs, heard talks by team members and student leaders.

Equal enthusiasm was displayed for the big game and exhibition by the two school bands today.

West Side Fire Company was called to Allegany last night at 8:30 p. m. when the bonfire threatened to get out of control. Firemen said there was no damage.

John Miller Wins Three Prizes In Vo-Ag Corn Showing Contest

John Miller, Fort Hill High School vocational agriculture student, won three prizes in the corn showing division of the County-Wide Corn and Potato Judging and Showing Contest at Flintstone High School auditorium.

Miller took second prize in one division and first and second money in another. Two other local boys, David Summerfield and Clyde Mackereth, also took prizes. Summerfield is an Allegany student and Mackereth a Fort Hill pupil.

James H. House, vo-ag instructor, said the prizes were awarded for seven classes of corn.

In the Iowa 939 class Henry Davis, Flintstone, took first prize, Miller second, and Gary Teter, Flintstone, third. In the Iowa 4059 class Floyd Mallow, Flintstone, won first money, David Summerfield second, and Carl Mallow, Flintstone, third.

James Smith, Flintstone, took first prize with his showing in the U. S. 13 class, and Robert Dicken and Gene Teter, both of Flintstone, took second and third awards, respectively.

In the miscellaneous hybrid class Charles Stafford and DeWayne Morris, both of Flintstone, were first and second prize winners and George McCabe, Oldtown, took third prize. In the Yellow Dent class Frank Bruck and DeWayne Morris, both of Flintstone, took first and second awards and Clyde Mackereth, third money. In the Miscellaneous Dent class, John Miller took first and second awards with his white cap and calico corn.

Charles Stafford, Louis Kolb and Robert Dicken, all of the Flintstone chapter, took first, second and third prizes respectively in the single ear class.

Awards in the corn show were $2 for the first place, $1.50 for second and $1. for third.

James Smith's Irish Cobbler potatoes took first prize in the potato showing, Wesley McCusker's Katahdins second and Smith's Russetts third. Both boys are Flintstone students.

DeWayne Morris won $5 first prize in the potato judging contest; James Davis, $4 second place; Robert Dicken, $3 third; Dougles Ryan, $2 for fourth, and James Willison, $1 for fifth.

All the winners except Ryan, an Oldtown boy, are Flintstone students. Six other contestants received 75-cent prizes and six took 50-cent awards.

James Davis and Gary Teter tied for first place in the corn judging contest, each winning $4.50. There was no second award and Floyd Mallow took third, Louis Kolb fourth and Robert Heavner fifth. Prizes were of the same value as in the potato contest, with six contestants receiving 75-cent awards and six taking 50-cent prizes.

The hybrid corn showing featured Southern States Co-Operative developed seed corn which was given to vo-ag and 4-H students for trial raising last spring. Southern States and the Maryland Fair Board donated prizes for the showing. The fair board donated judging prizes.

Stanley P. Stabler, extension agronomist of the University of Maryland, judged entries in the showing and officiated at the judging contest. The contest committee included Robert Heavner, Lee Frazee, Martin Gordon and Bradye Dolly. Mrs. Elsie Roland was in charge of entries.

The judging contests were in three classes of corn and three of potatoes. In the corn class, Davis and Teter earned 1,370 points of a possible 1,500. In the potato competition, Morris made 1,432 of a possible 1,500 points.

Local Flyer Re-Enlists In U. S. Air Force

T-Sgt. Carl R. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Gray, 37 Oak Street and holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, has re-enlisted in the Air Force at Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Pa.

Sgt. Gray served 14 months as an engineer gunner with the Ninth and Tenth Air Forces in both the Far Eastern and the European theatres. In addition to the DFC, he holds the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters and seven other campaign medals and awards.

He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and has completed eight years of service. His wife is the former Miss George Lee Timbrook, also of this city.

Chain Store Contract Up For Ratification

Members of Local 886, Retail Food Clerks, and Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Teamsters Hall, North Mechanic Street, to take final action on a contract with the American Stores of this section.

Mike Roth, international agent for the Meat Cutters, who announced the meeting, did not disclose terms of the company offer which he said was "up for membership ratification."

Weather

Although the prediction for Thanksgiving Day is cloudy, Cumberlanders shouldn't be disturbed. Yesterday cloudy and rain were promised and look what happened! The sun shone and glistened on the new Christmas decorations and the temperature reached a respectable maximum of 52 degrees after a fairly low minimum of 33. For a change the late temperature last night was higher than the overnight low and read 39 degrees.

Sky High Prices Make Little Dent In Turkey Sales

Some Markets Say Sales Are Poor

In spite of an apparent revolt against sky high prices for turkeys which cut sales of the traditional Thanksgiving bird to rather alarming fashion in some markets here, an overall survey of retail stores revealed that sales of the holiday fowl was as good as or better than last year.

In general, markets in the downtown area reported sales disappointing, saying sales of turkeys and other fowl were fair to disappointing.

In fact, food sales were "just like any other day" in spite of the coming holiday, several reported. They added that Thanksgiving was usually slower here for turkeys than Christmas.

Several markets said the demand was greater than they had anticipated and that they had to purchase additional supplies yesterday.

In general, prices were about 20 per cent higher than last year. Fully dressed turkeys sold here from 89 cents for small birds to 73 cents a pound for the heaviest weights.

Want Small Birds

Demand for small size birds was good, most merchants said, adding they had anticipated the move by limiting their purchases to the popular sizes.

One merchant, who reported sales of some 170 turkeys and about 150 chickens yesterday, said that judging from the sales of turkeys there is a possibility the birds might be scarce for Christmas.

The demand for turkeys, he added, was greater than last year. "We sold out twice" yesterday and had to order more to take care of customers, he added.

A Cumberland area merchant said the turkey sale was a little better than last year and reported he did not expect to have more than two or three on hand at the close of business.

Thanksgiving and Christmas sale of turkeys, he added, is only part of the picture now since there is a continual demand for turkeys for special occasions and dinners throughout the year.

Sales in the larger markets was somewhat confused, with some reporting "very good" sales and others saying the demand was "not too good."

Hucksters Appear

One market reported they ran out Tuesday and had to replenish their supplies yesterday to meet the demand which was especially heavy for birds ranging from eight to 10 pounds.

Another reported they had correctly anticipated the demand as "not too heavy."

When asked why many of the turkeys raised in Garrett County and nearby Pennsylvania were selling in big city markets below local prices, one merchant said the difference was easily explained.

Most city markets, he said, will sell only "hog dressed" fowl while Cumberland residents demand fully dressed birds.

Turkeys could be sold here in the 65-70 cent price range if only killed and plucked, he added.

Pfc. Lowery Rites Are Planned Sunday

The body of Pfc. Charles R. Lowery, 24, who died in Italy May 2, 1945, will arrive here Friday and will be taken tothe home of his father, Harvey Lowery, Nessville, near Ellerslie.

A funeral service will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Wills Creek Chapel there by the pastor, Rev. Fred Crowe. Burial will be in Porter Cemetery.

A former Celanese worker, Pfc. Lowery was born in Cumberland, a son of Harvey and Pearl Burley Lowery.

He enlisted in the Army September 21, 1943, and trained at Camp Van Dorn, Miss., and in Virginia before going overseas with Company G, 338th Infantry, Fifth Army.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, the former Elva Margraff, Stringtown, one son, Charles Richard Lowery; brother, John Harvey Lowery, at home, and three sisters, Mrs. Virginia Burkett, Potomac Park; Mrs. Verndale Miller, Hyndman, and Mrs. Clarabelle Shaffer, Route 1, Hyndman.

Car Window Broken

Police are investigating a report by Harry Morris Blonder, who gave his address as 318 Washington Street, that a window of his car was broken while the vehicle was parked on Canal Street between 7:50 and 10 p. m. Monday.

Christmas Decorations Are Illuminated

New Christmas decorations installed on Baltimore Street by the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce took on new beauty last night as lights in the plastic designs were turned on for the first time.

Much of the charm of the novel decorations results from the use of aluminum festoons which reflect the lights from the illuminated Star of Bethlehem designs and the Santa Claus and Christmas Bell wreaths. Residents who viewed the decorations last night were unanimous in their approval of the decorating scheme.

Flynn Appeals For Caution In Winter Driving

Lists Six Rules For Safe Travel

Six rules for safe winter driving were listed yesterday by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

Chief Flynn said that if the rules are followed carefully many motorists will escape accidents during the dangerous weather ahead.

The rules, Chief Flynn said, are based on scientific tests and research by the safety council. He added that following the rules "will save motorists from being involved in serious accidents and traffic tie-ups."

The rules Flynn listed follow:

1. When starting out on ice or snow, get the "feel" of the road surface. Test your braking and acceleration, but only when clear of other cars.

2. Reduce speed when road surfaces are snowy or icy. Remember that it takes three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice than on dry pavement.

3. Keep snow or ice off the outside of the windshield as well as keeping the inside clear of fog and frost. Be sure your defroster and windshield wipers are working. Watch out for pedestrians.

4. Never warm up your car in a closed garage. Carbon monoxide poisoning results easily and can be fatal. Also check floor boards and exhaust system for leaks. Examine heater for posible defects.

5. When streets are covered with ice or snow, use steel tire chains. They reduce braking distance for cars and trucks from 40 to 70 per cent and provide extra traction which is often needed.

6. If possible have tires with good treads. They provide better stopping ability on both wet or dry pavement. But do not depend even on new rubber treads on packed snow or ice. Tests also show that rubber tire chains, although not so noisy as steel chains, actually skid farther than bare tires on ice.

"During ice and snow months," Flynn said, "the traffic accident death rate in northern states goes up to 24 to 53 per cent over the summer fatality rate. Now, with more automobiles on the road than last winter, every driver must exert extra caution, both toward his own driving and the other fellow's.

"If drivers will do this and stick to the rules listed, we know we can continue to reduce unnecessary traffic accidents and tie-ups this winter," Flynn concluded.

Star Will Be Placed In Constitution Park

A large Christmas star will be installed at Constitution Park for the Christmas season, Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds, reported yesterday.

He said workmen are beginning repairs on the large frame which was installed at the end of the baseball field several years ago to hold the device.

The committee named to complete plans for city-sponsored Christmas decorations at Riverside and Constitution Park will meet at City Hall Monday or Tuesday, he added.

Two Local Churches Plan Union Service

Congregations of Grace Baptist Church and First Christian Church will hold a union service in the former church, 417 North Mechanic Street, today at 10:30 a. m., according to Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of the host church.

Special music will be presented by the senior choir of Grace Baptist Church, under the direction of Miss Mary Robb.

Rev. F. Ralph Miller, pastor of First Christian Church, will preach the Thanksgiving sermon.

Missing Cars Are Recovered In W. Va., Ind.

One Driver Fined On Motor Counts

Two cars owned by the Hertz Drive-It-Yourself concern on South George Street, one of which was rented and the other stolen, have been recovered.

The rented car was recovered in Buckhannon, W. Va., and the driver, William Clair, Frederick Street, was sentenced to 60 days in Upshur County Jail for drunken driving and for driving without an operator's license.

The other car was found in Indianapolis, Ind., and two male occupants were arrested, State Police were informed.

Clair was committed to jail by Justice of the Peace R. T. Evans when he was unable to pay fines totaling $35 and costs.

West Virginia State Police at Buckhannon said Clair told them he borrowed the car from another man, Robert Easton, who had rented it from the motor concern Saturday night.

Officials of the company said the car was rented by Easton Saturday night and was due to be returned Monday morning. Easton, they said, told them he and Clair were in a restaurant together at about 1 a. m. Sunday when Clair left and drove off in the car.

He was arrested Sunday at Buckhannon and the car was returned here yesterday by officials of the concern. They added they planned to go to Indianapolis last night for the other car.

In another stolen car case three youths were lodged in Garrett County Jail last night after they reportedly admitted stealing and driving from Morgantown, W. Va., a car which was found abandoned near Grantsville.

State Trooper Glen D. Folk found about a mile west of Keyser's Ridge yesterday morning and at 8 p. m. Trooper Robert F. Henline found the three youths standing near the car.

When he questioned the youths, he said, they admitted the theft, adding they had stolen the tags on the vehicle from a car in Everson, Fayette County, Pa.

Henlin identified the driver as Tommy Moxley, 17, Baltimore. The other boys gave their names as James Reed, 15, and Glenn Reed, 16, both of Maidsville, W. Va., he said.

Local Motorist Sued For $30,000

Damage suits totaling $30,000 were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday against Paul A. Butts, driver, and Mary M. Butts, owner, as the result of injuries suffered by a 14-year-old boy when the Butts' auto allegedly struck and injured the child.

Plaintiffs in the two actions are H. Murell Kline, claiming $10,000 for hospital and medical costs and loss of his son's services; and Perry Edward Kline, infant, by his father and next friend, H. Murrell Kline, for $20,000 claiming serious bodily injury.

The declarations, filed by Thomas Lohr Richards, this city, and H. G. Shores, Keyser, W. Va., attorneys, charge Butts with being negligent and driving on the wrong side of the road.

The attorneys claim the accident took place last August 28 at 7 p. m. (DST) on Welton Road leading to the Cumberland Municipal Airport. Butts was driving his wife's car in an easterly direction with the Kline boy riding a motorbike in the westerly direction, attorneys say.

The declaration states that Butts was on the wrong side of the road and was traveling at an excessive speed when his car hit the boy.

In his individual suit, the boy's father claims damage for loss of the boy's services on his dairy farm, claiming the child has been doing the equivalent of a man's work.

Radio Club Plans Membership Drive

The Mountain Radio Club has begun a drive to extend its membership to all persons of this area who have a real interest in radio, L. R. Jenkins, president, announced last night.

He said the next meeting of the club planned December 3 at 7:30 p. m. at its club room, 324 Frederick Street, will be open to all who are interested in the subject and would like to learn more about the work of the club.

That meeting will also mark the beginning of code classes intended to give persons who do not have amateur licenses an opportunity to learn code and to give amateurs a chance to brush upon accuracy and speed.

The code class will meet at 6 p. m., prior to the general business meeting. Following the session, informal classes on radio theory will be held.

To become a member, one need not hold an amateur license or even intend to get one, Jenkins said. All short wave listeners, he added, can share in the activities of the club which is now composed of some 35 radio fans of this area.

Joseph Battista To Give Concert At Bedford School December 1

Joseph Battista, noted young American pianist, will appear in Bedford, Pa., Wednesday, December 1, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of Bedford High School, it has been announced by the Community Concert Association of Bedford County.

Battista's career was interrupted by the attack on Pearl Harbor seven years ago, before he had gained international recognition. During the war Battista was assigned to Special Services and for three years he appeared at bond rallies and Red Cross drives, besides giving concerts at Army camps.

He was discharged as a corporal after becoming music director at Camp Lee, Va.

Battista's postwar career began in the summer of 1947 when he played Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 4 with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Serge Koussevitzky at the Berkshire Festival.

In autumn of the same year, top critics hailed his return to the concert stage in a recital at New York's Town Hall.

In the last two years he has made a tour of 60 concerts in the United States and Canada, including appearances with major orchestras and recitals in a dozen schools and colleges and at two art museums.

Local Briefs

A beer and wine license was issued yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board to Peter V. Carpenti for 134 North Mechanic Street.

The Company D, Marine Corps Reserve, basketball team will not have its regular practice at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium today.

A religious motion picture, "Beyond Our Own," will be shown tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Zion Methodist Church.

Central Fire Company was called to the Club Bowling Alleys, 34 North Mechanic Street, yesterday at 8:16 p. m. when an electric motor on a refrigerating unit overheated. There was no damage.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin A. Smith, Buffalo Mills, Pa., a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Mason, Ellerslie, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Olivia M. Rinker, Bismarck, W. Va., a son Tuesday.

Allegany Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Smith, Route 1, Hyndman, Pa., a son.

Rev. and Mrs. Boyd Davis, Somerton, Ariz., announce the birth of a son, Paul Alexander, Tuesday in a hospital there. Mrs. Davis is the former Miss Madelyn Armitage and her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Davis, 35 Virginia Avenue.

Football Game Will Highlight Holiday Here

Stadium Sellout Is Reported

Highlight of today's Thanksgiving holiday in Cumberland will be the annual football contest between the undefeated teams of Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools at 2:15 p. m. at Fort Hill Stadium.

Many families will begin their observance of the holiday by attending special church services before sitting down to the traditional turkey dinner.

All business places and city, state and county offices will be closed.

Students of three local high schools began working well in advance of the holiday to make sure that less fortunate families will have a real Thanksgiving today.

Food Is Donated

For the past two weeks, Allegany and Fort Hill students have been bringing dried fruits, vegetables and canned foods to school, where the supplies were collected by members of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y groups, sponsored by Central YMCA.

The packages, wrapped in white, were distributed yesterday by a city crew under the direction of Miss Jeannette L. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities.

In addition, four Thanksgiving baskets for needy families were prepared by the New Homemakers Club of America at Carver School.

Students contributed 165 articles of food, with the fifth and sixth grades leading with 42 items each.

A special church service not previously announced will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at First Church of the Nazarene, Oldtown Road, with a Thanksgiving message by the pastor, Rev. C. Neal Hutchinson. The choir will sing "Praise to the King Immortal." The public is invited.

Interest Running High

Interest in the traditional Turkey Day game this afternoon at Fort Hill Stadium is running high.

The game has been a sellout for days as far as stadium seats are concerned, and extra bleacher seats and chairs have been added to make a total capacity of close to 7,000 as compared to the normal 4,800. In addition to the 7,000 who have seats, it is anticipated another 3,000 will clamor for the available standing room.

The only thing which can keep the crowd down is bad weather and there was good news yesterday from the Weather Bureau. An earlier forecast had been for rain but no mention is made of rain in the latest prediction. The temperature is expected to be about the same as today.

"Stay sober at the Thanksgiving Day football game."

That was the warning issued yesterday by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn to fans planning to attend this afternoon's gridiron battle at Fort Hill Stadium between Allegany and Fort Hill.

"Police will not put up with the practice of passing bottles around as in previous years," Chief Flynn said, adding that "bottles will be confiscated and imbibers ejected from the stadium."

Chief Flynn stated that walks and aisles in the stadium must be kept clear at all times during the game. He asks fans to remain orderly after the game, especially during the parade to the Main Stem.

Their Heads At Stake In Year's Grid Classic

Mrs. Edward Durr Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Reatha M. Scott Durr, 62, died suddenly yesterday at her home 106 Polk Street. Widow of a well known local pharmacist, the late Edward W. Durr who died 13 years ago, she had been in failing health for sometime.

Mrs. Durr was discovered dead at about 1 p. m. yesterday by her daughter Mrs. Bernice D. Litle. According to Mrs. Little, who works at night, she awakened shortly after noon and went downstairs where she found her mother, dead, seated on the davenport. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, was summoned and pronounced death due to natural causes.

Mrs. Durr was a native of Elkins, W. Va., born July 27, 1886, a daughter of the late Wilbur B. Scott and Elizabeth Apperson Scott. She had lived in Cumberland about 36 years, during which time her husband was a partner in the S. and D. Pharmacy on Baltimore Street here for many years. He later operated a drug store on North Centre Street but retired and moved to Winchester, Va., where he died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Little, who lived there then.

Mrs. Durr is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Edwena D. Arnold, 121 Bedford Street, a public school teacher; two brothers, Wilbur Scott, Cleveland, Ohio, and Cecil Scott, Elmira, N. Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Mertis Wills, Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Bernice Loving, Parkersburg, W. Va., together with a number of nieces and nephews.

The body was removed to Hafer Funeral Home.

Oakland Veteran Is Found Dead Of Bullet Wound

George G. Nine, 32, Had Been Melancholy

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday by Dr. E. I. Baumbartner, Garrett County deputy medical examiner, in the death of George D. Nine, 32-year-old Oakland World War II veteran whose body was discovered Tuesday morning.

Nine, who was unmarried, had been missing for two days, when his body, sitting in an upright position and leaning against a lumber pile along runway tracks of a saw mill two miles northwest of Oakland, was discovered by the sawmill operator, Carl Frazee. A .25 calibre pistol, probably a war souvenir, was lying between Nine's legs. The young man had a bullet wound just above his right ear, Dr .Baumbartner said.

People who knew the young man said he was first missed Sunday morning when he failed to show up at a service station where he worked as an attendant. He was reported to have been in a depressed state of mind much of the time since his Army discharge in 1945. He was last seen alive about 3:30 a. m. Sunday.

Dr. Baumgartner said the young man has probably been dead about 36 hours when the body was discovered by Frazee who notified Sheriff Juniper S. Teats. Authorities said no "note" was found.

The young man had been in the Army during the recent war and served overseas with the 1897th Construction Engineers Battalion for three years. He received the meritorious service award for his unit's activities on Saipan. When discharged, he was a Tech. 5.

A native of Oakland, he was born October 19, 1916. His parents were the late Irvin and innie Paulie Nine. He was a member of the Oakland Lutheran Church, American Legion Post No. 71 and the Oakland Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He is survived by one brother, Walter I. Nine, Grantstown, W. Va.; and three sisters, Mrs. Paul Hinebaugh, Oakland, Mrs. George S. Worley, Charleston, W. Va., and Mrs. Walter Davies, New Madison, Ohio.

A funeral service will be held at 3 p. m. today at the Bolden Funeral Home with interment in the Oakland Cemetery. Rev. Luther L. Hare will officiate, with the American Legion conducting military rites.

Recruiting Offices Are Closed Today

Area men wishing to join the various branches of service will have to wait until tomorrow because all recruiting agencies are taking Thanksgiving Day off.

The Marines, however, mentioned that starting tomorrow, they will be able to take an unlimited number of 18-year-olds wishing to join the Corps for one year. Recruiter Vernon Debnam stressed the fact that nine-tenths of those undergoing this training will be sent to specialized training schools.

First Lt. George J. Gocke of the Army recruiting office announced one Thanksgiving Eve enlistment. Lewis K. Tressler, Shaw, W. Va., has joined the Regular Army unassigned for three years.

Hospitals Have Finger Injury Epidemic

Several people are going to have trouble eating their turkey today if reports from local hospitals mean anything. Late last night at least four finger injuries had been treated.

Another hunting mishap was announced by Allegany Hospital. Herbert Shipe, 33, Spring Gap, had buckshot removed from an arm and leg yesterday.

Loring Baldwin, 240 North Centre Street, was treated at the same hospital for an injured left ankle suffered when he fell from a school bus.

Boosters Club Stages Rally At Fort Hill

Allegany Students Also Have Bonfire

Upwards of 1,500 students and fans of Fort Hill High School staged an impromptu but enthusiastic and successful pep rally, snake dance and bonfire last night on Fort Hill, sponsored by the Fort Hill Boosters Club in conjunction with the Fort Hill Boys and Girls Hi-Y Clubs.

Barbara Matheney, president of the Girls Hi-Y introduced Coach Bill Hahn and his assistant, Bob Bigler, both of whom promised victory in the annual Turkey Day football game with Allegany High School Campers this afternoon.

At the same time, several hundred Allegany students were staging a similar rally and bonfire across the city on Campobello, with Coach Bob Pence predicting a fast game and victory for the Campers.

Members of the Fort Hill Boosters began planning their rally at 3 p. m. yesterday, when it became evident that no school-sponsored affair was planned, members said. They proceeded to organize and obtained the co-operation of the student body, cheer leaders, team members, coaches and boosters and fans.

Among those who spoke were William "Bee" Orndorff, Jacob Browne, and James Hiplsey of the Boosters Club and Robert Welshans representing the alumni. Robert Morris, student counsellor, spoke for the faculty.

R. R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park, provided wood and material for the bonfire, and Nelson W. Russler, another booster donated the use of his sound truck and amplifiers.

Following the speaking, cheers and songs and a huge snake dance was held around the bonfire.

At Allegany, students cheered, sang school songs, heard talks by team members and student leaders.

Equal enthusiasm was displayed for the big game and exhibition by the two school bands today.

West Side Fire Company was called to Allegany last night at 8:30 p. m. when the bonfire threatened to get out of control. Firemen said there was no damage.

John Miller Wins Three Prizes In Vo-Ag Corn Showing Contest

John Miller, Fort Hill High School vocational agriculture student, won three prizes in the corn showing division of the County-Wide Corn and Potato Judging and Showing Contest at Flintstone High School auditorium.

Miller took second prize in one division and first and second money in another. Two other local boys, David Summerfield and Clyde Mackereth, also took prizes. Summerfield is an Allegany student and Mackereth a Fort Hill pupil.

James H. House, vo-ag instructor, said the prizes were awarded for seven classes of corn.

In the Iowa 939 class Henry Davis, Flintstone, took first prize, Miller second, and Gary Teter, Flintstone, third. In the Iowa 4059 class Floyd Mallow, Flintstone, won first money, David Summerfield second, and Carl Mallow, Flintstone, third.

James Smith, Flintstone, took first prize with his showing in the U. S. 13 class, and Robert Dicken and Gene Teter, both of Flintstone, took second and third awards, respectively.

In the miscellaneous hybrid class Charles Stafford and DeWayne Morris, both of Flintstone, were first and second prize winners and George McCabe, Oldtown, took third prize. In the Yellow Dent class Frank Bruck and DeWayne Morris, both of Flintstone, took first and second awards and Clyde Mackereth, third money. In the Miscellaneous Dent class, John Miller took first and second awards with his white cap and calico corn.

Charles Stafford, Louis Kolb and Robert Dicken, all of the Flintstone chapter, took first, second and third prizes respectively in the single ear class.

Awards in the corn show were $2 for the first place, $1.50 for second and $1. for third.

James Smith's Irish Cobbler potatoes took first prize in the potato showing, Wesley McCusker's Katahdins second and Smith's Russetts third. Both boys are Flintstone students.

DeWayne Morris won $5 first prize in the potato judging contest; James Davis, $4 second place; Robert Dicken, $3 third; Dougles Ryan, $2 for fourth, and James Willison, $1 for fifth.

All the winners except Ryan, an Oldtown boy, are Flintstone students. Six other contestants received 75-cent prizes and six took 50-cent awards.

James Davis and Gary Teter tied for first place in the corn judging contest, each winning $4.50. There was no second award and Floyd Mallow took third, Louis Kolb fourth and Robert Heavner fifth. Prizes were of the same value as in the potato contest, with six contestants receiving 75-cent awards and six taking 50-cent prizes.

The hybrid corn showing featured Southern States Co-Operative developed seed corn which was given to vo-ag and 4-H students for trial raising last spring. Southern States and the Maryland Fair Board donated prizes for the showing. The fair board donated judging prizes.

Stanley P. Stabler, extension agronomist of the University of Maryland, judged entries in the showing and officiated at the judging contest. The contest committee included Robert Heavner, Lee Frazee, Martin Gordon and Bradye Dolly. Mrs. Elsie Roland was in charge of entries.

The judging contests were in three classes of corn and three of potatoes. In the corn class, Davis and Teter earned 1,370 points of a possible 1,500. In the potato competition, Morris made 1,432 of a possible 1,500 points.

Local Flyer Re-Enlists In U. S. Air Force

T-Sgt. Carl R. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Gray, 37 Oak Street and holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, has re-enlisted in the Air Force at Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Pa.

Sgt. Gray served 14 months as an engineer gunner with the Ninth and Tenth Air Forces in both the Far Eastern and the European theatres. In addition to the DFC, he holds the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters and seven other campaign medals and awards.

He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and has completed eight years of service. His wife is the former Miss George Lee Timbrook, also of this city.

Chain Store Contract Up For Ratification

Members of Local 886, Retail Food Clerks, and Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Teamsters Hall, North Mechanic Street, to take final action on a contract with the American Stores of this section.

Mike Roth, international agent for the Meat Cutters, who announced the meeting, did not disclose terms of the company offer which he said was "up for membership ratification."

Weather

Although the prediction for Thanksgiving Day is cloudy, Cumberlanders shouldn't be disturbed. Yesterday cloudy and rain were promised and look what happened! The sun shone and glistened on the new Christmas decorations and the temperature reached a respectable maximum of 52 degrees after a fairly low minimum of 33. For a change the late temperature last night was higher than the overnight low and read 39 degrees.

Sky High Prices Make Little Dent In Turkey Sales

Some Markets Say Sales Are Poor

In spite of an apparent revolt against sky high prices for turkeys which cut sales of the traditional Thanksgiving bird to rather alarming fashion in some markets here, an overall survey of retail stores revealed that sales of the holiday fowl was as good as or better than last year.

In general, markets in the downtown area reported sales disappointing, saying sales of turkeys and other fowl were fair to disappointing.

In fact, food sales were "just like any other day" in spite of the coming holiday, several reported. They added that Thanksgiving was usually slower here for turkeys than Christmas.

Several markets said the demand was greater than they had anticipated and that they had to purchase additional supplies yesterday.

In general, prices were about 20 per cent higher than last year. Fully dressed turkeys sold here from 89 cents for small birds to 73 cents a pound for the heaviest weights.

Want Small Birds

Demand for small size birds was good, most merchants said, adding they had anticipated the move by limiting their purchases to the popular sizes.

One merchant, who reported sales of some 170 turkeys and about 150 chickens yesterday, said that judging from the sales of turkeys there is a possibility the birds might be scarce for Christmas.

The demand for turkeys, he added, was greater than last year. "We sold out twice" yesterday and had to order more to take care of customers, he added.

A Cumberland area merchant said the turkey sale was a little better than last year and reported he did not expect to have more than two or three on hand at the close of business.

Thanksgiving and Christmas sale of turkeys, he added, is only part of the picture now since there is a continual demand for turkeys for special occasions and dinners throughout the year.

Sales in the larger markets was somewhat confused, with some reporting "very good" sales and others saying the demand was "not too good."

Hucksters Appear

One market reported they ran out Tuesday and had to replenish their supplies yesterday to meet the demand which was especially heavy for birds ranging from eight to 10 pounds.

Another reported they had correctly anticipated the demand as "not too heavy."

When asked why many of the turkeys raised in Garrett County and nearby Pennsylvania were selling in big city markets below local prices, one merchant said the difference was easily explained.

Most city markets, he said, will sell only "hog dressed" fowl while Cumberland residents demand fully dressed birds.

Turkeys could be sold here in the 65-70 cent price range if only killed and plucked, he added.

Pfc. Lowery Rites Are Planned Sunday

The body of Pfc. Charles R. Lowery, 24, who died in Italy May 2, 1945, will arrive here Friday and will be taken tothe home of his father, Harvey Lowery, Nessville, near Ellerslie.

A funeral service will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Wills Creek Chapel there by the pastor, Rev. Fred Crowe. Burial will be in Porter Cemetery.

A former Celanese worker, Pfc. Lowery was born in Cumberland, a son of Harvey and Pearl Burley Lowery.

He enlisted in the Army September 21, 1943, and trained at Camp Van Dorn, Miss., and in Virginia before going overseas with Company G, 338th Infantry, Fifth Army.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, the former Elva Margraff, Stringtown, one son, Charles Richard Lowery; brother, John Harvey Lowery, at home, and three sisters, Mrs. Virginia Burkett, Potomac Park; Mrs. Verndale Miller, Hyndman, and Mrs. Clarabelle Shaffer, Route 1, Hyndman.

Car Window Broken

Police are investigating a report by Harry Morris Blonder, who gave his address as 318 Washington Street, that a window of his car was broken while the vehicle was parked on Canal Street between 7:50 and 10 p. m. Monday.

Christmas Decorations Are Illuminated

New Christmas decorations installed on Baltimore Street by the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce took on new beauty last night as lights in the plastic designs were turned on for the first time.

Much of the charm of the novel decorations results from the use of aluminum festoons which reflect the lights from the illuminated Star of Bethlehem designs and the Santa Claus and Christmas Bell wreaths. Residents who viewed the decorations last night were unanimous in their approval of the decorating scheme.

Flynn Appeals For Caution In Winter Driving

Lists Six Rules For Safe Travel

Six rules for safe winter driving were listed yesterday by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

Chief Flynn said that if the rules are followed carefully many motorists will escape accidents during the dangerous weather ahead.

The rules, Chief Flynn said, are based on scientific tests and research by the safety council. He added that following the rules "will save motorists from being involved in serious accidents and traffic tie-ups."

The rules Flynn listed follow:

1. When starting out on ice or snow, get the "feel" of the road surface. Test your braking and acceleration, but only when clear of other cars.

2. Reduce speed when road surfaces are snowy or icy. Remember that it takes three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice than on dry pavement.

3. Keep snow or ice off the outside of the windshield as well as keeping the inside clear of fog and frost. Be sure your defroster and windshield wipers are working. Watch out for pedestrians.

4. Never warm up your car in a closed garage. Carbon monoxide poisoning results easily and can be fatal. Also check floor boards and exhaust system for leaks. Examine heater for posible defects.

5. When streets are covered with ice or snow, use steel tire chains. They reduce braking distance for cars and trucks from 40 to 70 per cent and provide extra traction which is often needed.

6. If possible have tires with good treads. They provide better stopping ability on both wet or dry pavement. But do not depend even on new rubber treads on packed snow or ice. Tests also show that rubber tire chains, although not so noisy as steel chains, actually skid farther than bare tires on ice.

"During ice and snow months," Flynn said, "the traffic accident death rate in northern states goes up to 24 to 53 per cent over the summer fatality rate. Now, with more automobiles on the road than last winter, every driver must exert extra caution, both toward his own driving and the other fellow's.

"If drivers will do this and stick to the rules listed, we know we can continue to reduce unnecessary traffic accidents and tie-ups this winter," Flynn concluded.

Star Will Be Placed In Constitution Park

A large Christmas star will be installed at Constitution Park for the Christmas season, Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds, reported yesterday.

He said workmen are beginning repairs on the large frame which was installed at the end of the baseball field several years ago to hold the device.

The committee named to complete plans for city-sponsored Christmas decorations at Riverside and Constitution Park will meet at City Hall Monday or Tuesday, he added.

Two Local Churches Plan Union Service

Congregations of Grace Baptist Church and First Christian Church will hold a union service in the former church, 417 North Mechanic Street, today at 10:30 a. m., according to Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of the host church.

Special music will be presented by the senior choir of Grace Baptist Church, under the direction of Miss Mary Robb.

Rev. F. Ralph Miller, pastor of First Christian Church, will preach the Thanksgiving sermon.

Missing Cars Are Recovered In W. Va., Ind.

One Driver Fined On Motor Counts

Two cars owned by the Hertz Drive-It-Yourself concern on South George Street, one of which was rented and the other stolen, have been recovered.

The rented car was recovered in Buckhannon, W. Va., and the driver, William Clair, Frederick Street, was sentenced to 60 days in Upshur County Jail for drunken driving and for driving without an operator's license.

The other car was found in Indianapolis, Ind., and two male occupants were arrested, State Police were informed.

Clair was committed to jail by Justice of the Peace R. T. Evans when he was unable to pay fines totaling $35 and costs.

West Virginia State Police at Buckhannon said Clair told them he borrowed the car from another man, Robert Easton, who had rented it from the motor concern Saturday night.

Officials of the company said the car was rented by Easton Saturday night and was due to be returned Monday morning. Easton, they said, told them he and Clair were in a restaurant together at about 1 a. m. Sunday when Clair left and drove off in the car.

He was arrested Sunday at Buckhannon and the car was returned here yesterday by officials of the concern. They added they planned to go to Indianapolis last night for the other car.

In another stolen car case three youths were lodged in Garrett County Jail last night after they reportedly admitted stealing and driving from Morgantown, W. Va., a car which was found abandoned near Grantsville.

State Trooper Glen D. Folk found about a mile west of Keyser's Ridge yesterday morning and at 8 p. m. Trooper Robert F. Henline found the three youths standing near the car.

When he questioned the youths, he said, they admitted the theft, adding they had stolen the tags on the vehicle from a car in Everson, Fayette County, Pa.

Henlin identified the driver as Tommy Moxley, 17, Baltimore. The other boys gave their names as James Reed, 15, and Glenn Reed, 16, both of Maidsville, W. Va., he said.

Local Motorist Sued For $30,000

Damage suits totaling $30,000 were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday against Paul A. Butts, driver, and Mary M. Butts, owner, as the result of injuries suffered by a 14-year-old boy when the Butts' auto allegedly struck and injured the child.

Plaintiffs in the two actions are H. Murell Kline, claiming $10,000 for hospital and medical costs and loss of his son's services; and Perry Edward Kline, infant, by his father and next friend, H. Murrell Kline, for $20,000 claiming serious bodily injury.

The declarations, filed by Thomas Lohr Richards, this city, and H. G. Shores, Keyser, W. Va., attorneys, charge Butts with being negligent and driving on the wrong side of the road.

The attorneys claim the accident took place last August 28 at 7 p. m. (DST) on Welton Road leading to the Cumberland Municipal Airport. Butts was driving his wife's car in an easterly direction with the Kline boy riding a motorbike in the westerly direction, attorneys say.

The declaration states that Butts was on the wrong side of the road and was traveling at an excessive speed when his car hit the boy.

In his individual suit, the boy's father claims damage for loss of the boy's services on his dairy farm, claiming the child has been doing the equivalent of a man's work.

Radio Club Plans Membership Drive

The Mountain Radio Club has begun a drive to extend its membership to all persons of this area who have a real interest in radio, L. R. Jenkins, president, announced last night.

He said the next meeting of the club planned December 3 at 7:30 p. m. at its club room, 324 Frederick Street, will be open to all who are interested in the subject and would like to learn more about the work of the club.

That meeting will also mark the beginning of code classes intended to give persons who do not have amateur licenses an opportunity to learn code and to give amateurs a chance to brush upon accuracy and speed.

The code class will meet at 6 p. m., prior to the general business meeting. Following the session, informal classes on radio theory will be held.

To become a member, one need not hold an amateur license or even intend to get one, Jenkins said. All short wave listeners, he added, can share in the activities of the club which is now composed of some 35 radio fans of this area.

Joseph Battista To Give Concert At Bedford School December 1

Joseph Battista, noted young American pianist, will appear in Bedford, Pa., Wednesday, December 1, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of Bedford High School, it has been announced by the Community Concert Association of Bedford County.

Battista's career was interrupted by the attack on Pearl Harbor seven years ago, before he had gained international recognition. During the war Battista was assigned to Special Services and for three years he appeared at bond rallies and Red Cross drives, besides giving concerts at Army camps.

He was discharged as a corporal after becoming music director at Camp Lee, Va.

Battista's postwar career began in the summer of 1947 when he played Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 4 with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Serge Koussevitzky at the Berkshire Festival.

In autumn of the same year, top critics hailed his return to the concert stage in a recital at New York's Town Hall.

In the last two years he has made a tour of 60 concerts in the United States and Canada, including appearances with major orchestras and recitals in a dozen schools and colleges and at two art museums.
